A Daring Escape from the Penitentiary.— On the 22d John Burke, a New York crook, who was sentenced to the Penitentiary for 10 years and 6 months for attempting the "drop" game on Geo. W. Parks, in the Merchants' National Bank, October 1886, made his escape from the Penitentiary i a daring manner. He was in the yard with other prisoners in charge of Deputy Warden Feldhaus when he seized his opportunity and darted into the sewer which leads from the Penitentiary underneath Buren street and the Western Maryland Railroad to Jones' Falls, a distance of six hundred feet The sewer is about three feet in diameter and very steep. It is thought Burke had an accomplice in another New York crook known to the police as Pat Lally, who is supposed to have entered the mouth of the sewer at Jones' Falls, crawled in a stooping position to the iron grating and sawed through two of the bars so as to allow Burke to bend them sufficient to get his body through. As soon as Burke's absence was discovered search was made through the yards, but he could not be found. Warden Feldhaus then examined the sewer and soon found that that was the mode of Burke's escape. After about three-quarters of an hour search Warden Feldhaus said he would crawl through the sewer and see if he could find Burke. He was fully three quarters of an hour going through, and when he came out into Jones' Falls he was a sight to behold, being covered with slime and mud. The footprints of Burke were seen in the mud of the Falls, but he has made good his escape. Search was made in empty cars of the Northern Central and Western Maryland Railroad, but no traces were found. It is supposed that LaHy placed a shirt and coat in the sewer for Burke, as he left his striped coat and his shirt there. The overalls he wore concealed his striped pantaloons. The escape is a regular Jack Sheppard affair, and has created great excitement at the Penitentiary. Burke's escape has been telegraphed all over the country, and the police and detectives of Baltimore are upon the

The altars in the Catholic Churches were seplendent with magnificent flowers and candles, giving a brilliant effect; and the music was also of holiday to celebrate the day in the manner as may seem best to them. Applications for new school buildings have been handed in to the Board from the following places: Parkton and Shane, 7th District; addition to school at Freeland, and new building at Hoshall's and Beckleysville, 6th District; Cowenton, Baldwin and Franklinville, 11th District; Fullerton and

The Board then adjourned subject to call.

Tenant Farming.—In the Eastern and Middle States there are hundreds of farmers of small means who either cannot or have no wish to go West. These must occupy rented farms, and mostly for a long period. As methods of cultivating grow more elaborate and expensive the tendency will be towards an increase of this class of farmers. Why should not the expension in product in working. more elaborate and expansive the tendency will be towards an increase of this class of farmers. Why should not the co-operation involved in working a farm "on shares," for instance, be as satisfactory and profitable to all concerned on an average as other partnership? I take it for granted that it is not generally successful—in fact, it is the prevailing impression, and it becomes quite important to know whether the reasons for failure are not removable. Why should not tenant farming do as well and better for both owner and renter than it does usually in Europe, as we have the superior advantage in machinery, labor, dc.? There is plenty of capital in the East here vainly looking for investment of 4 or 6 per cent., and there are hundreds of good farms near large cities, or of easy access, that, instead of being cultivated, are only huddled. Why will it not pay for those who have expits and some knowledge and taste for farming to buy these farms, (they can be bought cheap.) rent to a first-class farmer on shares, invest a little in improvements, and push things generally? I say on shares, because, with a fixed money rent, the tempstation would be for the owner to be careless and for the farmer to make all he can, even if he does skin the land. It seems very reasonable when two pull together they should be able to do much better with a fixer than any one party of in improvements, and push things generally? I say on shares, because, with a fixed money rent, the temptation would be for the owner to be careless and for the farmer to make all he can, even if he does akin the land. It seems very reasonable when two pull together they should be able to do amail means. I should be glad to see some comments and criticisms on these points. If it can be shown that a good deal of capital now made a ball of in the large cities can be profitably put against the skill and labor of farmers who have the months to buy it, I think a long mean farm, but not encush to buy it, I think a long mean farm, but not encush the skill and ispor of fermers who have she money to properly stock and work a farm, but not enough to buy it, I think a long step forwards will have been made in the agriculture of the Ensure and Middle States, and a good deal of Western States.

The Rile Ridge Club.—A Fine Hunt.—On Saturday last, 20th inst., the Elk Ridge Fox Hunting Club had a meet at Towson from which point a drag hunt was laid off over "Epsom," the Chew estate, and through "Hampton," the Ridgely estate. Several good fences were made on the way, the ladies clearing them with astonishing grace. As soon as the fox was turned loose all went in the chase with a vin. The turnpike was crossed As soon as the loc was turned loose an went into the chase with a vim. The turnpike was crossed and several high fences were gone over. Up the hill tops ran the fox, with the hounds tearing after him, the enthusiastic riders galloping their horses at breakneck speed; but he was not captured until nearing Loch Raven, when the hounds gained upor nearing Loch Raven, when the hounds gained upon him and he was compelled to give up.

