M O N A C H

It is reported, that the privileges of the court... from paying the duties of the custom... since their apprehension, were intended to the ear of Hyndford...

The news of the... in case it attacked... ed by some advice... positively assure, the... Vizir to M. Nepleu... and which tended to promote mutual good harmony and intelligence...

Genoa, OZ. 27. Several recruits have... Pom Spain, that several recruits have... in order to complete... his Catholic majesty, and towards... dep preparations have been made there for the... allowed to set sail in... of the... generally conjectured, that that... will be deferred till next spring...

By this fair advice we are informed, that the Day of Algiers had... of impot... thoughts of making... Majesty... of the... which were seized from on board the prince Frederick... that he audaciously insists... from the British... to lay his demands before his Britannic Majesty... In the mean time, however, they are busy night and day in making preparations for their defence...

They have accordingly not long since fitted out two vessels, one of 50 and one of 60 guns; and the Algerine rovers divide their forces into several squadrons, some consisting of 40 and others of 10 Xenecks or Gallies, all well armed... By the captains of several vessels lately arrived in this port, we are credibly informed, that they had not met with one single corsair in their passage from Antibes, or any of the parts adjacent... we are assured, that those audacious rovers still continue their piratical courses, and that with too great success, in the freights of Gibraltar.

Madrid, OZ. 10. A treaty is concluded between this court and France, and the king of Sardinia. It is purely defensive, and designed to maintain in their possession those of the contracting Powers whose dominions are situated in Italy... We expect daily in the ports of this kingdom the plate fleet from Vera Cruz and Carthagena, which, exclusive of fifteen millions and a half in ready money, will bring a vast quantity of rich goods, as well as several valuable presents for the court. Among these there is a silver box, containing two wonderful pearls, of which the largest weighs only five carats and one half, and the other thirty four carats and a half; besides which were hundred and thirty eight emeralds, and a box of the same precious stones under... all the... imaginable

Warsaw, OZ. 18. According to the last letters from Poland, the public peace has broke out in several parts of that province, particularly at Mowlow and Stragoroga. To prevent its spreading farther, detachments of horse and foot have been sent towards Lutoczew... &c. come from the place...

Turin, OZ. 27. The... and he dete... of favor... the infant... and moreover engages to contribute a large sum towards the extraordinary expence our sovereign will be put to on account of this marriage. The contract has been sent back to Madrid with the king's ratification. The marriage is celebrated, now ambassador from France to this court... steps taken by the king to make... and Villafranca, have had... little time to see them become...

Hamburg, OZ. 21. By a... edict all discourse or debates... regard to the differences and division... subsisting between the court of Sweden and the Russian court.

Paris, OZ. 27. According to advices from Constantinople, the Kan that lately went into the service of the grand Signior, has been sent to Drickker, where he has received 200 purses to pay the troops in that province; and the Porte has appointed a commissary to see that this money be not embezzled. The same advices inform us, that the Divan has taken an unprecedented step, in augmenting all the taxes by 10 per cent, in order to defray the expence of a war, which, as they pretend, the Sultan is going to engage in against the new Schah of Persia. But... We rather believe that the Porte intends to encourage the Barbary pirates to go on with their depredations, and that a war breaks out in the North, fall upon the house of Austria, while the Tartars make a diversion on the side of the Ukraine.

M. de Larrey, minister from the states general, and M. Marfels, commissary of their high might nesses, seem to have made a great progress in their negotiations within these three weeks so that there is room to expect the affair will be concluded soon after the arrival of M. de Berkenode, the new ambassador from the republic of the United Provinces. A considerable amount has already been made in the duties of herring and other salted fish, brought into this kingdom by the Dutch; which has been taken with a view too obvious to require an explanation.

Hague, OZ. 31. Yesterday being the anniversary of his Britannic majesty's birth day, it was celebrated here by the earl of Holderness, his majesty's minister to this republic, with a magnificence and joy equal to the grand and happy occasion. There were present his serene highness the prince of Orange, the prince of Baden Bade, the grand pensionary, the greiffier, and nobles of Holland, and the presidents of the several colleges. Her royal highness the princess of Orange departed yesterday from Loo, on her journey to Leewarden, whither his serene highness the prince will soon follow.

Naples, OZ. 10. The queen happily advances in her pregnancy. The prince of Tarantum, second son of their majesties, who has been dangerously ill of the small pox, is now recovered.
