The case of Judge Yellott is the first in the history of the State that the Legislature has failed to extend the time of a Judge whose applieation has been made to it to do so under the provisions of the present Constitution of the State, and Judge Yellott then was, and now is, in sound bodily health, and in full possession of all his ments qualifications, and of his vigorous intellect, and has had an extended experience first as Associate Judge and then as Chief Judge of this Circuit. Resolved, That we denounce the means which were used which have caused Judge Yellott's retirement from the bench, and especially the action of he committee to whom the application to extend his term was referred by the House of Delegates Maryland in permitting persons to accuse him i his absence, and in not permitting him to be present when his accusers were bringing charges against him. Monkton Items .- Last Saturday, the 13th inst will long be remembered as the day of the great storm. Black clouds seemed to gather from every direction all forenoon, and at about 11.30 A. M. broke forth the most awful and violent remembered by the oldest inhabitant. Thunder and lightnin which continued without intermission for about one hour was simply appalling, and many of our Taesday, July 23d.—Wm. M. Risteau, auctioneer, people were not a little frightened. The rain came in sheets and soon the low lands were under water. The smaller bridges which were washed away by the flood of June 1st last and were rebuilt since, were left intact at this time, because more precaution was used in anchoring them olidly to the abutments, thereby saving the county nuch expense and the traveling public much in convenience. Lighting struck the school house situated on the property of Mr. Jacob M. Pearce, near Manor Post Office, in the 10th District, and destroyed it. It is a blessing that there was no school at the time; the consequences might have been ter rible. The electric current also killed two cows, the property of Mr. William Curry, residing in the neighborhood of the post office. Mrs. Catherine M. The heavy rainstorm which visited this section of the country on Saturday last did a great deal of damage in the way of washing out roads. The roads in this section are nothing but stone and gutters. They need the attention of the Supervisor very badly. Salem Sunday School will hold their annual picnic on Friday and Saturday nights, 19th and 20th inst., at Mr. J. Stanford's cauning house. Rossville Items .- On the 13th inst. this neighborhood and district was visited by a tornado, and furthermore accompanied by the heaviest rain fall we have ever witnessed in this locality. In the 10th District there and the storm on the 13th laid the oats and corn as flat as if it had been rolled. While Mr. Linthicum Almony was working in the hay field on last Saturday a thunder storm came up when he took his horse under a hay barrack and was holding it when the lightning struck a tree about fifteen feet from where he stood. He and his horse were both knocked down. Mr. Almony says he does not know how long he laid there but when he came to he got up and staggered to the house. He was very badly stuned but is better. The Recent Rainstorm -- Heavy Damages .-One of the heaviest rainstorms of the season visited a large portion of Baltimore county on Saturday last, 13th inst. It is reported that in some localities there was 7 inches of rain fell in about three hours. The roads were badly washed, and fences and fields suffered badly. Corn and other standing crops were blown down, and heavy losses are entailed on farmers and gardeners by the destruction of their products At Towson the York Road was washed out badly just south of the now famous treatle, and the rail-road embankment had great holes in it. The turnpike in front of the reidence of Mr. John Hall, an employee of the York Road Ratlway, was washed out 5 feet to the bed rock. This portion of the turnpike had been in position for at least one hundred years. Sidewalks and the avenues in the town vere badly washed in all directions. By a measurement made by Mr. Chas. E. Fendall in an open vessel in his yard 51/2 inches of rain fell.

Herring Run never was so high within the memory of the oldest inhabitant, and the bridges all along it were lifted out of their places. The bridge across the run on the Harford Road and on the Bel Air Road were washed away, and that the Hon. George Yellott, Chief Judge of the 3d Judical Circuit of Maryland has notified the Governor of the State of the expiration of his term

Thatcher Bell, who drives a stone wagon, was seen driving on the road shortly before the bridge gave away, and a report was started that he and the team had gone down with the bridge. He had, however, crossed the bridge in safety a few minutes before the accident. There were two narrow escapes before the bridge was washed away.

After the water had risen two feet above the floor of the bridge, a farmer driving in a large produce wagon to market whipped up his horse, who hed through the water as well as he could. In ess than two minutes after he had crossed the bridge it began to totter.

