Is the Y. & P. B. R. R. Again in the Break-

ers?-The financial circles of our city bave been somewhat startled by the well authenticated report that some $88,000 of the securities of the York and Peach Bottom Railroad Company, in the form of next week. notes held by the banks of this city, have gone to interest in the stock of that road to a syndicate identified with the interest of the Maryland Central Railroad, now begins to appear. It would seem that the gentlemen having very large holdings of the stock of the Y. & P. R. R. are indorsers of this floating debt, and that the Maryland Central parties purchasing the stock stipulated to purchase, also, and at par, a sufficient amount of the preferred stock to liquidate the en-tire floating debt of the Y. & P. B. amounting to some $91,000. With this understanding, if we are correctly informed, the sale of the common stock as made at about $5 per share; and that in pursuance of this arrangement three gentlemen representing the Maryland Central Railroad were elected Directors in the York and Peach Bottom Railroad board on Monday week, in place of George S. Bill-meyer, Harry Keyser and John Humphrey, Esgrs. This accomplished, it only remained for the Maryland Central syndicats to pay for the preferred stock and take up the floating debt protected by the fork gentlemen who had sold their stock to it. some slight overlook the taking up of the loating debt referred to has not been attended to and consequently the notes representing that debt We presume this little item of unfinished business will be attended to some time in the uncertain We think we are not far wrong, however, in saying we believe the Maryland Central syndicate attaches no importance to the York and Peach Botom Railroad stock as an investment, and that their ourchase of it was merely to give them control of that road as a feeder to the Maryland Central. This being the case, we presume they are not very solicitious about the credit of the York and each Bottom, or the fate of any of its debts, funded or floating,- York Gazette, 21st inst.

