The Editors of the Easton Star; Republican Advocate, Frederick-town; and Hagerstown Herald, will please copy this advertisement, and forward their accounts to the Office of the American.

Notice is hereby given,
TO the mean fellow, who some days ago left a letter at the post-office without the signature of his name to it, addressed to H. T. for the base and malicious purpose of propagating lies on me, and irritating the minds of such persons as hold it below their dignity to attend either to his praise or slander, that he has missed his aim entirely, and at least thus far, has turned his own weapons of rascality against himself, as to be a slanderer for no purpose, and a miserable reptile in the dark, whose strivings to sting, honest men laugh at. If, after this, he should want to make another dart of such a nature, he is advised to put on another pair of spectacles, and earnestly cautioned to look out well who he aims at, lest he may come too nigh an honest man's heel, and deservingly be crushed down in the filthy mud he creeps and gathers his poison in.
