VV liam Buckle, came to my house, saying he was directly from Philadelphia, and gave me a letter of recommendation, purporting to be from Mr. John Endford, (but which letter I have since good reasons to believe is a forgery) and whereas the said Buckle did on the 23d. instant, rob my pocket book of thirty dollars, on which evening he left my house, and as I have since learned, went up and remained a few minutes at Mr. Nathan Hussey's, in Howard-stret, where he had boarded about four days, under the name of John Englefield, as I have since learned, previous to his coming to my house; I feel myself bound in duty to the public, to caution them against this knarish imposter. He is about 5 feet, 5 or 6 inches highand slender; very light hair and complexion a his left knee and ankle are stiff and crooked. so that he walks upon his toe. He had-on when he left my house, a black relvet striped pantaloons and check shirt, and other clothes not recollected; he is very talkative and lively. He is an Englishman by birth, and it is believed is a Yorkshireman. He resided some time in New York, and from papers lest behind him, it is supposed he was a block maker or turner.