The Allers Case-Petition Against Counsel Fees.—On the 18th inst. the following petition and order was filed in the Circuit Court for Baltimore THE STATE OF MARYLAND VS. ALLERS. To the Hon. Geo. Yellott, Chief Judge:
The petition of the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore respectfully shows unto your Honor: That it has been informed that by an order passed in the above entitled cause by your Honor counsel were appointed to defend the accused and allowing said counsel the sum of $100; that the said order could only have been passed upon the supposition by your Honor that said accused had not employed, and was not able to employ, counsel to defend him. Whereas, the petitioner represents to your Honor that said prisoner already had not only employed counsel to defend him, but that two of the counsel who defended said accused in the trial at Towson were his counsel of record, and had defended him when tried in Baltimore city, as will appear by the record of said case as transmitted from the Criminal Court of Baltimore City; and the petitioner further shows unto your Honor that said accused was able to employ and pay counsel to defend him. Inasmuch, therefore, if said order stands, the petitioner will be required to pay said $100. It, for the reasons above stated, respectfully represents to your Honor that the above mentioned order was passed inadvertantly and without just warrant; and it respectfully asks that the same may be revoked and annulled, and as in duty bound, &c. Monkton Items.—On last Saturday, 18th inst., at about the hour of 12 M., it became apparent to those watching around the bedside that kobert G. Merryman, of whose critical illness the Journal spoke on several occasions, was slowly but surely sinking, and that death was near at hand. Somewhat later he told his devoted wife and governaticken parents that he could not bettle any longer stricken parents that he could not battle any longer and must go, and thus at about 2.30 P. M. he passed silently and quietly away, conscious to the last.—
The news of Robert's death pread rapidly, and the people stood paralyzed as it were at the sad event, the strong wept, the place seemed shrouded in gloom, and sorrow filled every heart. Tuesday following Robert's death was selected as the day for the funeral, and from early morning people began to arrive from far and near, and by every means of courts and to year the least tellular of respect to year the least tellular of respect to year. conveyance, to pay the last tribute of respect to their departed friend. At 10 o'clock A. M. the re-mains, which were encased in a beautiful cashet, were conveyed from the house in charge of Charity Lodge, No. 134, A. F. & A. M., and wended their way to the M. E. Church near-by. where the cortege was met by the Revs. S. M. Alford, W. T. D. Clemm, F. H. Havenner, George C. Bacon and Edward Hayes. Miss Rosa Heathcote presided at the organ. Revs. Alford and Clemm each paid a feeling tribute in a well-chosen eulogy on the life, character, business talents and prospects for the dead were performed by the Order of Massons, of which the deceased became a member shortly before he was taken ill. There was quite a profusion of lovely flowers of various designs offered by sympathizing friends and relatives. It was not deemed safe for Mrs. Merryman to attend the funeral of her husband, as she was so evercome by died on the 18th day of May, 1889, aged 36 years 9 months and 24 days. He was the second son of the late John J. Merryman and Margaret, his wife, who is still living. Robert received but a common edu-cation in our public schools, but being of quick perception and strong will-power he soon excelled. in early life he learned the trade of carpenter and builder, and by his untiring industry and tact soon became a recognized leader among the craft. He then rose rapidly in the building line and secured contract after contract, and always executed them to the satisfaction of the owners and profit to himself. This led him into the lumber business, which he carried on at his home near here for a while, but finding the place too small and too far from the railroad he made the grandest stroke of his life in ourchasing a lot from Mr. Daniel Alder, at Corbett's Station. The building up of the place with saw-mills, planing and other machinery, and the stocking of the yards with everything necessary to conduct the business of builder and contractor are so well known that a minute description of the same is unnecessary. He did all his own planning, made all his own drafts and calculations for buildings, kept all his own books, and when press of busine demanded it would not hesitate a moment but take an active part in all menial work that came to hand; in fact he overworked both brain and body. A few years ago he married Ida, the only daughter of Mr. Thomas Kaufiman, of this place, and have one little boy. This was a happy union. He idolized his little family, and his death will be an irreparable loss to them. He was possessed of stirling qualities, indominable energy, truthfulness and honesty, which drew around him hosts of friends and made him a peer among man. He loved the and made him a peer among men. He loved the Methodist Episcopal Church, though he was not a member, but whenever there was anything going on for the benefit of the church he was always ready with his counsel, labor or purse to help the cause. He was a liberal and cheerful giver. They could not be induced go back to the narrow tire. The philosophy of his is readily observed. The broad tire does not cut through, either in mud or sand, thus making the draft much lighter. Besides this, the roads are not cut up, but, to the contrary, the broad tire presses down the lumps and leaves a smooth track, thus bettering the roads, the advantage of which is easily understood. Another advantage is, they pay only half toll on the pike. The tire, which seems to meet with general favor, is from three and Wheat in this section of the county is looking remarkably well; also oats and rye, which shows what hauling manure from the city does and top iressing during winter. Second District Items.—News is scarce at present, at the same time a few items may not be amiss. Some few weeks ago your correspondent spoke about gold mines in the District, and in your next issue "Felix" inquires where the gold mines are situated. Now, "Felix" either must live in a remote corner of our large District (perhaps imaginary) or else he would know where they were.— He also prophecies something about politics in the District which goes still further to confirm my ideas about his living in the tail-end. He only mentions two persons in his letter who would roll up a grand old Democratic majority. No doubt they were good men, but he must remember that there are other aspirants than the two he mentioned who are goodly as strong as they, but time will tall that equally as strong as they; but time will tell that tale, and, consequently, the information that we might get from "Felix's" suggestion would not avail much. We will, however, gratify him about avail much. We will, however, gratify him about his desire to know where the gold mines are situated. Any time he is traveling, either afoot or in his carriage, on the Liberty Turnpike, and if he is familiar with the neighborhood he will not go amiss. They are situated between the farm of Mr. H. Lewis Stirn and the farm belonging to Mrs. Mary Kalb, called "Fairmount," about three miles from the present city limits, and if he wants to convince himself that it is not a heavy like he says a correct

Mr. Joseph Widerman, we understand, is going to sell all his personal property and has rented his farm to his son. He has been in feeble health of grief and prostrated by this terrible affliction that it was thought the final parting at the grave might result disastrously to her future health. The beautiful casket was furnished by Mr. Wm. C. Brooks. The neighborhood of Randallstown eclipses all in the building line. There are at least two or three new houses at present in course of erection on the farm of the late Mrs. Ann Rodgers, which has been sold since her death and is now divided in these forms. in three farms. One portion was bought by Mr. Monzell Sipes, and another by Mr. John Rodgers. Both are erecting comfortable residences on the same. The other part was retained by some of the heirs. The land is situated on the Old Court Road, about one mile west of the Liberty Turnpike. About the greatest surprise to your correspondent was the other night when he was going up the Liberty Pike. The weather being warm he was going along thinking what a good cool glass of beer, or something else, perhaps, he would have when he got to the old familiar place at the Cross Roads, or Sander's Corner, for the last six or seven years kept by Mr. George Berlin; but, alas! my hopes vanished when I drove up to the old familiar hopes vanished when I drove up to the old familiar pump to see the doors of the house closed and the proprietor moved away. I think for about twenty or twenty-five years many a thirsty traveler has quenched his thirst there, either at the pump or at the bar, for I would not exaggerate if I said the water is equal to the famous Strontia or the Carlsbad. Mr. Berlin, the former proprietor, has purchased Mr. Gurry's place, store and dwelling, on the Old Court Road, between Pikesville Station and the Liberty Pike and the Liberty Pike.

