From the RICHMOND ENQUIRER. BRITISH FINANCES.—From official documents laid before the house of commons, the following interesting conclusions are to be drawn: That the funded debt of Great Britain on the 1st of February 1806 amounted to £587,280,561. That the funded debt on the 5th of January 1807 will amount to £583,584,805. That the sum annually applicable to the reduction of the national debt may for the year 1805, be estimated at £8 278, 049; being about 1 66th part of the unredeemed debt existing in 1805. That the interest on the funded debt, charges of management, and sinking fund, on the 5th February 1806, were £26,330,988. That the total net produce of the permanent taxes, on the 5th January 1805, amounted to £31,795,110. That the net produce of the war taxes on the 5th April 1806, was Customs & Excise £8,496,550 Property Tax 4,181,958 12,978,508 That the sum total to be raised in Great Britain, within the year 1806, may be estimated at £85,375,728, of which the sums to be raised parochially for the maintenance of the poor are estimated at £5,246,506. That the official value of all imports into Great Britain in the year ending 5th January 1806, was £29,488,072. That the official value of British manufactures exported from Great Britain in the year ending 5th January 1806, was £25,003,508. The real value may be estimated at £41,038,942. That the official value of foreign merchandise exported within the same time, was £9,250,508. That in the year ending 5th January 1806, the number of British ships enteredwards in Great Britain was 14,409; their tonnage 1,494,075; and the number of men employed to navigate them 87,148.—That the number of British ships cleared outwards was 11,603; their tonnage 1,494,968; and the number of men, 94,588.—being an increase of tonnage, since 1803, of vessels cleared outwards, of 474,002 tons. That in the year ending 5th January 1806, the number of foreign ships enteredwards in Great Britain was 4,515; their tonnage, 691,703; and the number of men in them, 34,119.—that the number of foreign ships cleared outwards, was 3,930; their tonnage, 605,641; and their number of men 30,910.—being an average increase in tonnage, since 1803, of 177,605 tons. That the number of British ships built and registered in the several ports of the British empire, in the year ending 5th Jan. 1803, was 1,281; their tonnage 5th Jan. 1804 1,402 135,349 5th Jan. 1805 991 95,976 5th Jan. 1806 966 89,979—being a diminution to the mercantile shipping interest of Great Britain of 47,533 tons; between the building of the year 1802 and of 1805. Such then is the condition of a nation, whose constitution has become a boasted monument of human invention; whose enormous burdens are scarce exceeded by her prodigality; and who with this stupendous debt of nearly six hundred millions sterling has actually appropriated 31,000 dollars for the support of a little child; a sum, greater by 6000 dollars than the salary of the chief magistrate of our republic. Who would prefer to be a subject of this debt-ridden and extravagant government, to be a citizen of this simple and economical republic? It is a wonderful, but an incontestable fact; that the funded debt of Great Britain is 174 times greater than our own; that the annual interest on her funded debt is 45,000,000 dollars greater than the principal of our own; that her poor rates alone are more than seven millions greater than the whole receipts of the last year, at the treasury of the United States; and that while her population is about 2 2/7ths greater than our own, her annual burdens are more than 28 times greater. Such indeed is this most stupendous fabric of human invention!!

SAVANNAH, September 24. Extract of a letter from a gentleman at St. Mary's to his friend in this place, dated September 10. "The sloop Two Sisters, capt Webber, arrived here yesterday—she had been sent out in search of a schooner that sailed from Savannah for this place, about three weeks past, (captain Greer) who has a number of passengers on board—they saw nothing of her between St. Augustine and St. John's bar they fell in with a quantity of cotton; six bales & two pockets of which they took up, and aided here to-day. They are all marked (M) and the numbers all above 100—one pocket is marked, in addition to the above mark, A. Low, No. 153, 11 lb. the other G. White—this may lead to some discovery respecting the unfortunate vessel, as the sch'r Olive, capt. Rhodes for Savannah, and the sch'r Comet, capt. Fisk, for Baltimore, sailed same day the sloop was off the bar of St. Augustine. I hope they may have saved more of the cargo."