Another farmer named Broeder was about to cross it from the north, when some of the persons who were near-by, seeing that the bridge was weakening, advised him not to do so, and thus a life as | since established at Reisterstown The Whig, which well as a team were saved. The Halls Spring car line terminates at this point, and for a short distance the tracks and cross-ties were washed up. Telegraph poles were washed out, but the linemen were soon put to work and repaired damages.

A large corn field belonging to Mr. Erdman was badly damaged by the overflow, as were also portions of the farms of Messrs. Hess, Worling and Hon. J. Morrison Harris. Mr. Worling had a large quantity of produce in boxes on the ground, preparatory to stocking his two-horse wagon for market. Before the produce ould be placed in the wagon, Herring Run took charge of the green goods, and they went merrily down the stream, boxes and all. The rain carried away his fences and bottom crops. It was as dark as night in midday. The water rose in a little run on Mr. Wolf's place 4 feet deep and 15 feet wide. People who had lived here for years never knew such destruction to oridges, crops and roads. Two bridges were leftone on the hill near Montebello and the other at Herring Run, on the Hillen hoad, and is very high and strong. All the bridges through Woodburn avenue from the York Road, Govanstown, to Hillen Road are gone.

Chris. Richards said he was the first man to wade across at Hamilton avenue bridge, and then he went over after his team. His wife would not remain in the wagon, and waded over like her hus band, and he told with pride that she did so when a mau on horseback was afraid to ride his horse over. Considerable damage was done to his place on Grindon avenue near Ivy Mill. He heard that the bridge on the Hillen Road, near Lake Montepello, at the entrance to the tunnel, had been car ried away. At Herring Run the track was badly washed and the infield looked like a lake. When the storm was at its height, when the lightning was flashing and the thunder rolling, and while everything was almost pitch dark, the stable boys were alarmed by noise which sounded like the roar of a torrent. Rushing out they found that Herring Run had risen to an enormous height and was carrying down huge waves which looked very black and ugly.—

Their first thought was of the horses in the back stables, many of which are very valuable. Breaking into the stables the boys unhitched the horses, but when they got them outside the doors they found the water three or four feet deep, and rushing down like a torrent. They plunged in, however, up to their waists, and by pulling and coaxing and some swimming managed to get all the horses from the freshet in safety. They led them water to the depth of a couple of feet, and all the feed they contained is ruined. It will cost fully $1,000 to repair the damage at the race track. lose about $4,000. When Mr. Quille Cunningham saw the storn coming he went out and harnessed his horse to the buggy and drove it up before his door. His house is this side of the iron bridge, and a few hundred yards from Herring Run. It is a large three story frame building, and when the water came down Herring Run it spread all over the field and lawn about the house. The water came very fast, and Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham only had time to run out of the house and get into the buggy. They drove over the fields to the B. & O. track, where they climbed up the embankment and escaped the water. The house was badly washed, the lower floor being flooded and mud being two feet deep. Mr. Cunningham's new buggy was standing in the yard near the house and the water carried it off down the fields and broke it to pieces. The bridge at Moore's Run was carried away. Loss of life and property are also reported from this vicinity. George Lingfelder, a farmer, and his wife, who lived just east of the run, are reported to have gone with the bridge. While some of the boys bewailed the separation from home and friends and loved ones, he improvised the following poem on the mournful situation in which he was placed, and several copies of the poem was made and sent faithfully preserved by an "old Reb" is herewith My love reposes on a rose wood frame-A bunk have I; A couch of feathery down fills up the same, Mine's straw, but dry ; She sinks to sleep at night with scarce a sigh-With waking eyes I watch the hours creep by. My love her daily dinner takes in state-And so do I (1) The richest viands flank her silver plate-Coarse grub have I; Pure wine she sips at ease, her thirst to slake-I pump my drink from Erle's limpid lake. My love has all the world at will to roam-Three acres I She goes abroad or quiet sits at home-So can I: Bright angels watch around her couch at night-A Yank with loaded gun keeps me in sight. A thousand weary miles now stretch between My love and I; To her, this wintry night, cold, calm, serene, I wast a sigh; And hope with all my earnestness of soul, To-morrow's mail may bring me my parole. There's hope ahead we'll one day meet again, My love and I; We'll wipe away all tears of sorrow then,