Mr. Herman L. Piel, whose name is familiar to most all the people of the District, has been under the care of Dr. Hill and Wise for several weeks, but is at present gradually improving.

Going a little outside of the lines of the District we might very appropriately say that "Westward the course of empire takes its way," when we consider that recently the "Sudbrook Farm," adjoining the District on the northeast, has been purchased by a company of capitalists who are laying it off into beautiful lots and intend to build comfortable cottages on them, and then lease or soll them,-Right on the strength of that here comes some more moneyed parties who buy 40 acres of the old "Walker Farm," recently purchased by Mr. Joshua Parsons, of whom they bought the above mentioned 40 acres, and they, too, are laying it off into lots and avenues. This land is situated at Mt. Hope Station, W. M. R. R., adjoining the farm of Dr. F. W. Patterson and Mt. Hope. The only obstacle I see in the way of other capitalists coming a little farther due west is the bad roads, and particularly Patterson Avenue, leading from the Liberty Pike to Mt. Hope Station, and much used by persons going to the railroad. It is only about a mile long, and, strange to say, is most always in a By the way, speaking of roads reminds me of frequent complaints I hear of through the Journal about the roads in the "Belt." Your correspondent, who has occasion to travel the road leading from the 3-Mile House, on the Liberty Road, to Druid hill Park, frequently, (because it is a mile nearer.)
has noticed that it has been almost entirely neglected since the city has had control of it. There are banks along it, perhaps 30 or 40 feet high; great rocks protruding, and it is not unfrequent, after a rain that some turble down in the resident after a day, June 3d.

Where is our former Sergeant of Police, (now Superintendent of these roads,) Mr. To the Farmers of Baltimore County .-There will be a public meeting under the auspices of the Baltimore County Grange on June 5th, at 1 several years past, has been transferred to Hancock, William Ruhl...... 7 Samuel H. Mr. James A. Sheppard, Jr., of this place, has been taken quite ill with inflammation of the been taken quite ill with inflammation of the cussed by a farmer, the Hon. John Mortimer White-cussed by a farmer, the Hon. John Mortimer Whitenead, the National Grange Lecturer, one who is thoroughly posted in Grange topics and well calculated for the unfolding of newer thoughts, of nobler aims and higher aspirations. There has never been a time that the Grange was in a more flourishing condition than the present, and there never was a greater need of thorough and complete co-operation among the farmers than now. The Grange needs every farmer, and every farmer needs the Grange. We should not expect, nor can we obtain protection unless we unite to sefarmer needs the Grange. We should not expect, nor can we obtain protection unless we unite to secure it—in unity there is strength. Thinking is the faculty of understanding, and if we will only get the faculty of constant thinking, life will be much the faculty of constant thinking, life will be much the faculty of constant thinking, life will be much the faculty of constant thinking, life will be much the faculty of constant thinking, life will be much the faculty of constant thinking, life will be much the faculty of constant thinking the faculty of constant the faculty of co more pleasant, while the farmers' cause will advance much more rapidly than it ever has. The majority of farmers do much more manual labor than they should do if the burden of govern-ment were equally distributed. This is the result of our not thinking and thus taking care of ourselves. The farmers should do their own thinking, and do it in a body, and in the Grange is the proper place to discuss their thoughts. Thinking is true co-operation. Thoughtful business men succeed under the sharpest adverse circumstances by co-operation. We have the same drawbacks to enounter in our Grange work. There would be no ecessity for farmers to organize if there was nothing to resist or oppose, or something to endorse out since we have an enemy on our hands showing signs of working for the mastery we must turn about and face the contest with our true colors float ing to the front. Our experience, gathered from every source, as to how the Grange may be made more successful leads us to the belief that the Grange can only be, and really is, just what we make it. Great reforms always rest in the hands of a few individuals composed of the thinking people of both sexes and all parties. The political harvest is making ready to reap the farmers' votes at the next on. The meetings and doings of partizan poli ticians will influence the destiny of the monopolies at the counting of our ballots the next time we cast our vote. and we cannot blame them, because our vote is worth having and worth counting, and number about 76 per cent. of the whole.

