VIENNA, July 23. The prosecution of general Mack every day becomes more and more heated. He has accused most of the Generals who served under him, and they have been ordered hitherto.

HAMBURG, Aug. 5. For some time a great fermentation has reigned in Swabia-Pomerania; those who are injured by the new order of things loudly express their discontent. On the other hand the inhabitants of the country are very well satisfied, villenage having been oppressive in that country, even more so than in any part of the Prussian states. The King since he succeeded to the throne, has been frequently petitioned by the States to receive the performance of fealty and homage as Duke of Pomerania; but Majesty has constantly postponed satisfying this desire under various pretences. However, the King will now take the oath as King of Sweden, and the Queen is expected for this purpose at Stockholm.

There has been much talk of the changes that have taken place in S. Pomerania; what is certain is that M. and Mad. De Sarsal Kim have quitted the Court.

TRIESTE, July 11. From 20 troops continue to pass, as well as transport of a multitude of every kind when not in demand.
