DISSERTATION
Upon Heads and Beards!

A. C. D. LAVIGNE,
Has the honor of informing the Ladies and Gentlemen of Baltimore that his Shop, No. 6, South Gay-street, continues open every day in the week for the regulation of heads and beards. —The deep researches which he has made into this branch of natural philosophy exceed any thing hitherto known, and the principles of hair dressing which he has discovered, baffle all the rules of physiology invented by Lavoisier; whilst the smoothness of chin which his patent razors never fail to communicate to the "human face divine," has been so pleasing to the ladies that they have made it an indispensable requisite in their lovers and beaux that they must be shaved at Lavigne's.

Mills for Sale.
A GRIST MILL, SAW MILL AND OIL MILL,
WITH about twenty-five acres of LAND, situate on the Western Run, about fourteen miles from Baltimore, and on the turnpike road leading from thence to Little York. The Grist Mill stands within a few feet of the public road, which renders it an eligible stand for country work, or for the purchase of wheat—There is also erected on said land a two story stone dwelling house, which with some additional buildings would make an excellent stand for a public house and store. Also, a Lime Kiln, and plenty of Limestone. If the above quantity of land should be thought not sufficient by one inclining to purchase, they may be accommodated with about fifty acres of limestone land adjoining, with a neat dwelling house thereon. For terms apply to

FELL'S POINT
Commercial Advertiser.
THE Editors of this paper respectfully inform the public, that from a want of sufficient encouragement they are under the necessity of foregoing their design. To those who so generously came forward in their support they are sorry to be unable to make no other return than their gratitude. Not being in circumstances to warrant a commencement on hazard, they have thought it more prudent to give up the idea altogether, than, by farther delay, to excite the anxiety of their friends. The heavy expences attendant on a daily newspaper, and the little prospect they have (from the limited patronage received) of ever being able to accomplish their desire to the extent, they deem sufficient motives to justify their total relinquishment.

David M'Mechen against the Mayor & City Council of Baltimore, Alex. Storey, and others.
IN CHANCERY,
4th March, 1807.
THE object of the complainant's bill is to obtain relief against a judgment obtained against him in the Western Shore general court, as one of the securities of Thomas Yates, on a bond given by him for the faithful performance of said Yates's trust as auctioneer in the city of Baltimore.
The bill states that the said suit was instituted against the complainant in the name of the Mayor and City Council, for the use of the said Alexander Storey—That judgment was had thereon against him without his privity or consent; that the said bond given by him as a security for said Yates by the terms and condition thereof, did not make him responsible for the debt of the said Storey, and that the said judgment was had and entered up by direction and at the instance of said Yates for the purposes of making the complainant pay the same although not answerable therefor by the tenor of his security; and that the said Yates had since become bankrupt, and that the said Storey does not reside in the state of Maryland.
It is thereupon on the application of the complainant, adjudged and ordered that the complainant cause a copy of this notice to be inserted in the American three Tuesdays or three Fridays successively before the 12th day of April next, to the end that the said Alexander Storey may appear in person or by his solicitor, in this court, before the 12th day of August next, to shew cause, if any he hath, why the prayer of the complainant, contained in his said bill, should not be granted.

It is universally admitted, that persons becoming securities for others ought to be indemnified in case of accident happening to the principal; but from the above notice it appears that I have not only been negligent to Mr. M'Mechen on that head, but that I have caused an advantage to be taken against him in the suit of Alexander Storey, and as the public are unacquainted with the circumstances, I take the liberty of stating the following facts:
In the year 1799 Mr. David M'Mechen became one of the securities for the late Mr. Archibald Campbell and myself, as auctioneers, and from a variety of losses we were compelled to stop payment in February, 1800; at which period I held in my own right a valuable real estate, a part of which I immediately assigned to Mr. M'Mechen, for the purpose of fully indemnifying him as security in the vendue business as also to secure the payment, to him of eleven thousand one hundred and fifty dollars of Yates and Campbell's notes, which he had procured on terms best known to himself.
In February 1801 I received the vendue business, and Mr. M'Mechen again became one of my securities to the Mayor and City Council for 30,000 dollars, and for so doing I conveyed to him my farm called Springfield, and other property, and on the 1st March I gave him my notes in lieu of Yates & Campbell's for 11,150 dollars with interest thereon, at 12, 18, and 24 months, all of which I paid at the Bank of Baltimore; which payments added to a judgment in the General Court of abo 125,000 dollars and 31,000 more which I had been obliged to pay to the creditors of Yates & Campbell, were the principal causes of my failure in August 1803.
The suit brought in the General Court by Alexander Storey against Mr. M'Mechen and myself was for a debt due by Yates and Campbell, as auctioneers; and previous to May Term, 1803, Mr. William M'Mechen (my attorney) informed me that it was the Trial Court in course, to which I replied, that Storey's claim was just and I did not wish the expence of a trial; but desired him only to confess judgment against me and no: his brother. He answered that it must be jointly; and accordingly judgment was entered up against us both.
Mr. M'Mechen also states in his bill of complaint that I have become bankrupt since the judgment was obtained, and that I have endeavored to make him pay a debt he is now answerable for. It is not for me to say whether he is answerable or not. The Chancellor will determine that question; but I find no difficulty in saying that he has a conveyance for my property in Bowly and Yates's Addition, worth at least 20,000 dollars, and has a right to sell it for the purpose of paying Storey's debt, which was originally 4,100 dollars, it being the only debt of Yates & Campbell's he is now answerable for; and with respect to his last security I have only to remark, that Springfield is already sold for upwards of 20,000 dollars, which added to the other property yet unsold, will be