Extract of a letter from New-Orleans, to a mercantile house in this city, dated September 12, 1806. "We have news from the Attakapas, saying "it is rumoured here that col. Thompson has ordered the militia of this country, to be in readiness; and that capt. in Boyer has been defeated and taken, and that Major Sparks is driven back. It is certain, that the Spanish army is on the march this side of Nachitoches." "We have just however received authentic information, that there has been no engagement, but that the Spaniards were obliged to return across the Sabine river again to preserve their health, and that while they were on this side about 3 weeks, they lost 500 of their men with the fever; and that the governor of the interior of Mexico, was on his way with troops, and when he arrived they would have an army of 5 or 6000 men, when they will endeavor to force a passage to this place."

The interview of the French Commissioners with the Jews assembled at Paris on the 4th August, does not appear to embrace the immediate happiness of that people. It is to institute enquiries into the habits and principles of the Jews, if we may judge from the questions which have been proposed to them, and the professed cause of their assembly. They are to inform the French Emperor what ties of consanguinity they admit with Christians, and particularly with the French, and how far their civil obligations extend. They are to assure him what authority they admit among themselves, and who exercise that authority. They are also to inform him in what the difference consists between their laws among themselves, and their laws in regard to the rest of mankind. By determining the laws of their families and nation, as well as their political and civil obligations, he is to determine whether they agree to his Majesty's wish that they should become French.—The form in which this enquiry is instituted, does not form a ready prejudice in its favour either as an act of policy or humanity. Time therefore is to explain this act of the Emperor.—Salem Reg.

Mr. Benjamin Hensfrey, who once attempted to light the streets of our city by means of inflamed smoke has been much more fortunate in ransacking the bowels of the earth. He is said to have discovered a considerable quarry of Gypsum or Plaster at Paris, on the land of Mr. Thomas Tate, on the north fork of Holsten, the largest branch of the Tennessee river; and of course extremely convenient to Washington and the adjacent counties of Virginia. Mr. H. wants the Holsten plaster to be of as good a quality as the best that is imported, & promises to return the money to purchasers, if he cannot within the next year produce certificates from five or six respectable farmers, that it has answered a valuable purpose. Richmond Enquirer

CINCINNATI, S. p. 25. A gentleman lately from Malden, in Upper Canada, has communicated the following information: That a few chiefs from the Saque nation had arrived there, and said, that lieutenant Pike, on an expedition to explore the Upper Mississippi, finding within the American line a number of British traders levied duties upon them to the amount of 28,000 dollars; that the traders taking umbrage at the measure, had influenced (it is believed) the savages to attack lieutenant Pike's party; but that Pike having notice of their design, fortified himself before the enemy appeared; that the Indians assaulted the work, & were repulsed with considerable loss; and that the Americans had five men killed. The same gentleman also adds, that it was reported at Malden, that the party under captains Lewis and Clarke had been cut off; that this report was founded on letters said to have been received from the remote British ports. He further adds, that a gentleman of the North West company in Canada had proceeded to explore the country west of Cook's river, whence he was to continue his researches between the dividing mountains and the Pacific ocean, as far as Cape Horn. He was not expected to return in less than 7 years. His party consisted of between 30 and 40 men.

COUNTERFEIT BANK NOTES.—A person that came to this city last week from Norfolk, and who said his name was JORDAN, has lately passed a counterfeit note of the Bank of Baltimore, for 50 dollars. It appears he arrived lately at Norfolk, in the ship Sally, from London, and has now gone into the back country; intending, very probably, to pass more of these notes. The signatures of the president and cashier are well executed; the ink used in the printing is not so black as in the genuine notes, and the paper is thin and oily. It being highly probable these notes were fabricated in England, there is no knowing how many different denominations may be in his possession. The public are cautioned to be on their guard, and to use every diligence in having the vendor apprehended. Fed. Gaz.

Mr. Benjamin Hensfrey, who once attempted to light the streets of our city by means of inflamed smoke has been much more fortunate in ransacking the bowels of the earth. He is said to have discovered a considerable quarry of Gypsum or Plaster at Paris, on the land of Mr. Thomas Tate, on the north fork of Holsten, the largest branch of the Tennessee river; and of course extremely convenient to Washington and the adjacent counties of Virginia. Mr. H. wants the Holsten plaster to be of as good a quality as the best that is imported, & promises to return the money to purchasers, if he cannot within the next year produce certificates from five or six respectable farmers, that it has answered a valuable purpose.
