THE CAMPAIGN OPEN.

from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

The action of the Democratic Convention at Bel Air on Monday, 23d inst., in the nomination of Mr. N. Charles Burke as a candidate for Associate Judge of the Third Judicial Circuit, completes the Democratic nominations and formally opens the campaign in Baltimore county, as far, at least, as the Democratic party is concerned.

There is not a true Democrat in the county who cannot and does not feel a large degree of conscious pride in the ticket which has been nominated for Judges as well as for county officers and members of the Legislature. During the week we have had opportunity to learn from every District in the county in reference to the ticket, and all speak in the warmest praise of the action of all the conventions. There is, therefore, no cause for any Domocrat to feel displeased and desert his party to vote for any but the regular Democratic nominecs. Everything was conducted at the primary meetings in an orderly and proper manner and we hear of no complaints. The Conventions were composed of representative Democrats, and nominated such gentlemen as seemed best, in their judgment. It was perfectly natural for those who failed to be nominated to feel temporary chagrin, but this is the fate of all candidates who are unsuccessful. It is impossible for all to succeed. Immediately after the nomination there was some dissutisfaction from the 12th District. The friends of Mr. George W. Morgan, our genial Treasurer, thought he should have been re-nominated. He submitted his claims to the Convention the same as Mr. George W. Yellott, Mr. J. Albert Mayes and Mr. Thos. R. Jenifer. It was a fair contest. The action of the Convention resulted in Mr. George W. Yellott's favor, the same as the action of the Convention of two years since resulted in favor of Mr. Morgan. At that time there was dissatisfaction from the 11th District, but after considering the matter the Democracy of that District wheeled into line and Mr. Morgan carried the District by a majority of 137 over Mr. Groff, his Republican apponent. It is thus Mr. Morgan's duty, as the good Democrat that he is, to see majority of 200 to 250 for Mr. Yellott, at the polls on the 5th of November next.

A meeting of 12th District Democrats was held on Thursday night, at Canton, at which vised his friends to support the regular Democratic ticket. This ends all opposition to the life-long and esteemed friend, Mr. William S Keech, for Chief Judge. We have known Mr. Keech intimately and well for a period of over 30 years. He is a lawyer of distinguished ability, and is one of the most intelligent and honored citizens of Baltimore county. It was perfectly proper for him to aspire to the high office of Chief Judge. He had the opportunity to present his name and claims before his Democratic fellow citizens at the primaries, the same as any other Democrat. He chose not to do so. His course left no person as a candidate save Judge Fowler. When the Convention assembled it could do nothing else than nominate Judge Fowler. We know Mr. Keech so well as to believe he does not regret the course he has nursued. He has, therefore, no claims upon Democrats of both counties has been entirely ventions of which Mr. Keech can complain. His candidacy is one of his own choosing, and he must look elsewhere than to the Democratic voters for votes.

In a visit to Bel Air on Monday we had an opportunity to converse with well-informed Democrats of Harford. All give it as their opinion that Harford will give a majority of from 500 to 600 for the entire Democratic ticket, including the Chief and Associate Judges. The Democracy of Harford will go to the polls in solid phalanx in favor of the whole ticket from top to bottom.

Let the Democrats of Baltimore county do the same. There is absolutely no cause for dissatisfaction, and we do not believe there will be any when the day of election rolls around. In political contests general results are to be looked at, and personal considerations laid to one side-unless the considerations should involve either the integrity or ability of the can-ticket. Mr. Chas. J. Beckley, the Democratic candidate for Sheriff, was present and made a good many friends by his genial manner. The 12th District, therefore, will wheel into line again for the Democratic ticket. GOOD WORDS FOR A NOMINEE.

The nomination of Mr. Laurence B. Mc-Cabe for House of Delegates, from Baltimore county, is a well deserved compliment to a former Harford countian, and will be learned with pleasure by a host of friends here and alsowhere. The intelligence, energy, business tact and integrity so prominently displayed by Mr. McCabe in his private life cannot fall to be effective when directed to public affairs, and to be influential in the councils of the State. Baltimore county will have no better representative in the next Legislature.

THIRD JUDICIAL CIRCUIT. Hon. N. Charles Burke Nominated for Associate Judge.

The delegates elected by the recent Harford and Baltimore county Democratic Conventions to form a Judicial Convention to nominate a candidate for Associate Judge of the Third Judicial Circuit, met at the Court House, Bel Air, on Monday 23d inst. at 12 o'clock M. The Hon. Henry D. Farnandis, Chairmau of the Democratic Executive Committee of Harford county, called the Convention to order.

