AMUSEMENTS NEXT WEEK. Ford's Grand Opera House-"The Private Secretary."—One of the funniest of the Madison Square Theatre successes is "The Private Secretary," that delightful farce comedy which will be seen at Ford's Grand Opera House during the week of February 18th. The play, which is familiar to many admirers of Gillette's works, is a naturally drawn phase of human existence, created for the sole purpose of exhibiting the merry side of life, and if making people laugh be any test of its success, then, indeed, it has achieved its object. The company, as the name suggests, is a strong one, and they ably sustained the high reputation of the Madison Square Theatre. The Rev. Robert Spaulding, who is the innocent cause of all the fun, in the hands of Mr. David P Steele, becomes a comedy character of exceptional strength. His rendition of the part somewhat differs from some of its former impersonators, inasmuch as he gives more life to it and does not let it dwindle away into a complete nothing, and he correctly depicts the sublime meekness with which the Rev. Spaulding is endowed. Mr. Harry Allen is an artist in his particular line, and his conception of the blustering East India merchant, Cattermole, almost defies criticism. Indeed, the entire company deserve fully the recognition they receive. Matiness as usual—Wednessday and Saturday.

After the regular business of the Lodge had been transacted the Noble Grand called upon Grand Secretary John M. Jones, who exemplified the unwritten work of the Order in the correct and able manner for which he noted. About 60 brothers were present, including eral times and put the air brakes on the train, which slacked up a bit. When the whistle sounded, those in the cab saw the man take the woman and boy, one under each arm, and leap from the trestle to the water beneath. By the time they touched the water the train had stopped, and some of the passengers and the train hands set about to rescue them. Fortunately the stream at that point is not very deep, but the entire party were nearly up to their necks in water and mud. They were on rescued, more scared than hurt, and were put

A Club Entertainment.—The Banner Demo cratic Club, of the 13th District, will hold a musical and literary entertainment at Mitchell's Hall, Catonsville on Monday evening next, 18th commencing at 8 o'clock. Some of the best talent of Baltimore city has been secured for this occasion, and to all who attend a pleasant evening is assured. Efforts have been exerted to make this entertainment the best that has ever been given at Catonsville Admitted to Practice.—On the 11th inst. Mr. Thomas C. Parkton Items.-Sunday 10th inst., was quite an interesting day in the annals of this lown, it being the occasion of the formal dedication of the Park Memorial M. P. Church, which has been in the course of completion for some time. The inlemency of the weather for some time past has retarded the workmen from prosecuting the work.— The corner-stone of the building was laid last summer under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, and last Sunday was the first day in which services were held. At an early hour in the forence a great many people began to gather, many of whom came from a long distance to witness the ceremonies. At 10 o'clock the congregation had become so large that the church was taxed to its tmost capacity. There were three services held luring the day-morning, afternoon and evening. The dedicatory sermon was preached in the evening by Rev. Dr. Lewis, of Westminster. The attendance at each of the services was very large. The liberality of the people to respond so promptly to an appeal made by the pastor, Rev. J. S. Bowers, for fluancial aid to liquidate the debt existing on the building was interesting, as a sum of over $600 was raised in an incredibly short time. The collections were assigned to Rev. J. S. Bowers, Messrs. B. F. Cathcart and J. W. Ayers, and Dr. R. R. Norris acted as Treasurer. Among those in the choir were Messrs. C. E. Plowman, James Cooper, Alfred N. Tracey, Misses Nellie T. Price, Lida E. Bull, Mrs. J. W. Ayers, Mrs. J. S. Price, and the Misses Harris. Miss T. Underwood, of York, Pa., was the organist. The church is 32x50 feet, having a seating capacity for 400 persons, and the architectural design approaches that of the Gothic, with a tower on the southeast corner 70 feet high from the base to the apex, surmounted by a beliry, but no bell has as yet been obtained. Much credit is due the ladies or their z-al and enthusiasm in advancing the for their z-al and enthusiasm in advancing the work, especially so may this be said of Mrs. J. S. Price, Mrs. J. W. Ayers and the Misses Harris. The church, of which Rev. J. S. Bowers is pastor, is the outgrowth of a unday school organized at Parkton two years ago. Out of the Sunday school grew a mite society, which was organized into the Methodist Protestant body in the fall of 1887. Mrs. Mar-tha Turner, of Baltimore, donated a lot of ground for the church, and requested the building commit-tee to deposit the remains of the Unider and Parke families who were the owners of large tracts of land at Parkton, within the walls of the foundation. This was done, and under the chancel of the church these remains now repose. Mrs. Turner is a decendant from the Calder and Parke families. At the same time a fortune-teller was likewise rusticating here, and told the unsuspecting and good-natured populace everything they wanted to know-past, present and future. Church of this place on last Wednesday night. The house was not crowded, owing, n doubt, to the very cold weather then prevailing.— The lecturer started out by pointing to the usual evils in all their forms arising from the sale and use of all intoxicants, denounced vigorously high license or any other license, and concluded with an earnest appeal of an entire prohibition of whole liquor traffic.