A large party in carriages followed the hunt throughout the entire chase, taking the main road cutting off into the smaller roads, in order to meet the mounted party. Some of those in carriages were Mrs. E. Gittings Merryman, Miss Laura Merryman, Miss Isabel Boarman, Miss Jeannie Boarman, Miss Frick, Dr. A. F. Bulin, Miss Carrie Dulin, Geo. Armistead, Donnell Swan, Miss Nannie Gordon, W. D. Merryman, Bassie Montague, Col. James H. D. Merryman, Bessie Montague, Col. James H Buchanan. The chase was one to inspire the spec tators with enthusiasm, as each rider tried to outdo his companion in the run, but no especial hor could be bestowed upon any except Mr. Brown and Mr. Gittings. Merryman, who went some distance out of the way to jump fences, which the others did not try, Miss Isabelle Brown rode beautifully. After the hunt a dinner was given at the Kennels at which a large company was present. Among the members mounted were: Messrs. T. Swan Latrobe, M. F. H.; George Brown, Miss Isabelle Brown, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jackson, General George S. Brown, Joseph S. Voss, Thomas Whist-ler, New York; Ross Whistler, Hoffman McLane, Alex. A New Odd Fellows' Hall-An Excellent Selection.—In view of the probability that the present Odd Fellows' Hall in Baltimore will be removed to make way for the proposed opening of Douglas street, the Grand Lodge on Monday night elected the following members, viz: Past Grand Masters Benj. F. Zimmerman, John E. McCahan, Geo. W. Lee and Wm. M. Isaac, and Past Grands J. Wesley Guest and H. A. Booth, who, with the elective grand officers for the time being, (James B. hase a site and erect a new Hall to place the mempership upon about the same basis and comfortable conveniences they now enjoy. An effort of some citizens is being made, however, to effect a repeal of the ordinance, which 3 not very likely; and there is a likelihood, also, that Mayor Latrobe KACH DAY, AS FOLLOWS: would veto any ordinance of repeal. The Grand Lodge has adopted a wise course to prepare for a new Hall, as the Order could not afford to stand i the way of any march of improvement deemed necessary by the City Council. The membership naturally feel a repugnance to part with their old Hall wherein they have labored so many years to build up the most beneficient and powerful insti-tution of its kind in the world, but they are not slow to recognize that the necessities of a great city are more powerful than a sentiment, especially when it is known that a new Hall will give them greater comforts as the result of experience. WEDDINGS. Perric—Rind.—On Tuesday evening, 23d inst., St. Peter's P. E. Church, Baltimore, was filled with the Peter's P. E. Mr. Ewing might be termed an old '59er, as he was a resident of Towson about 1859, and built the large three-story frame houses at the corner of the York Turnpike and Allegany Avenue, better known as "Hickman's Folly." The houses were made to front on both the Turnpike and Allegany Avenue, and there was not a square room in the houses.-Consequently they were dubbed "Hickman's Folly." Mr. Louis W. We would like the attention of the Count House. Indiging from the leaky condition of the room we have occupied the roof is in need of prompt repair, otherwise the timbers supporting it must soon decay and thereby entail much more extensive re-palm.

Our attention has been called repeatedly to the total want of suitable accommodations for females attending Court, and would suggest that a ladies' room within the building be properly fitted and furnished for their exclusive use and convenience.

We thank the Court and its officers for their courters to we diving our massion. tesy to us during our session.
ATTWOOD BLUNT, Foreman. Towson, March 15th, 1889.

We, a committee of the Grand Jury for the March Term, visited the Alms House and found everything in a good condition as far as Mr. Cole could make it. He seems to be liked by all the inmates, and treats them very kind. He keeps the house very lean, and all the rooms seem to be very comfortaclean, and all the rooms seem to be very comfortable for the inmates with the exception of some chairs for them to sit upon so they will not have to sit upon their cots. About five dozen chairs are needed. We found the porches in a bad condition and need fixing very badly, and we found some of the lightning rods blown down which ought to be fixed. A vehicle to take persons to the train is needed, as the one that is there now is not fit; the wheels are broken and unsafe and the curtains tore wheels are broken and unsafe and the curtains torn off. The fences need fixing very much for some are falling down.
We believe Mr. Cole to be the very gentleman

we believe Mr. Cole to be the very gentleman to fill the place he has charge of, for he takes an interest in it and keeps the farm in good condition.

There are 80 inmates in the institution at the present time, and we found about 300 bushels of corn in the granary, which is something unusual.

JOHN McGRAIN,

WILLIAM BERRYMAN. Committee. THOMAS LEWIN, CIRCUIT COURT FOR BALTIMORE COUNTY.

To the Foreman of the Grand Jury, March Term, 1889:
Sir:—Your committee acting under the statute in such case made and provided, have examined the County Treasurer's books in as reasonable manner as to them the circumstances warranted. We have compared a number of vouchers and find them to compared a number of vouchers and find them to agree with the receipts appertaining thereto; made additions of certain columns of figures and find their sums total correct and folios kept in orderly and cleanly manner.

We take pleasure in stating that all differences existing between the aforementioned office and such similarly constituted authorities of Baltimore city arising from and culminating in the recent separaarising from and culminating in the recent separated portions of our county, have been satisfactorily adjusted, and we are informed that all public monies are deposited in such banks as by law estab