T. Wilson, of Harford, was called to the chair for the purpose of a temporary organization and E. H. Webster of John, Secretary. On motion of Mr. Lewis M. Gontrum, of Baltimore county, arose and said--Mr. Chairman :- It is my most grateful privilege to place in nomination a gentleman for whom a ong association and intimate acquaintance has in spired me with the highest regard.

The position for which we have been assembled to nominate a candidate is one that deeply interests and affects the welfare of the people. No one should hold it who is not close to the people, and who does not possess their confidence and esteem, and who does not likewise possess the confidence and respect of those who stand between the Bench and the people-the members of the bar. The position not only requires a man who has a clear mind and is fully posted in the law of the land, but it requires also a man who has a warm and gener ous heart, and knows how to temper justice with mercy. I name as candidate of the Democratic party of this Judicial Circuit for Associate Judge, Mr. N. Charles Burke. The gentleman I name pos-Charles Burke. The gentleman I name possesses all these qualities enumerated in an eminen degree, and if elected will give the same satisfaction you have been accustomed to have with the members of the Bench in Harford and Baltimore counties. With the Bar in Towsontown he has always been acceptable. If nominated and elected he will make a Judge who will preside over the interests and destinies of the people carefully and in a proper spirit. He will do his whole duty with lignity and impartiality, and after his election—fo he will be elected—be will be a Judge whose integ ity and ability will be unquestioned and whose honor will be unimpeached and unimpeachable.

Mr. E. H. Webster, of Harford, seconded the There being no other candidate Mr. Burke was declared the unanimous choice of the Convention for Associate Judge. On motion a committee of three, consisting of the Chairman, Mr. John T. Wilson, the Secretary, Mr. E. H. Webster of John, and Wm. H. Ruby, were appointed to notify Mr. Burke in writing of his nomination.

The Committee addressed Mr. Burke the following letter:

Bel. Air, September 23d, 1889. To the Hon. N. Chas. Burke, Towson, Md.: Dear Sir:-The undersigned, a committee appointed by a Convention representing the Demo-erats of the Third Judicial Circuit of Maryland which met in Bel Air, Md., on the 23d day of September, 1889, respectfully beg leave to inform you that you have been unanimously chosen as the candidate of the Democratic party for Associate Judge action of the Convention we take this opportunity of congratulating the Democrats of this Judicial Circuit upon the choice they have made and of asof Baltimore and Harford counties.

Very Respectfully. EDWIN H. WEBSTER of J.

REPLY. Judge Burke made the following reply: Towson, September 24th, 1889.

Messes, John T. Witson, Edwin H. Webster of J., Wm H. Rubu. Committee Gentlemen:-I am in receipt of your communica tion informing me of my unanimous nomination for the office of Associate Judge of the Third Judicial Circuit of Maryland, made by the Judicial Con ention of the Democratic party at Bel Air on the 23d inst. In addressing you my formal acceptance of the nomination I desire to express my very sincere thanks for the kind and courteous manner in information of the action of the Convention, and also to renew my expressions of profound gratitude and deep sense of obligation to the Convention and to the Democratic party for the honor conferred pon me. ## THE FUSION TICKET.