I stopped and he said, "Captain, I feel awful bad, won't you 'set them up'?" I said, "no." I then went to Groff's Mill, and when I came back Mr. Shray was there and I saked him to have a drink, and Wheat came in and said, "Captain, you ought to treat; give me something to drink or I'll die." Mr. Clark winked at me not to treat, and Wheat said, "the only way to get me off is to take me to Mt. Hope. I advised him to get some one to whip him, and he asked me if I would do it, and I said no. He then asked Mr. Shray if he would do it. Shray got a rope and Wheat and I went arm in arm together to the pole. Wheat put his arms around it and I wrapped the rope around him.—
Shray then got my buggy whip and drew back as if to cut Wheat when I said, "Pennsylvania shall never lick an old Confederate." Shray had been in he 16th Pennsylvania Regiment of the Union

I noticed that Wheat had a first of whiskey in his hip-pocket, and I asked Elias Norris to turn him around so that I could break the bottle with a shovel, which I picked up. I made a couple of licks at him, but did not touch him. He then moved off and took out his flask and said. "no you didn't:" then we had several drinks all around, and after that all hands were feeling pretty good.
I thought nothing more of the affair until I was notified that Wheat had brought a suit against Mr. Shray and I for assaulting him. organized a Union Sunday School with over 100 The crowd which gathered on Tuesday night was immense, and very many were obliged to go away who could not obtain standing room. An attractive program was arranged and admirably executive program was arranged and admirably execuive program was arranged and admirably execu-ted. A neat welcome to the audience was given by Master Willie Chapman. There were also other ex-cellent recitations, and one worthy of special men-tion by Miss Maggle Bellason. The singing, which was admirable and spirited, was gracefully con-ducted by Mr. Edward C. McLain. The thrilling Bible story of "Joseph and his brethren," prepared by the efficient Superintendent, Prof. Robt B. Chap-man, was a marked feature of the occasion. The young men of the place who executed this dia-logue reflected much credit upon themselves, the school and their town. The tableaux "The Infant Class," announced on the program, was omitted to the great regret of the audience, as this intensely interesting letter class is compared of some treely interesting little class is composed of some twelve or fifteen dear little boys, aged from 40 to 60 years, who are punctual and attentive pupils. "Jacob's Ladder' was a charming little dialogue, beautifully rendered by little Mary and Alethia Shipley, which called forth much applause.

The State Superintendent, Mr. Wm. A. Baker,

The citizens of Randallstown and vicinity are intensely interested in this school and their preaching services, and they are now earnestly and suc-cessfully at work raising funds to build a Presby-terian Church, and have secured an eligible lot for this purpose. The Expenses of the Public Schools,-Mr.

Chas. B. Rogers, Secretary of the Baltimore County Public School Board, on the 18th inst. submitted a brief statement to the Board of County Commissioners, showing the amount of money required for Public School purposes as follows: The levy for 1888 for running expenses was $110,000, and for buildings $15,000, making a total of $125,000. Of this amount $82,000 was received, $75,000 of which was devoted to the running expenses and $7,000 to The increase in the number of pupils has been much larger than was anticipated, and, consequently, the expenses of maintaining the schools have augmented in proportion, and if the increase maintains the same proportion, and it the increase maintains the same proportion in the tuture they shall be put to their utmost test to supply all needed school facilities. The average increase in attendance of children is steadily growing, and the demand for accommodations and teachers keeps pace with the growth of the number of pupils.
On the 18th inst. Mr. Rogers had a conference with the Board of County Commissioners on the matter of a disposition of the purchase money for the school property in the territory annexed to the city of Baltimore. Satisfactory arrangements were made and assurances given by the Board for an equitable distribution of the fund so as to enable the School Board to meet all outstanding obliga-tions. The Board of County Commissioners are therefore in a position to make the necessary legal transfer of all deeds necessary to secure the city of Baltimore in possession as soon as the money is paid over. The city authorities have been very dilatory in coming up with their part of the contract, al hough before the vote on annexation was taken there were many and vehement protestations made cavil or delay in the matter.

