

The French have seized on the Austrian towns of Gorizia and Gradisca, on the Lisonzo, in Friuli, & sworn the public functionaries to pay allegiance to the French government. No motive has been assigned for this seizure. Some conceive that it was designed to hasten the content of Austria to some matters under negotiation with France. Others suppose it was intended to check some military proceedings of Austria which had excited the jealousy of Bonaparte. To remove all jealousy on this head, the Archduke Charles had determined that not even the usual camps of exercise shall be formed this year. It is evident from all these circumstances, that all the Continent enjoys but a very precarious peace, dependent on the will and pleasure of Bonaparte. Austria in particular is in a state of continued terror; subject every moment to have its patience tried by new insults and invasions, and not secured from alarm by the most immediate submission to every command, and the most prompt compliance with every requisition. It is stated that Bonaparte has proposed to the Court of Vienna to cede the maritime part of Carniola to the Kingdom of Italy for an equivalent. The seizure of Gorizia and Gradisca probably means to expedite this session. It seems as if Bonaparte wished to force this humbled and reduced power, by a coalition of his other liegemen, into a union with him, for the purpose of totally extinguishing it. What effect these proceedings may have on our negotiations, we cannot say; but we have no hesitation in declaring, that unless the French government resolves unequivocally to desist from this conduct, there can be no peace with it. The present peace of the Continent is worse than no peace.

Latest Foreign Intelligence.

Translated from Paris papers, received at Philadelphia.

Paris, September 3.
Captain Jerome Bonaparte, commander of the Veterans, arrived on the 26th August. He reports that he left the Division under Admiral Willouvet, in good condition, having made thirty prizes, and in pursuit of a numerous convoy. It would be proper to give a detailed account of the measures of the vessels under the command of this Admiral, as it would tend to throw light on his future conduct; suffice it to say that he has taken and destroyed upwards of Twenty Millions of property.

Full Powers of Mr D'Oubril.

We Alexander the emperor and empress of all the Russias, &c. (Here follow all the titles of his majesty.)

Having a continual solicitude for the preservation of calm and tranquillity in Europe, and being moved by a sincere desire, to put an end to misunderstanding, and to re-establish good harmony with France on a solid basis, we have thought proper to commit this care to a person enjoying our confidence. For this purpose, we have chosen, named and authorized our beloved and faithful Peter Oubril, our counsellor of state and chamberlain of the orders of St. Viador of the third class, of St. Ann of the second and of St. John of Jerusalem, as we chuse, appoint and authorize him, by the present, for the purpose of attaining that end, to enter into conferences with him or those who shall be sufficiently authorized for that purpose by the French government, to conclude and sign with them an act or convention, on bases proper to secure the peace which shall be established between Russia and France, as also to prepare it between the other belligerent powers of Europe.

We promise on our imperial word, to hold good, and faithfully to execute every thing which shall be settled and signed by our faithful plenipotentiary; as also to give our imperial ratification within the promised term.

In faith whereof we have signed this full power and have sealed it with the seal of our empire.

Given at St. Petersburg, the 30th April, 1806, and of our reign the sixth year.

Signed, ALEXANDER.
Counterigned Prince Adam Czartoryski.
Certified to be a translation conformable to the original.

Our sovereign is about to enter into the celebration of the North, under the immediate direction of Prussia.

Stuttgart, August 19.
There are continually passing through our city, waggons laden with ammunition.

Griefswald, August 23.
Mr. Merlin, aid-de-camp to the king was sent yesterday to Berlin with dispatches. The Swedish ships have received orders, it has been said, to raise the blockade of the Prussian ports, but, however, without quitting their respective stations. Six squadrons of hulks and two battalions of artillery, under the command of general count Lowenhielm, are on their route for Lauenburg, which by this time must be evacuated by the Prussian troops.

Venice, August 23.
Letters from Dalmatia, of a recent date, announce that the French plenipotentiaries, the Russian admiral and the Austrian general are arrived at the mouths of the Cattaro, to carry into execution the articles of the treaty of Presburg, which stipulates that that place shall be delivered up to the French. One of these letters adds, that the Russian admiral declared that the orders he had received from his court were positive, that he could deliver up the place without the intervention of an Austrian General. Be this as it may, we may look upon Cattaro as already delivered up; and official intelligence of it is hourly expected.

General Marmont is arrived at Ragusa with two regiments; he has given two fetes in the town on account of Peace being signed between the French empire and Russia.

BERLIN Aug. 23

It is said that our cabinet declared to a foreign court interested in being acquainted with our military preparations, that they are merely defensive.

Letters from Westphalia, contradict the report of pretended hostile movements among the Prussian troops; communications between the French and Prussian Generals are frequent.

Mr. Knobelsdorf, who repairs to Paris as envoy extraordinary, was to have gone to Constantinople as ambassador; this change leaves room to presume that Mr. de Knobelsdorf may remain a longer time at Paris. Our politicians speak already of a journey to be made by the marquis of Lucchesini; but the activity which reigns in diplomatic relations is so ample a source of conjectures, that it is not necessary to add to it.

