Notice.
 I reply to an advertisement in the American of 12th inst. by Benedict Hardy, of Harford county; in the public will find the old adage, for the one story is good till another is told, fully verified. In this instance, the real facts respecting negroes Henrietta, Eliza, Frank, and Nathaniel, are, that their mother was deceased to Mrs. O'Brien by her grandfather John Creton, and that then fore they justly belonged to me; but had got into the possession of Benedict Hardy, who had no common title to them when he claimed, and as he refused to deliver them when demanded, I was obliged to apply to a court of justice for redress; but owing to the suit being brought in my own name without my wife being made a party to it, I was nonsuited; and a new suit is now instituted, in which I will succeed, because the defendant set up by Benedict Hardy is the statute of Limitations, a defence no honest man ever puts to. These facts will, I presume satisfy the public, that the worthless part of the business rests on Benedict Hardy, who is as not a man and worthless in every thing respectable as I consider his wilking, scribbling attorney, who is

For Sale,
 AT the Book Stores of Messrs. Warner and Hanna, John Vance & Co. and Dobbin and Marple, also by Joseph Townsend,
 A Valuable TREATISE, entitled
"Means of preserving Health"
 AND
"PREVENTING DISEASES."
 Founded principally on an attention to Air and Climate, Diet, Food, Sleep, Exercise, Clothing, Passions of the Mind, and Retention and Excretion.—By SINDRACK RICKETSON, Physician in New York.
 RECOMMENDATIONS.
 We, the subscribers, having examined a Treatise on the "Means of preserving Health and preventing Diseases," composed by Doctor Sindrack Ricketton of this city, embrace, with pleasure, the present opportunity of giving it our best and public approbation. The style of the work is performed in so plain and intelligible a manner that it may be readily comprehended by every person of ordinary information; the principles inculcated are uniformly supported by well adapted quotations from the best authors on the subject, forming in the whole a collection of facts and opinions well worthy the attention of every class of society.
 William Harnersley Nicholas Romayne
 James S. Sappingham James Flahery
 William Moore John R. B. Rodgers
 Valentine Seaman Wright Post.
 New York, September 1st, 1866.
 SIK.

I have perused the work you have put into my hands, relative to the "Means of preserving Health and of preventing Diseases."
 It appears to me to be arranged in a perspicuous manner, and to contain principles which will receive general approbation.
 You have also very judiciously availed yourself of the observations of some of the ablest writers of the present day, which will give an additional value to your work, especially with those who may not have access to the originals.
 Accept, sir, my best wishes for the success of your undertaking.
 Your humble servant,
 DAVID HOSACK
 Dr. Ricketton.
 New York, September 1st, 1866.
 "We hope this publication will have the good effect of trying the valuable cautions and precepts which it contains into many places, and recommending them to the attention of many families and persons whom otherwise they might never have reached.
 This benefit, together with that of calling to the minds of many who are ignorant to reform the salutary advice it offers, will, we are confident, afford to the benevolent and judicious author, a compensation for all the labor he has bestowed in preparing it for the use of the public."
 Med. Repository and Review of American publications on Med. Surgery, and the auxiliary branches of science, for August, September, and October 1866.—By Doctor Mitchell and Miller.
 Similar recommendations highly approving the foregoing publication, have been received from Dr. Ramsey, of Charleston, and Dr. B. Waterhouse, of Cambridge.
 We, the subscribers, having been favored with the perusal of a book composed by Doctor Ricketton, of New York, entitled "Means of preserving Health and preventing Diseases," do, with much pleasure, give it the sanction of our approbation, and cheerfully co-operate with our respectable brethren of the Faculty in other places, in recommending it as a valuable and useful guide to health, and containing directions well calculated to prevent or mitigate disease; and therefore worthy the attention of every family and individual.
 We confidently hope that the merit of this little American work will be duly appreciated, and that thereby its benevolent and judicious author will be amply compensated for his labor and good intentions.

REMOVAL.
 Burnett's Tavern and Oyster House.
 EVER grateful for past favors, the subscriber takes this opportunity of rendering his thanks to his friends and customers in particular, and the public in general, and begs leave to inform them, he has taken a large house in Fell's street, next but one to doctor Allender's, the situation of which he hopes will be agreeable to his patrons, as no exertions on his part shall be wanting to accommodate those who may favor him with their call.
 The public's humble servant,
 C. BURNETT.
 N. B. Offers by the quart and in the shell. Likewise dressed and feet from the house to any part of the Point.
