

Most of the Wharfs in Kingston, are blown away, or greatly damaged; as likewise those to Windward and Leeward are gone, with several Houses; most of the Canes in the Canes Pieces are either lodged or washed away, many Works are destroyed, and several Negroes, Cattle, &c. kill'd.

There are Numbers of the Crews of most of the Vessels lost, the Particulars of which shall be published, as soon as they can by Care and with Authority be ascertained.

A Ship called the Roman Emperor, was turning up from Lucea to St. Anne's, the Day of the Storm, and apprehended to be lost, not having been heard of for some Time after; till a Bird was taken up ashore, with a Label tied to its Nostrills, writen on, Ship Roman Emperor, safe off the West End, the 21st September, 1751. And on the Return of the Vessel, the People confirmed the Account of their doing it to several of the Kind, which they had caught in their Passage.

The Sloop Gazette, Capt. Carlile, from New-York, was in Sight of the Island when the Hurricane began; and was obliged to cut away her Mast, also lost chief Part of what she had upon Deck, and after driving near the Shore, and letting go her Anchors, lost her Bowprit; but happily sav'd the People, Vessel, and Cargo.—The Day before, Capt. Carlile, spoke with a small Schooner (supposed, Capt. Duthy) from South Carolina, bound to Jamaica, which 'tis feared is lost, and every Person perish'd, as no News could be learnt of her after the Storm.
