NEW-YORK, October 12.

The ship Robert Burns, captain Vvaite, arrived at this port on Saturday, in 48 days from Liverpool; and the schooner Hamlet, Henry, in 32 days from Bordeaux. The Robert Burns put into Kingsale, and brings Cork papers to the 28th of August; the Hamlet left Bordeaux on the 3d September.

To these dates the Irish and French papers received at the office of the MERCANTILE ADVERTISER extend.

But, although so many days later than our previous accounts, we are left in the same state of incertitude as to the great question of Peace or War. Our verbal and printed advices from France differ very materially on this important point; the former state that the negotiations were broken off, and that Lord Lauderdale had demanded his passports: The Paris Argus of the 30th of August says, in a quotation from the Publiciste, "The negotiations with England are still carrying on with activity." Two questions only, it is added, present themselves in the course of the deliberations on this subject: 1st. Whether Great Britain should preserve the dominion of her influence upon the continent; and 2d. How long the nations of the continent shall remain excluded from the common domain of the sea, and submit to the yoke England imposes upon their commerce and their industry? The battle of Austerlitz decided the first; the second is yet undetermined.

The Emperor of Austria (who has renounced the title of Emperor of Germany, and thus become Bonaparte's junior) the King of Prussia, and most of the great continental powers, have recognized the late Germanic Federation.

Cz. ni Georg, so named, on the 26th of July, a signal victory over the Ottoman troops on the frontiers of Turkey. The Turks lost not less than 9 or 10,000 men. Their defeat is represented as being so complete, that only a few hundred men escaped. Three of their principal chiefs, An Bey, Acmet Bey, and Zengo Bey, were killed. The Servians made an advance too.

The homeward Jamaica fleet had arrived at its destination. In the passage the conveying vessel fell in with and captured a Spanish fleet of merchantmen, bound from Matanzas to Havana, under the protection of a line of battle ship and two gun brigs.

In our selection of intelligence from the papers by the Robert Burns and Hamlet, we have carefully noted every article which might seem to have the slightest bearing on the new coalition said to have been formed against France; but we find nothing to warrant so extravagant an opinion.

LONDON, August 26. The last accounts, received at Gottenburgh from St. Petersburg, state that the Russian Minister to the Porte was about to take his departure.

Mr. David Erskine, appointed Ambassador to the United States, left town yesterday with his suite, to embark for America.

The Jewish Assembly at Paris has already answered three of the questions proposed to it; these are as follows: 1. Is it lawful for the Jews to marry more than one wife? 2. Is Divorce allowed by the Jewish religion? Is it lawful, although no sentence respecting it be pronounced by the Tribunals, and in pursuance of the French Code.

3. May a Jewess marry a Christian, and a Christian female with a Jew? or does the Law require that the Jews marry among each other?

The answer contains principally, that the Jewish law, in the strictest sense, permits polygamy, divorce and mixed marriages, but that these are limited by practice and usage. To the question which relates to the duties of French citizens, the Assembly voluntarily, and without premeditation, answered in the fullest manner.

August 22.

A letter from an officer of rank in our fleet off the Dutch coast, dated the 19th instant, states, that there are five sail of the line, one frigate, and two armed brigs ready for sea in the Maars Diep, and two sail of the line fitting out in the New Diep. The writer adds "From every information that has reached me it appears, that upon the first intelligence of a change in the government, such symptoms of a disposition to mutiny were manifested among the seamen, that it was deemed expedient to pay them off, and they are now re-entering. This expedition was of course resorted to with a view to exclude the discontented, and to select the plant. Admiral De Winter has come down as Admiral and inspector general. He has hoisted his flag on board the Brutus, an 80 gun ship. I am of opinion that these ships have no notion of coming out, and that their only object is to show those appearances which may suggest to us the necessity of keeping a fleet off the coast, and thus prevent us from employing it in any other quarter." From some further observations which appear in this officer's letter it seems a pretty evident that the conduct of the Dutch seamen, when informed of the total subversion of their republic, amounted, as we have more than once stated, to absolute mutiny. Several of these seamen are stated to have been committed to prison.
