

troops from the Cape, and that from St. Helena, with the marine battalion under the orders of Capt. King, of his majesty's ship the Diadem, which was composed of the marines of the squadron augmented by the incorporation of some seamen, and three companies of Royal Blues from the same source of enterprise, which had been regularly trained for that duty, and dressed in an appropriate uniform.

The enemy was posted at the village of Redoubt, which was on an eminence about two miles from the beach, with the appearance of a fine plain between the two armies, which however proved on the following morning to be only a morass in a high state of verdure.

This in some measure checked our advancement, nor did the enemy open his field-train till the troops were nearly in the middle of the swamp, from whence he thought it was impossible for them to be extricated.

The able and excellent disposition of Gen. Beresford, and the intrepidity of his army, very soon, however, satisfied the enemy that his only safety was in a precipitate retreat, for we had the satisfaction of seeing from the ships near 4000 Spanish cavalry flying in every direction, leaving their artillery behind them, while our troops were ascending the hill with that coolness and courage which has on every occasion marked the character of a British soldier, and has been exemplified in proportion to the difficulties and dangers by which he was opposed.

On the 27th, in the morning, we saw some firing near the banks of the river Chello, but it blew so hard that it was totally impracticable to have any communication with the shore during that day. On the 28th, our troops took possession of Buenos Ayres.

I have sent Lieut. Groves to take possession of Eusebena de Baragon, a port to the eastward of Buenos Ayres, where I understand there are two gun-vessels and two merchant ships.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.
The ship Woodrop, Sims arrived in the Delaware, from Lymington, (Eng) which she left on the 17th of September, brings intelligence from London to the 15th. Her letters and papers have not reached the city.

Died—On Saturday evening, the 1st instant, Philip Nicklin, esq. in the 47th year of his age, of the house of Nicklin and Griffith, of this city. A man eminent in our society as a merchant, and in every other relation of life. Panegyric would but weakly pourtray the inestimable character of the deceased to his family, his friends, and most extensive acquaintance. His loss is infinitely lamented.

NEW-ORLEANS, Sept. 22.
General James Wilkinson, it has already been stated, has arrived at Fort Adams, on his way to Natchitoches. It is asserted that the General does not intend to resume his functions as Governor of Upper Louisiana—But has recommended Doctor Browne, the present secretary of the Territory (a brother-in-law of Col. Burr) as his successor—and it is said a petition is in circulation among the friends of the General, to recommend Dr. B. to the President for that office. We give these reports as we find them in letters from St. Louis, published in Kentucky and Pennsylvania papers.

The letters received by this days mail from Natchez and Fort Adams, state that every preparation is making to meet and repel Spanish encroachments. All the remaining regular force that was left by Col. Kingsbury at Fort Adams, have marched under the command of Capt. Sparks, for Natchitoches. Major Felix L. Claiborne was hourly expected when the mail left Fort Adams with Capt. Farrar's troop of dragoons, and a handsome detachment of militia on their march to Natchitoches. A Rapide—no doubt now exists but blood will be shed unless the Spaniards fall back.

ed by 13 or 14 of his warriors, arrived at Natchitoches, and on the following day Governor Claiborne, in the presence of the officers of the army, and many respectable citizens, made to the chief an Address of which the following is a copy.—

GRAND CHIEF OF THE CAADO NATION, FRIEND AND BROTHER!
The great and good man, the president of the United States esteems you and your people—Like the rising sun that gives light and comfort to the world, expands the cares of the American chief, and his desire is to promote the happiness of all mankind.—He is particularly solicitous to better the condition of his red children; he wishes them to know war no more; to live in peace with all their neighbors; to pursue the deer in safety; to cultivate their little fields of corn without fear, and that no enemy should disturb their sleep at night.

Such Brother, are the sentiments of the grand American chief;—You have before heard his words from the mouth of his agent, (Dr. Sibley) and I hope you have not forgot them.

Brother!—There are some men whose tongues are like the tongues of snakes—they talk much, and often speak that which is not true. Distrust the man who would tell you that the president of the United States was not your friend; the man who would say so has a forked tongue and tells lies.

Brother!—Let your people continue to hold the Americans by and with sincerity and in friendship, and the chain of peace will be bright and strong; our children will smoke together, and the path will never be colored with blood.

Brother!—The president of the United States is the friend of peace, but he fears not war! The time was many years past when a mighty king, who lives beyond the big water, made war upon the Americans, and sent his warriors to conquer our country—Many battles were fought, and much blood was spilled.—The Americans were then few in number, but fought with bravery, and the warriors of that great king were forced to return to their own land. We were then a young people, but have now grown up to manhood, and could strike an enemy with a heavier hand, and a stronger arm.

Brother!—The president of the United States is just to all nations; but if a nation is unjust to his people, his own warriors can fight his battles. You have seen but a small number of these warriors. They are spread over an immense tract of country; some live where snow seldom falls, and others where armies can cross rivers upon the ice.

Brother!—We have some dispute at the limits of Louisiana; the Americans suppose that the limits extend far towards the setting sun, but our neighbors, the Spaniards, tells us that a little dry bayou, which you passed yesterday, is the line.

Brother!—You know we got the country from the French and that the Americans now claim all the land which the French formerly possessed.

You are an older man, brother, than I am, and must know something of the matter.—You have seen the places where the French built forts and planted corn.—Your fathers knew well the French, and when you was a little boy, you have I am sure, often visited them.