GEORGE MCKNIGHT. The Maryland Central Trestle Difficulty.-Mr. S. G. Boyd, now editor of the York (Pa.) Gazette, the first Superintendent and Manager of the Baltimore and Delta Railroad, (now the Maryland Central,) after noticing the troubles which grew out of the recent attempt to remove the treatle from the bed of the turnpike, thus very justly refers to the inside acts of the Maryland Central in the Gazette of the 13th inst.: "We would suppose a railroad company that can afford to repudiate many thousands of dollars of its just debts and then pay its two trustees and its attorney the sum of $20,000 for the performance of duties very perfunctory in character, could have managed to comply with its contract with a sister corporation that had treated it with great kindness No man knows more of the inside history of the Maryland Central than Mr. Boyd. The formal opening and early success of the road is due as much to him as to any other gentleman now con-nected with it. He traversed the entire line and worked like a beaver. No man labored more earnestly to secure some of the money, which, he says, are "just debts," than Mr. Boyd, and which, he says, the road has "repudiated." And no doubt he is partially responsible for the promises he was authorized to make. All its stock subscriptions have been utterly wiped out. The people who made these stock subscriptions were faithfully promised that if they would contribute it would be "a splendid inrestment," &c., &c. This has turned out to be literally true. They are a permanent investment, and thus are splendid! A Singular Cause of Fire.—On Wednesday, 17th inst., as a large truck loaded with cotton for some difficulty all were restored to consciousness. The barn, set on fire by the lightning burned rapidly. It was all the people could do to save the horses and cattle, which were taken out with difficulty.—

There were several tons of hay in the building, and this was destroyed, with a large lot of fodder, harness do. There was great consternaton among the peofinstant the load of cotton by the turning wheels and in an instant the load of cotton was on fire. Several personnel. sons on the street heard the match crack and saw t fly up on the load. A cry of fire was sounded and the driver jum ped from his seat to find his inflammable load in condition that threatened its entire destruction. A call for the fire department was turned in and soon several engines, a hook and ladder company and the salvage corps were on the scene. The firemen went energetically to work and the bales of blazing cotton were soon rolling off the wagon into the street where streams of water were thrown upon street where streams of water were thrown upon them. The flames were stubborn in their efforts to gain headway but the exertions of the firemen were finally successful in putting them out after a damage of $50 had been sustained.

The load of cotton was valued at $700. It can still be used for the purpose for which it was originally intended.

> The Dread of Night Air.—An extraordinary fallacy is the dread of night air. What air can we breathe at night but night air? The choice is between pure night air from without and foul air from within. Most people prefer the latter—an unaccountable choice. What will they say if it is proved to be true that fully one-half of all the disease we suffer from are occasioned by people sleeping with their windows ahut? An open window most nights in the year can never hurt any one.—In great cities night air is often the best and the purest to be had in twenty-four hours. One could better understand shutting the windows in town during the day than during the night for the sake of the sick. The absence of smoke, the quiet, all tend to make the night the best time for airing the patient. One of the highest medical antherities on concumption and climate has told me that the air of London is never so good as after 10 o'clock at of London is never so good as after 10 o'clock at night. Always air your room, then, from the out-side air if pomible.—Sanitary World.

As a soldier, he was perfectly brave, patient and cheerful under hardships and punctual in the discharge of all duties required of him. As an officer, he was, in addition, always cool and skillfull, and equal to every position in which he was placed: one who knew him doubted the resource of his character to meet any emergency. As a comrade, he was mindful and helpful of others, and all who served with or under him have remained his warm During the twenty-seven years or more since the members of this Association first learned to appreciate his character in the circumstances of those

Mr. Editor:—Agreeably to an order from Briga-Mrs. James Gittings and Miss Gittings having on oyed six weeks' stay at the Windsor Hotel, Atlantic dier-General Stewart Brown, founded on the military law, the Maryland militia assembled at Cam-den Station, Baltimore, on Wednesday morning Mrs. Alex. Brown and her sister, Miss Kate Mor preparatory to going into camp for ten days at Frederick Junction. The 1st Regiment, unlike the Bai-Mr. John S. Our regiment left Camden Station on a special Mrs. John I. Yellott, with some of her children, Mrs. Charles H. Nicolai and daughters are sum-