The sudden arrival of prince Wittgenstein, his majesty's minister to the Elector of Hesse, has given rise to several conferences, whence people presume that a closer alliance is forming between our court and that of Cassel. Two other ministers of his majesty are also arrived in this city, to wit, baron Jacob Klotz, lately accredited to the court of London, and Mr. de Caesar, accredited to the Hague.

Baron de Haenke repairs to Dresden, as his Majesty's minister, to confer there with the electoral minister upon the organization of the plan of the constitution for the north of Germany. Measures are taking both at Dresden and at Cassel to forward this grand plan.

Majors-general de Puvil has been sent by his Majesty to Bussely, because an indisposition prevented his serene highness from repairing thither in consequence of the invitation sent him by his Majesty. His serene highness's arrival had been prematurely a non event. The exchange of couriers between Berlin and St. Petersburg is more active than ever. These couriers are the bearers of letters written by the two sovereigns to themselves.

HAMBURG, AUGUST 27.

The unexpected reports, that the British had dispatched an expedition to Portugal, and that Russia again influenced by the court of London, had not ratified the treaty concluded by D'Oubril, have greatly increased the alarms which we have lately suffered.

One of our prints makes the following reflections on the present posture of affairs, and although they only express the idea of men, who are not initiated in the mysteries of cabinets, they may be considered as embracing some very judicious opinions.

"The uncertainty in which we are as present cannot be of long duration... We shall soon know whether England has resolved, by her councils, and the debarkation of some thousand troops at Lisbon to ruin the Royal family of Portugal, as she has already done that of Naples. We shall soon know whether Russia contemplates such a conduct towards a great northern power (Prussia) as may involve that power in similar disasters with Austria.

Can it, then, be possible that these Cabinets will again provoke a nation, which it has been shown is not to be provoked with impunity? are they not weary of involving Princes, People, and States, with whom they have no common interest, in ruin?

As to Prussia (and it is with her that we Hamburgers are personally and most interested) we are persuaded that her exertions will be to preserve peace—for she cannot flatter herself by ordinary efforts to sustain a rupture with France, and where are the extraordinary means with which she could support such a war? and were they even attainable, would it be wise to attempt it under the circumstances in which she is placed? If her soldiers are deserting before the war; if some of her newly acquired provinces are silently brooding discontent, what will be expected of the smallest reverse of fortune?—Could she calculate on succour from Hesse and Saxony? such support would be both slender and uncertain.

As to Denmark her prudence is well known, and we know moreover that if there is a country in Europe, where the government and people render justice to Emperor Napoleon, that country is Denmark.

American, AND Commercial Daily Advertiser. MONDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1806.

If there should be any of our patrons who did not receive a supplement on Saturday (containing foreign news) we solicit a notice thereof. We give this hint, in consequence of complaints which have been made on the subject; as we wish to know the extent of such neglect on the part of our carriers.

Extract of a letter to the Editors of the Federal Gazette, dated, St. Louis, September 23 1806.

"Concerning the safe arrival of Mess. Lewis and Clark, who went 2 years and 4 months ago to explore the Missouri, so be anxiously wished for by every one, I have the pleasure to mention, that they arrived here about one hour ago, in good health, with only the loss of one man, who died. They visited the Pacific Ocean which they left on the 27th of March last. They would have been here about the 1st of August, but for the detention they met with, from snow and frost in crossing mountains on which are eternal snows, when they arrived, 3 cheers were fired. They really have the appearance of Robinson Crusoe—dressed entirely in buckskins. We shall know all very soon; I have had no particulars yet."

When Dr. Franklin printed a newspaper in Philadelphia, a person brought him a piece which he desired might be published. The doctor desired him to leave it till the next day, when he would give him an answer. He accordingly returned at the time appointed, and received the following reply from Franklin: "I had (he said) perused the piece, and found it to be scurrilous and defamatory; to determine whether he should publish it, he had gone home in the evening, purchased a two penny loaf at the baker's, and with water from the pump had made a supper of it; he then wrapped himself up in his great coat, laid himself on the floor, and slept soundly till morning, when, on another loaf and mug of water he breakfasted, and felt no inconvenience whatever from his regimen; finding he could live in this manner, he had formed a determination never to prostitute the press to the purposes of corruption and abuse, for the sake of gaining a more comfortable subsistence."

It has been found impracticable to get ready the south wing of the Capitol for the reception of the House of Representatives at the meeting of the ensuing session of Congress. The obstacle has been the impossibility of getting from a quarry which admits the working but of a limited number of hands, so many very large blocks of stone, without a flaw, as were necessary to bind together the heads of the columns encircling the area of the chamber. Till this was completed, the roof could not be put on, and, until it is covered in, the plastering of the interior cannot be begun.

Nat. Intelligencer.

Died on the 20th inst. after a short illness, at his residence, North East, Cecil county, (Md) in the 25th year of his age, Mr. Thomas Russell, eldest son of Thomas Russell, Esq. deceased, formerly of Birmingham, (Eng.) He has left an aged mother, three sisters and a brother to deplore his premature death. His amiable and conciliating manners, endeared him to all those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. And a friend to the deceased would add, that, if a kind and benevolent heart could insure a passport to divine favor, then has his spirit winged its flight to peace and bliss in another and a better world."
