COMMUNICATED. FATAL EFFECTS OF FOUL AIR.

· Some cays post, the tolio sing istie :ing accident Lappened on the plantation of Mr. Robert Sinclair, about five miles from this city In deepening a well, two itinerant laborers, one known only by the name of William, the other by that of Patrick, were empleyed. After blasting a rock at the bottom of the well, Patrick described, but i mediately cried out to be drawn up, as Le was sufficienting; his cries su actify sul sided, Will midescen. ed; placed Pairick in the bucket, and l Idacing his own beton the erge thereof, hald on by the rape. They had not becar drawn up more than twenty feet, when William attered the most distressing cries, and although the windless wer turned with the arte osteel ring, and they had nearly reached the top of the well, the cifect of the mephatic an was so powerful that he equid not retain his held, and fell to the bottom. Petrick was drawn up apparently life iss, but has since recovered. The feelings of Mr Sinclair were then wound up to the highest degree of distress; no one would a nutre his life to rescue the unfortunate. William, un'il a stringenegio a an voluntarily offered his a-sistance; he resolutely descended the well, and fixing the life less William in the bicket, they were both drawn ip; the negro man fainted, and was not, for some time, restored to his senses, not withstandigtie Lumane exercions of Mr. Sinchair and a is neignbors. > Fran a Lendon peper, Ju e 6 On Sunday att a contract a contract afe affray took place between a number of Ir 'h labourers and some American seamen (Lelonging to sicips in the London Docks) in the Broadway acjoining the Docks.

The quarrel originated between an American and an idishman, respecting a woman of the town. A battle ensued, and the hishwan having got the worst of it, went avay, and returned in the course of an hour (dr ut 5 o'clock), with a strong re-inforcement of its countrymen, armed with brown -sticks, buldgeons, pokers, and varietis other sorts of weapon , which they be nois ed in the air, and, with violent imprecations, dared the Yankees, as they tamed them, to the fight. The Americens, who were numerous, assembled in a body for their own protection, but d'd not attempt to commit or provoke any breach of the prace. Their for earance, however, only tended to render the Irishmen more furious, and they shewed every disposition to commence an immediate attack. Some of the Americans, induced by the threatening aspect of affairs, procured from on board a few weapons, but not sefficient to a m the whole. This was taken by the sons of St. Patrick for a challenge to a trial of skill with the shil-Iela, and they instantly made a furious attack on the Americans, who defended themselves stoutly, but were defeated in the end, with broken heads, logs, &c. after a most severe and bloody contest.-Upwards of 20 Amenicans were wounded more or less; 6 of them so dangerously, that they were obliged to be carried off the ground. A young man had his skull fractured, and lies without hopes of recovery at the White Hart. Neptune-street; one had both his legs broken, and was taken in a hopeiess state to the London Hospital: another unfortunite man had one leg bruken, and is by no means free form danger. An American Captain is, we understand, among those most hurt in the effray. The success of the Irish made them quite our rag ous after the result of the battle was known, reinforcements were constantly arriving, who enlisted under the banners of Murtoch Sul-Irvan, the reputed leader. They hoisted their hats on their weapons, and vociferated lowly, "Liberty and Vinegar Hill for Yesterday morning the rioters were escorted to Lambert street Office, Goodman's fields, where they underwent an examination. About 15 of the wounded Americans (all who were able) attended to give evidence against the Irishmen. They extiliated a deplorable sist.