A Girl in the Case and an Assault.—On Monday last, 11th inst., Lizzle Brent, aged 16 years, daughter of Ferdinand Brent, living near Ellicott City, on the Baltimore county side, was committed to the House of the Good Shepherd by Justice Albert Smith, of Catonsville, for being incorrigible and beyond her parents control. On hisgoing to the place he was assaulted by the young men in whose company she was, and driven off without being allowed to ta e his daughter away. He then swore out a warrant for the men, who were arrested and held by Justice Smith, of (atonaville, for the Balto County Court. According to the girl's story, as soon as they had secured ball, money was given her with which to leave the county, so she could not appear against them at the time. She said she was taken to the house of Samuel Jackson, colored who with his sister Susan, concealed her until she was conveyed to Baltimore and placed on a Northern Central Railway train and sent to Pittsburg, Pa. The two Jacksons are now in the lockup at Catons-ville, having been held by Justice Smith for the Baltimore county authorities, upon the charge of hartimore county authorities, upon the charge of harboring the young girl. After every conceivable step had been taken by the father to find out the girl's whereabouts without success, he finally went to Baltimore and consulted Marshal Frey about the to Baltimore and consulted market Frey about the matter. She was soon located, and through Detective Kelly, of Pittsburg, was sent back to Baltimore. Instead of going directly home, she waited until forced to go there from the want of money and clothing. Her father then took immediate steps to have her committed.

There were several tramps found loitering around the barnyard. Among them may be mentioned Dr. Joseph Wright, Samuel Marshall, Robert Marshall, John Stonesifer, John Leland, Martin Young, William Rateliffe, and others. They were received and duly made acquainted with the art of making hay when the snow is on the ground, and in mid winter The Haymakers are a jolly, good-natured ast of fellows, always realising the fact that "a little fun now and then is reliabed by the best of men." one of Baltimore city's oldest and most prominent jeweilers mounted, in gold, a rather curious breastpin. It required a heavy train of vehicles to take us on our journey. entering the lower end of Reisterstown (which is commonly called Emoketown) we were met by a large delegation, which was tendered as an escort through Reis:erstown, thence to Glyndon. Fireworks were used very lavishly on this occasion. works were used very lavishly on this occasion.—
Arriving at their Wigwam we met delegations from Union Bridge and Hagerstown. We also noticed thirty-five pale faces loitering around, whom, to say the least of it, were very pale indeed, possibly from fright. There were about forty patitioners on the application, embracing the most prominent and influential citizens of Glyndon and vicinity. After short and long talks we proceeded with the ritualistic ceremonies, when Palefaces Upton Ber yman, J. M. Seymour and J. T. Marshall, Jr., offered themselves as a sacrifice and were adopted in a manner selves as a sacrifice and were adopted in a manner that not only reflected a great deal of credit to the team of Montezumas, which conferred the work, but stamped these three Brothers as being men without fear. The Chiefs are active and energetic, and we pre lict for the new Tribe a bright future. The Coun cil Fire being quenched a banquet was prepared in short order, when we all partook of what corn and venison we might venture to carry with us to our homes. We desire to return our thanks to the new addition to our Order, which has so suddenly sprang up for the hospitality tendered us. Much credit is due to Bro. J. T. Whittle for the amount of energy that was displayed by him in the institution f Minnehaha Tribe, and we trust the Great Spirit will smile on them and spare them many G. WILLIAM H. LEACH and others. IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR BALTIMORE COUNTY, IN EQUITY. (Equity Docket No. 8, folio 28.) The object of the bill of reviver in this case is to procure a technical foreclosure of the mortgage from William H. Leach to Geo. Hawkins Williams by a single track on Fourth street or on Hunting-and to relieve the property hereinafter mentioned The bill states that on the lath January, 1881 George Hawkins Williams, being seized of a certain tract of land in Baltimore county, near Cub Hill ontaining about 44 acres, conveyed the same William H. Leach, who, being unable to pay the purchase money, re-conveyed the same to said Wil-liams by way of mortgage (Liber W. M. I., No. 92, folio 205, etc.,) to secure the unpaid purchase money ($2,800) according to the tenor of the mortgage notes therein described. And that in consideration of the indulgence there-by granted, the said Leach agreed that in addition to said mortgage a decree should be passed thereupon for a sale of said property upon the happening of any default so as to bind said mortgaged premises not only in his hands but all subsequent holders of the title thereof. That through some inadvertance which this plaintiff cannot now accertain, though the mortgage was recorded on the 17th day of January, 1881, the bill for foreclosure and the assent thereto was not put upon the docket until 18th January, and the decree seented to was not passed until January 20th o That the said Leach conveyed the equity of re demption in said mortgage property, subject to the lein, to one James J. McCann in trust (Liber W. M. L., No. 120, folio 196, &c...) for Margaret Handlein for life, with remainder over to the heirs of her body; and that through inadvertance and mistake the same was placed on record on January 17th, 1881, prior to the passage of said decree in contravention of his agreement aforesaid.

That Margaret Handlein, the castus que trust of said McCann, under the deed hereinbefore referred to, died intestate in October last, leaving as the helrs of her body several children, one of whom, John Leach, enlisted in the army of the United States but whether he is now in such service is not A Rather Bemarkable Breastpin.-Last week

It is thereupon, this 18th day of February, 1889, ordered by the Circuit Court for Baltimore County, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published is Baltimore county once a week for four successive weeks before the 18th day of March, 1890, give notice to the said John Leach of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor.
