

American Commercial Daily Advertiser.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1866.

Several articles, crowded out by advertisements, shall be handed to our readers in a supplement.

Schooner Federal Jack, Collins, 38 days from Bilbao for this port, was spoke on the 14th ultimo.

A man, says a New York paper of Monday last, was apprehended in this city on Saturday for passing counterfeit bank notes to the amount of 500 dollars.

This, no doubt, is Thomas Jourdan, who we stated a few days since had passed a counterfeit Bank note in this city.

It is impossible, in reflecting on the subject of the following articles extracted from a late London print, not to feel the force of the maxim "that honesty is the best policy."

And in his name is contained the name given by John to the King of the Locusts, who is called APOLEON, or the Destroyer.

ous precautions against the introduction of, and the trading in English merchandise.

From the FEDERAL GAZETTE.

Messrs. YUNDT & BROWN, I take the liberty, through the medium of your press, to acknowledge the receipt of a five and ten dollar note, from unknown hands, for the use of the distressed poor in Germany.

The following singular coincidences may furnish matter for reflection to the curious. It has been generally admitted that the Roman empire, after passing under seven different forms of government (or seven heads) was divided into ten kingdoms in Europe.

- 1. Napoleon. 2. Joseph, King of Italy. 3. Louis, King of Holland. 4. Jerome. 5. Murat, Duke of Berg and Cleve. 6. Cardinal Fesch. 7. Bona-parte, the adopted son of Napoleon.

- 1. Maria 2. Wittenberg 3. Baden 4. Darmstadt 5. Nassau

And also, that the Members of the new Federation are just ten, viz. 1. Ysembourg 2. Hohenzollern 3. Artemberg 4. Salm 5. Leyen.

And in his name is contained the name given by John to the King of the Locusts, who is called APOLEON, or the Destroyer.

August 9. Married on Tuesday evening, by the rev. Dr. Roberts, Mr. James Farley, merchant, to Miss Mary Ann Walter, both of this city.

Married on Tuesday evening, by the Right Revd. Bishop Carroll, Mr. John Neale, to the amiable Miss Susanna Eister, both of this city.

The Polyhymnian Society WILL meet on Saturday next, October 25th, at 7 o'clock in the evening at Mr. Bourne's Academy, No. 76, Bond-street, Fifth Avenue; when the following question will be discussed:

Are Youth justifiable in marrying, without the consent of their Parents? Those Ladies and Gentlemen who are disposed to honor the society with their presence, are respectfully invited to attend.

Freedom of speech is allowed to all. W. L. NICOLL, Sec'y. P. S. Tickets of admission at 12 1/2 cents each to be had at the door.