Brother!—The talk (at this time) is not straight between the United States and Spain; but I hope no mischief will ensue, for a council fire is now burning, and the beloved men of the two nations are endeavoring to settle the dispute. But if it should so happen that the Americans must bid their swords to leap from the scabbard, we wish not your tom-hawk to rise.—When white people enter into dispute, let the red men keep quiet; and join neither side.

shall be remembered that the Americans are friends to the Red People.
"My Father was a Chief; I did not succeed him till I was a man in years, I am now in his place and will endeavor to do my duty, and see that not only my own nation, but other nations over whom I have influence, shall properly conduct themselves.

"I think I have now but one enemy, (the Osages) but I believe that will be an eternal one, for it is my belief that it has pleased God to give me that enemy, as it may be between you and Spain.
"The other day when I saw the Spaniards on one side of me, and your people on the other, I was embarrassed; but did not know on which foot to tread, but I am now satisfied, your words have removed my suspense: some other nations felt the same, but they shall hear of your words: they shall go from nation to nation.

"I shall now return home with my people and pursue our hunting with much more satisfaction, from what I have heard from you; altho' the color of my skin is red but my heart is white, and whenever any of your people come into our towns, they shall be treated by us with all friendship and kindness in our power to bestow, for altho' I am poor, I am always well treated whenever I come amongst them.

"I have nothing further to add, only to assure you, that your speech to me is as well recorded in my heart, as what I have said to you is by your pen."
Oct. 10.

On Monday the 6th Governor Claiborne and suite returned to New Orleans. On the 27th ult. in the country of Attakapas, his excellency was married to Miss Clarice Duralde, daughter of Martin Duralde, Esq. member of the Orleans legislature.

TORTOLA, October 2.
Vessels in port as prizes—Brig Louisiana, M'Farlan, of Philadelphia, supercargo's adventure libelled; schr. Director, Maddox, of ditto, for ditto, libelled; schr. General Eaton, Robinson, of Baltimore, from Hayti, for St. Thomas, libelled; schr. Beauty, M' Rea, do. do. do. schr. —, do, do. do. schr. —, from Martinico, for Carolina.

A gentleman just arrived from Washington, whose veracity and correctness may be relied on, reports that a letter had been received at that place by a Mr. Henderson, employed in the navy yard, from his brother, resident in Kentucky, stating, that in consequence of a commotion of the people, who had declared that country independent, he was about to remove his family to Culpepper, in Virginia.

The serious nature of this report forbids us to repeat the names of the persons implicated as leaders, until the authenticity of the report is fully ascertained.

The President of the United States was seriously indisposed on Tuesday, and by the latest accounts is still confined.

(Philadelphia Register.)
It is worthy of remark, that general Sir John Stuart, who died, on a second occasion, such lustre to the British arms, at the battle of Maita, is an American—and that he rescued the Calabrians from French bondage on the 4th of July.

Extract of a letter from an officer dated Rapids of Red River, September 20, 1806, communicated for the Evening Post.
"DEAR SIR,
"We are within sixty miles of Natchitoches, where we have met Claiborne and letters from Cushing, which leave no sort of doubt, that the Spaniards mean to dispute ground with us at the point of the sword; and that they are augmenting their forces. The governors Cordero and Herrera will be opposed to the poor American Brigadier Faret mieur. The general has called on the two Territories for Militia. Claiborne will furnish 450 and Mead 250 men only; no matter, we have a few hundred confederals, and the greater disparity of force, the more fame. We shall be ready in ten or twelve days and then the governors must retrograde, or fast our steel. Claiborne and Cushing have remonstrated strongly and repeatedly to Herrera, who with much decision repels their demands and reiterates his determination to maintain the territory of his master, east of the Sabine. The rights of humanity and the genius of his country will induce general W. — to make one more attempt at conciliation, but he will be prepared to strike the moment it is rejected. The accounts we have of the Spanish camp and equipments are marvellous; they are represented as disorderly, undisciplined and overcharged with the precious metals. What think you of a sabler's banging with him thirty thousand dollars for pocket money in jingblooms. Web' knows how we may make a coup d'oeil, and secure a birth in the best of honors—fifteen days will de-

Extract of a letter from Savanna (Geo.) to a gentleman in New-York, dated Oct. 16, 1806.
"This city has been under arms for two nights past expecting an insurrection from the Blacks. It appears that several meetings had taken place about four miles from town where they had agreed to attack the whites in the city; they had appointed generals and other officers. According to their plans they were to make three separate landings; one at Wayne's wharf, one at the Coffee House wharf, and one at the fort. They were then to let fire to the town and massacre the whites. But a difference existed between two of their leaders, and one of them divulged the secret early the evening before yesterday, in consequence of which the different companies of volunteers were stationed under the Bluff, and the Militia at Spring Hill, where twelve of the head men of the insurgents were taken and will be tried in a few days. Having been so fortunate as to take the head men, we have now I think little to fear, as the rest appear to be quiet. The negroes are to the whites as eight to one!"

The Naïad British transport was lost in Oct. last year, near Cape Ray, New Foundland, out of 247 persons, mostly troops of the 100th regiment, only seven were saved, who remained on a desolate island until last spring.

Married, on Saturday last, by the Rev. Dr. Rattone, Mr. Alexander Smith, of N. York, to Miss Sarah Pellom, of Baltimore. on Tuesday, at Hall's Park, by the Rev. Mr. Allen, Mr. John D. Lewis, of Baltimore, to Miss Sophia W. Hall, daughter of J. White Hall, esq. of Harford county.

The members of the Electric Society are respectfully requested to meet at the Rev. Mr. Sinclair's academy, at 7 o'clock, on Friday evening next.