After a pleasant ride of about two hours through the western part of our little patriotic State we arrived at our camping The camp, which is called 'Camp Jackson, honor of the present Governos.) is most beautifully located where the bloody battle of the Monocacy was fought during the Rebellion. Few marks of this historic event remain to tell the story, but we are fortunate enough to have with us a few who had gone through this as well as many other like conquests, and who stirred up the younger recruits with vivid accounts of the same until some of us almost thought we were soldiers too. Upon arriving at camp we immediately proceedto make ourselves as much at home as possible, and all, except a few unfortunate ones who were detailed for guard duty, as is always the case when a camp is pitched, enjoyed a few hours rest before beginning work in earnest.
This is strictly a camp of instruction and the men are compelled to obey the discipline. COMPANY I.

Two Shots in the Street .- On Thursday, 18th inst., about 9 o'clock, people who were on the streets in Towson were startled by the hurried tramp of feet and two sharp shots from a heavy revolver the hands of Officer John A. Bosley. It appears that the officer had arrested James A. Wilson, colored, on a warrant charging him with beating under a commitment from Justice A. W. Perrie, the prisoner made a dash for liberty. The fugitive being too fleet for the officer he discharged his pistol in the air but the prisoner, nothing daunted, kept on, and by short turns through yards and over fonces succeeded in cluding arrest for the present. Officer Boaley promises to scour the country for the prisoner, and it will only be a question of time when he will have Wilson in the tolls again. It is sup-posed the penalty of 30 lashes for wife beating might add to the reasons why the prisoner desired to escape the clutches of the law.

Accident to a Little Child .- On the 12th inst Eugene, aged 2 years, son of Mr. Chas. Weakley, of Sweet Air, got out into the field where his father was driving a mower, and before he knew it, the little fellow was under the machine and had both of his heels badly cut. He is rapidly improving under the care of Dr. Richard Emory.

Opera at Bay Ridge.—Next week comic opera will be produced at Bay Ridge. A stage has been constructed at the music stand which is in front of the large restaurant. The music now at the Ridge is of a fine character. The opera will be free to all the guests, who may choose to hear it.

Hokey-Pokey!-On Thursday evening 18th about 6 o'clock the sacred precincts of Towson were invaded and the startling cry of "Hokey-Pokey ice cream 5 a cake!" reverberated on the Pokey ice cream 5 a cake!" reverberated on the ambient air. A "ward of the Nation" and his valet, arbite have a represent the raid before rockey. His Baltimore. a white boy, engineered the said hokey-pokey. His stentorian cry awakened all the little pickaninnie within reasonable bounds and they responded lustily. A New Move in Railroad Affairs.-The cent fight made by the M. C. R. R. against the re-moval of the treatle from the York Road, in Towson, has started a project among some property owners and capitalists to construct a branch rail-road to the Northern Central Railway. Estimates are to be made of the probable cost, and a conference will be had with the Northern Central as to the operation of the same, and a right-of-way be given. The parties in interest want a good railroad outlet so as to bring some fine and desirable land for building sites into market. The resident of Towson will be glad to hear of the succe is of the project, and will hail with delight any change from he present condition of affairs.

To Set Aside a Verdict.—In the case of Francls Stevens alias King, who was convicted of mur-der in the second degree on June 22, Mr. R. R. Boarman, one of the attorneys for the prisoner, has filed a motion to set aside the verdict of the court on the ground that it represented the views of a majority only of the court, and not of three judges before whom the case was tried. The point relied upon is, that as a verdict of a jury must be unanimous, so also should be the judgment of the Court, if more than one judge be upon the bench. $7.000.000 Gas.—On the 18th inst. a mortgage for $7,000,000 from the Consolidated Gas Company f Baltimore to the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company was left in the Clerk's Office, Towson, for record. Some of the gas mains are laid in Baltimore county, hence the necessity for record here. will put Catonsville in connection with Washington, D. C. The project is to bring the Gettysburg and Washington Railroad to Catonsville, then to connect with the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad.

