Mankton Items .- The colored peoples camp meeting of the M. E. Church in charge of the Rev. John Brice, which has been going on for nearly three weeks in the grove belonging to Mr. Joseph W. Nelson near Hereford, came to a close on Monday morning last, and was quite successful finan-cially as well as spiritually. The attendance on last Sunday was enormous. Between two and three thousand people, mostly white, are claimed to have been on the ground. Good order was well maintained throughout the camp unvil the last Sabbath when a few unruly ones got on their bad behavior by the free use of whiskey and indulged in con-siderable cussing, swearing and fighting. These parties, we are told, will be promptly prosecuted. Some excellent sermons have been preached by colored ministers, and a good many conversions are claimed; the latter part will be gratifying if lasting. The following ministers took an active part in the services: Rev. J. W. Dansbury, P. E.; Rev. John Brice, P. C.; Revs. E. W. S. Peck, J. W. E. Bowing, (4. Griffith, Joshua Harris, and others, Mrs. Belle Wolte, editoress and proprietor of the Shippensburg (Ia.) Chronicle, paid a hasty visit to relatives at this place on last Sabbath. News received here from the Rev. J. Fred Helsse locates that gentleman at the Summit House, Mt. Washington, N. H., 6,293 feet high among the louds, making snowballs. "Yah!" The Rev. George C. Bacon preached at the Monkton M. E. Church on last Sunday night. He expects to preach again on next Sunday night, August 25th, and hopes a good congregation will be present, as he will introduce some business in relation to the new cemetery of this place. Our Post Office, which created quite a hub bub some four years ago, caused by the changing of Postmasters, is to change hands again. Mr. Phos. J. Miller has been appointed Postmaster. On a recent visit in the neighborhood of Wesley Chapel, 10th District, we were told that thieving and stealing, such as eggs, butter, milk, cream, poultry, corn, &c., are still carried on to a considerable extent in those parts, although some of the suspected ones have left, still there are others there yet who follow the business. A few nights ago a cornfield was robbed of quite an amount of corn. Some of the corn was lost out of the wagon, by which the vehicle could be traced almost to the door of the suspected party. The best way to get rid of such villainy is to form a vigilance committee of good, determined citizens that mean busi-

Curtis, column to the interest of Harrisonville. We think Edward S. Peerce, the community at large should be informed of the rapid advances and wonderful changes constantly taking place at Harrisonville. Lovely homes, surrounded by well-kept lawns, each endeavoring to outdo the other in their florticultural display, have taken the place of the little one-story affairs fornerly seen here; and just here we will say that Mr. Robert Harker's lawn is decidedly the prettiest on the pike—the lovely borders and beds of flowers with their contrasting colors so beautifully blended form a pleasing picture, with its background of closely-cropped grass. Now what makes Harrisonville the most wonderful place in the world is the fact that one can livewe don't mean just exist—without any money at all. It's sons and daughters are slaves to fashion and live in comparative ease, with all the luxuries of this world, and yet never require money. We have all the conveniences of the city from the blacksmith to the milliner, and our farms have all the modern improvements, and where our fathers, with their cow-hide boots, wearily followed the plow for days, the son now, in prunelle, jumps on a sulky behind a pair of three minute horses and with a few turns has the ground prepared for seed. Could our ancestors return they would scarcely recognize their own. Then it was a tent on wheels and two blind

We can see our hotels slowly coming with a capacity for hundreds, conducted on the plan of the Altamont of Baltimore, where the stranger will find a hearty welcome, and for a time case the tired brain and rest the vision on something beautifut. The poet did not find that ragged urchin, he rared so over, in Harrisonville. No our children are well kept and ruddy, our youths and maidens wonderfully reared, and maturer age respected and well cared for calmly sitting down in the sunset of life watching the rapid strides to (reader, you may smile here if you wish—it is an improvement on the frown and never disfigures the face.) an incorporated town, and the community at last will be relieved of that long, tedious drive to Baltimore, and can come to Harrisonville for their Sunday fixings. We will speak a word for our churches. Ward's Chapel still continues the leading church, and it is pleasing and gratifying to her pastor and members o know her younger and frailer sisters have profited by the example she has for years placed before We are so well satisfied with our locality that a visit from Harrisonville only causes speedy return, and we cannot complain of anything except the constant move of the post office, and we must say it is rather perplexing and exciting to drive to the office, and when one asks for the mail to be met with the reply, "The office was moved to-day."-Although it is used in a measure as a ball, we hope now, on the rebound, it will be a more central loca-

There is a good promise from every portion of the country of large and meritorious displays and the prospects are good for one of the best shows ever held in the county. Even greater than customary zeal is shown by the ladies, and the Household Department may be expected to develop multiplied and never attended. Though some crops tiplied and novel attractions. Though some crops have been injured by the wet season, others are abundant and good in quality, and many perfect and beautiful specimens of fruits, vegetables and flowering plants will be on exhibition.

As a local fair like ours reflects the resources and growth and prosperity of a people, it becomes all to do their best to prepare and exhibit something which will increase the array of fine and excellent articles. We believe our people are alive to their duty in this regard, but some are modest about it. The indisposition to compete for fear of ought not to deter anyone from showing. The events of the track promise to have great animation, as a large number of horses are now in the vicinity which will lead to real earnest efforts. This portion of the program is no doubt one of the drawing features and one which all enjoy. It is rumored that the Track Committee are considering a novelty which may be offered for the entertainment of the crowds which will be very

Lawrence, deceased, who resided in Baltimore county and are the persons named in said deceased's will, and that the said Mamie C. Lieben and Anthony L. Tieben are grand-children of said deceased, and the infant and only children of the said Susan T. Lieben; that the said Daniel H. Lawrence departed this life in 1879, having made and executed a last will and testament executed in form sufficient to pass real estate, by which he disposed of his estate; that said will have been duly admitted to probate and is now of record in the office of the Register of Wills of Baltimore County in Liber J.