We believe the Grange is the only means by which this government may be perpetuated as a legacy to future generations. Farmers compose the great connecting link between the Constitution and the people. Ours is a Constitution by the people, therefore it rosts with the people to keep it pure from the party elements making political capital out of its voting power. We are aware there are millions of capital at the fount where the farmers, with their votes, ought to be. We are aware that unless we take an active part in the play for power that the little we hold will soon be taken from our grasp. Around the speakers' stand we sit and listen to funny and dirty anecdotes, and hurrah for him who is doing his level best to make us believe he is our man until our voice looses its natural sound. The monopoly ring succeeds in making us mad when they speak disrespectfully of our political party just what they desire, and while our tem-per is up the cumning tricky fellows catch us every

Adam Brandaul Accidentally Killed.—On Friday last, 17th inst., Mr. Adam Brandau, well known in this county, was accidentally killed at the Hanover Station of the B. & O. R. R. He had stepped from the train and attempted to cross the track when the fast train from Pittsburg came along. The engine struck the unfortunate man and broke almost every bone in his body, and hurled the shapeless mass along the track at an awful rate.—
As soon as the train could be stopped, the excited trainmen hurried back and found poor Brandau dead. Sunday Laws Violated.—The Rev. De Witt C.
Loop, of Mt. Winans, 18th District, has made a written complaint to the County Commissioners of the violation of the windry law by the sale of liquor or which, y, and card playing and other violations of law, which, he says, the officers of the District are cognizant of and do not attempt to prevent nor acrest the guilty parties.

CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS. Before Judges Yellott, Fowler and Watters. N. Charles Burko, State's Attorney . John W. Shanklin, Clork. Joshua Traccy, Sheriff

Towson, May 20th, 1889

The influence of the young May at the opening f Court was visible in the demeanor of the prominent attorneys who made their appearance on that day. One well-known counsellor appeared in Court with a magnificent rose in his coat button hole. The change of season was easily noted by the new apparel of most of the solicitors who put in an appearance in propria personna. Mr. L. M. Bacon, the urbane Court Clerk, was ably assisted in his multifarious duties by Mr. Chas. E. Fendail, the suave Equity Clerk. Mr. Martin O'Hars, of the Clerk's Office. graced the occasion with his genial presence and drew the names from the box under the direction of Chief Judge Yellott and Associate Judge Fowler to determine the members of the Grand Jury.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY, AND THE PUBLIC.

The subscribers, a Committee of the Board of Managers, appointed "to consider the condition of the Boalety financially, and to suggest such measures as may be practicable to make necessary improvements on the grounds," submit the following:

The beginning of the present year found the Society free of floating indebtedness and in better condition, practically, than ever before. The support of the Fairs by the public is generous, and but for one day's inclement weather during the last one a better showing even could have been made.

The premises have been kept in fair repair, though, from the temporary character of the buildings, this involves considerable yearly expense, an expense which might be much reduced were certain improvements made—improvements which your Committee believe are absolutely necessary to increase or even maintain the attendance at our Annual Fairs.

We consider it essential, First, to erect a small house to be occupied by a keeper, who would look after the property.

We consider it essential, First, to erect a small house to be occupied by a keeper, who would look atter the property. This, of itself, would save an annual outlay nearly or quite equal to the interest on the proposed expenditures. Second, to erect a larger, more commodious, better located Grand Stand, affording ample sheller in unfavorable weather, and improve the Track. Third, to make some improvements to the Sheds and other Buildings.

To secure these desirable advantages it is proposited. To secure these desirable advantages it is proposed to issue $5,000 preferred stock, with interest at 6 per cent., guaranteed.
There is at present a mortgage on the property of $6,500, at 6 per cent. The contemplated improvements will cost about $8,500, leaving $1,500, with which is proposed to reduce the mortgage to $5,000. The amount of the Capital Stock now outstanding is $7,500 (which has carried privileges equal in most cases to 6 per cent. interest.) cases to 6 per cent, interest. Your Committee feel confident that the contemplated improvements will save in annual repairs and add to the receipts, enough, not only to meet all interest obligations, (6 per cent. on Mortgage and the proposed Preferred Shares,) but also yield some returns on the Stock now outstanding.

It is proposed to issue the Preferred Stock in sums of $10 and multiples thereof, and your Committee feel confident that there is local public spirit enough to bring a prompt response to this appeal, to make our Fair Grounds equal in comforts and conveniences to those of other similar societies in our State. The amount needed is comparatively small, and we trust it will be promptly subscribed.

trust it will be promptly subscribed.

The present Shareholders, and all others willing to subscribe to this Preferred Stock, are requested to notify the Secretary of the Society, WM. B. SANDS, 117 S. Gay Street, Baltimore, of the amounts that they will take D. M. MATTHEWS, President,
