A. C. D. LAVIGNE,

HAVING heard of the envious expressions uttered by certain commen barters, miserable chin scrupers, and frizzulary quaces, tending to depreciate that superiority which genius is entitled to and talents wiit invariably command, hereby puts them and their vulgar arts at defiance; and scorning to hold parley with such aking ing s, preposes to any gentleman to detend and maintain at his Shop, the Head Quarters of fashion, No. 6, South Gay-street, against all persons whomsoever, instale to supremary in curtery, wiggery and razmy, to the amount of 100 dollars and unwards! As hostile as he is to that low style of puffery adopted by a certain adventurer, 'yelep'd Huggins, LAVIGNE cannot avoid declaring in the face of the world that his education has been scientifical; that after hiving finished his studies at Paris, he took the tour of the universe-having had the rare fortune of regulating the heads of Catherine II. and the Grand Turk; the King of Persia and the Emperor of China: the Mamelucs of Egypt and the Dev of Algiers, together with all the ladies of their respective courts: He has visited Cape of Good-Hope, India, Java, Madagascar, Tartary, and Kamschatka, whence he resched the United States by the way of Cape-Horn: In England he had previously tarried, where he delivered Lectures on Heads in great style, and received much applause. He has at last settled down at Baltimore, determined to devote the remainder of his days to the high profession to which his destiny has called him-Inviting all the literati, the lovers of the arts and sciences, to visit him at his Laboratory of Beauty, where he has teparate rooms for accommodating ladies and gentlemen, who desire to adorn their heads with hairudition.