It is universally admitted, that persons becoming securities for others ought to be indemnified in case of accident happening to the principal; but from the above notice it appears that I have not only been negligent to Mr. M'Mechen on that head, but that I have caused an advantage to be taken against him in the suit of Alexander Storey, and as the public are unacquainted with the circumstances, I take the liberty of stating the following facts:
In the year 1799 Mr. David M'Mechen became one of the securities for the late Mr. Archibald Campbell and myself, as auctioneers, and from a variety of losses we were compelled to stop payment in February, 1800; at which period I held in my own right a valuable real estate, a part of which I immediately assigned to Mr. M'Mechen, for the purpose of fully indemnifying him as security in the vendue business as also to secure the payment, to him of eleven thousand one hundred and fifty dollars of Yates and Campbell's notes, which he had procured on terms best known to himself.
In February 1801 I received the vendue business, and Mr. M'Mechen again became one of my securities to the Mayor and City Council for 30,000 dollars, and for so doing I conveyed to him my farm called Springfield, and other property, and on the 1st March I gave him my notes in lieu of Yates & Campbell's for 11,150 dollars with interest thereon, at 12, 18, and 24 months, all of which I paid at the Bank of Baltimore; which payments added to a judgment in the General Court of abo 125,000 dollars and 31,000 more which I had been obliged to pay to the creditors of Yates & Campbell, were the principal causes of my failure in August 1803.
The suit brought in the General Court by Alexander Storey against Mr. M'Mechen and myself was for a debt due by Yates and Campbell, as auctioneers; and previous to May Term, 1803, Mr. William M'Mechen (my attorney) informed me that it was the Trial Court in course, to which I replied, that Storey's claim was just and I did not wish the expence of a trial; but desired him only to confess judgment against me and no: his brother. He answered that it must be jointly; and accordingly judgment was entered up against us both.
Mr. M'Mechen also states in his bill of complaint that I have become bankrupt since the judgment was obtained, and that I have endeavored to make him pay a debt he is now answerable for. It is not for me to say whether he is answerable or not. The Chancellor will determine that question; but I find no difficulty in saying that he has a conveyance for my property in Bowly and Yates's Addition, worth at least 20,000 dollars, and has a right to sell it for the purpose of paying Storey's debt, which was originally 4,100 dollars, it being the only debt of Yates & Campbell's he is now answerable for; and with respect to his last security I have only to remark, that Springfield is already sold for upwards of 20,000 dollars, which added to the other property yet unsold, will be more than sufficient to indemnify him against the suits, &c. now depending in the County Court.

The final settlement of Yates & Campbell's business will, I expect, meet with no further delay, after the decree of the Chancellor on the above suit, and I sincerely hope that my adherents will very soon be enabled to make arrangements for a pleasing settlement with all my creditors, a number of whom are entitled to my grateful acknowledgments for their friendship since Mr. Chase commenced the vendue business.

In Chancery,
February Term, 1807.
John Simpson
The object of the bill is, that the sale of certain lands forming part of the real estate of William Andrews, late of Pottimoc county, deceased, and sold to the defendant, Hammond, late of Baltimore, by Randolph B. Latimer, trustee for the sale of the said real estate, may be set aside, and that the bonds given by the said defendant to the said trustee for the purchase money of those lands, bearing date on the 28th day of July, 1800, and payable on the 28th day of April, 1801, and the other on the 28th day of April, 1802, may thereupon be cancelled.
The relief is prayed on the ground that no part of the money due on either of the Bonds hath been paid, that the defendant, Hammond, hath become bankrupt, and is unable to pay any thing on the Bonds, and that Charles Flanagan, the security in the Bonds, hath neglected and refused to discharge them; and it is suggested in the bill that the defendant, Hammond, hath departed from, and now resides out of this state. It is thereupon, on application of the complainant, ordered, that by causing a copy of this statement, and of the order thereon, to be published once in each of three successive weeks before the twentieth of April next, in the American, printed in Baltimore, he warn the defendant, Abraham George Hammond to appear in this court on or before the 20th day of August next, to shew cause, if any he hath, why a decree should not pass as prayed.