RDER OF PUBLICATION. THE TRUSTEES OF THE CATONSVILLE STATION OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH OF BALTIMORE COUNTY, STATE OF

MARYLAND, Plaintiff, COLUMBUS I. SHIPLEY et al., Defendants. IN THE CIECUIT COURT FOR BALTIMORE COUNTY, The object of this suit is to secure a conveyance to the Trustees of the Catonsville Station of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Baltimore County, State of Maryland, the Plaintiff in this cause, of a certain lot of ground containing one acre of land situate in Catonsville, Baltimore County, State o Maryland, being part of a tract of land called "Frederick Stadt Enlarged," and a part of Lot 152 of the Baltimore Company's land, and to vest and perfect in said plaintiff the title in fee to said lot of ground. The Bill states:
1. That the plaintiff is a religious corporation, le gally incorporated in the year 1886.
2. That prior to the year 1886 certain persons re siding in and about said Catonsville, to maintain Divine Worship and establish a church, formed hemselves into a society called the Catonsville dethodist Episcopal Church. Methodis: Episcopal Church.

3. That the said Society appointed Richard Herbert. William Marr. Jacob Ruff, John Liddard and Columbus I. Shipley a building committee, and that said Committee with money contributed by said Society, purchased the said lot of ground from one Rebecca Somerville and by deed dated 29th April, 1955, and recorded smort the Land Becorded of Rel. 1858, and recorded among the Land Records of Bal-timore County aforesaid, in Liber H. M. F., No. 16, folio 478, &c., had the same conveyed to them, their heirs and assigns in fee.

4. That said Society erected on said ground of building, and that the same has ever since been used exclusively as a Church or house of worship. 5. That said Committee purchased said ground as aforesaid for the use of said society and took the title thereto with the understanding that they would hold the same in trust for said beciety unti Some Other Railroad Projects.—There is talk of a new line of railroad under consideration which will put Catonsville in connection with Washingany interest, ownership or estate in said groun other than in trust for said Society. 6. That all of said Committee are dead save Columbus I. Shipley, who ito carry out the trust re-posed in them, acting under the authority of an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland, did execute and cause to be recorded among the Land Racords aforesaid a deed dated 9th April, 1883, conveying said ground to Bennett Walker and others, as Trustees of said Catonsville Methodist Episcopal Church 7. That the persons composing the Catonsville Methodist Episcopal Church in the year 1886 formed themselves into the plaintiff corporation (becoming then legally incorporated) and sought to have the title to said ground conveyed to it, but the said Plaintiff is advised that neither the said Columbus I. That said Richard Herbert died intestate; that his wife is dead; that his only heirs at law are: Thomas H. Herbert, whose wife's name is Melissa. 8. Herbert; Benjamin C. Herbert (only son of Joseph Herbert, deceased, intestate, leaving a widow, Mary E. Herbert); Alexander J. Herbert, whose wife's name is Milcah S. Herbert and Mary J. Kalkman, a widow. 9. That the only heirs at law of said Jacob Ruff. who died intestate and without issue, are John G. Ruff, John Childs and Amy Childs (the last two being children of Mary Childs, deceased, sister of said being children of Mary Childs, deceased, sister of said Jacob Ruff, the surviving husband of said Mary being Matthias Childs), Florence Peddicord, Nellie Peddicord, Mary Peddicord (the five last named heirs being infants) and Elizabeth Platt, widow.

11. That the said John Liddard died intestate and his heirs are unknown; that all the Trustees

Ordered by the Circuit Court for Baltimore county this 15th day of July, 1889, that the sale made and reported by Frederick P. Ross, Trustee, are alive, save and excepting William Shareswood, who died intestate in 1886, leaving him surviving a widow, Mary Ann Shareswood, and four children his only helrs, viz: William Shareswood, whose wife is Estelle Shareswood; Emma Peake, wife of William Peake; Elizabeth Peake, wife of Willard Peake; and John Shareswood, whose wife is Emma shareswood. 12.