We desire also to refer to the candidacy of our "Will you walk into my parlor, said the spider to the fly?" That is what the Baltimore county Republican spider said to the Baltimore County Independent fly, on Thursday at the Republican Convention. The accommodating fly walked in and has been completely wound up legs and head, with the web of the wily spider, which can use it gastronomically at leisure. Of the ticket numinated the candidate for Sheriff, Mr. Corse, is a good square Republican. John Bond and George Bartholow, for Commissioner, are Republicans. For House of Delegates, Henry S. Jean, Geo. M. Fultz and James G. Kane, are Republicans, with Wm. Wheeler of B. and Samuel C. Heird, for several years acting with independent and fusion movements and J. BALTIMORE, September 27th, 1889. Said a person down in Washington, the other "I have about come to the conclusion that the only normal governments among men A Committee on Credentials and Permanent are tyranny and anarchy. And the so-called free governments, or constitutional governments, which we laud so lavishly, are only the states of transition from one of these forms or conditions to the other." It was a rather iconoclastic remark, and was diametrically opposed to the whole spirit of our glorious Fourth of July institutions; yet it was not without some justification in the history of the world, and the conduct of human affairs. For how much has there ever been in the history of men that has not come under the one Walter R. Townsend being the member from Baltimore county. The Committee reported or the other of these heads? And how sudden, mostly, has been the transition from the lawlessness of the savage, to the most tyrannical forms of government! Indeed, one is almost tempted to go farther than the Washingtonian diplomat, and assert that it is tyranny alone, of one kind or another, that dominates among the sons of men. For until modern times, most human governments have been empires and kingdoms whose rulers exercised unlimited sway, while the nominal republics of antiquity indulged in tyrannical powers; and even the barbarian was held in check by any heroic spirit among his fellows, who had sufficient prowess to exercise a natural dominion. The law requires them to stay here, whether they like it or not; no matter how great their sufferings may be; or regardless of their lack of means for supporting life, they are required to remain and submit to it. Just where the freedom and liberty business comes in, with regard to such cases, it is rather difficult to see. In fact, it would not be easy to imagine any tyranny much more tyrannical than this, in spite of all our boasting. And statistics show that the free and independent soul of humanity does not propose to submit to any such trammels as these, for the suiciders are suiciding every year in a greatly increasing | done that is out of the routine, and it is imratio. Just as insanity is becoming more preva- possible to get anybody in the office from the lent, too, though the penalty for that is imprisonment for life, or during bad behavior. Thus proving how natural to man is the propensity to assert his own unconquerable spirit, and his determination to do as he pleases no matter at what cost he may be obliged to purchase the Another instance of the tyraunical spirit which lurks in the laws of our liberty may be found in the results of a recent case of death by faith cure, which occurred in the city of Brooklyn. A young woman, named Ölsen, was stricken with typhoid fever; and after suffering with that disease for a couple of months, according to the rules of the faith cure, her faith naturally weakened with her failing strength, and she desired the physical remedies for her case, by Nature made and provided. So physician was summoned, but his prescriptions were not administered, and the girl died a death of a martyr to that particular style of religious faith. And then the Doctor refused to give a death certificate, and the Coroner was notified, and the Olsen man was arrested, and locked up to answer to the charge of criminal delinquency, and presumably, to give a reason for the faith that is in him. Now will anybody tell us what sort of a free country it is that will institute such proceedngs? Or what sort of religious liberty it is that persecutes people for their faith, in this manner? What is it but tyranny to interfere with the religious convictions of the community, and require people to die by means of mediagents, rather than by the methods provided by their faith? Is it not enough for the laws o regulate peoples lives, that they must even dictate as to arrangements in the "hour and article of death?" And how long is it to be supposed that people will submit to such oppression? Perhaps this Olsen case will bring things to a crisis, however, for as he buried a child. too, last summer, in this same faith, he will probably be obliged to take a double dose of our tyrannical legal physic. It would, of course, be pleasant to take a cheerful view of the question of rulers and the ruled, especially in the face of the rapidly ap proaching elections, during which the free and ndependent theories must be aired and ventilated, preparatory to being packed away again in camphor until they are needed for another occasion. But it is useless for us to hope that we can escape from the tyranny of power, be cause even anarchy itself is tyraunical, if in deed, it is not the worst tyranny of all. For look how the leaders of the socialists, and the nihilists tyrannize over their adherents, not suffering them to call even their lives their own. And see how cruelly the leaders of the labor people dominate the masses, over whom they rule with rods of very rough wrought iron. How they turn adrift thousands of men, women, and children, into the mischief of idleness, and forbid them to work for good wages, and demoralize whole communities, at the dictate of their tyrannical wills. Yes; tyrannies are rife in the world; and if angels are endowed with lachrymatory organs there must be weeping in heaven over the fate of men. But when we come to think of it, it seems that some of the heavenly bodies are not very favorably disposed towards mankind, either. For we are informed that it has been Saturn and Mars who have gotten up our bad weather, and are responsible, besides, for the calamities by fire, and flood, and storm, and elemental strife of all descriptions with which the earth has recently been afflicted. Why the conjunction of these two planets should have such an effect upon us, has not yet been explained, and seems quite unintelligible. If these two celestial worthies arrange for a meeting, whether political, religious, social, or of any her hold upon the respect and affections of the other sort, would not appear to be any business whatever of ours.

If even they fought a duel, and were both annihilated in the encounter, there is no evi- for they love her. dent reason why we should bother ourselves shiver, and lash herself with winds and waves, and become so excited just because these two old travelers pass each other on the road, and bow, and shake hands, or lift their hats to each other, is utterly inexplicable. Yet we are assured that such is the result of their proximity; and that we may look out for earthquakes and general magnetic disturbances until these two planets dition. The Carolina lost cattle pens and 195 have moved a considerable distance apart. If | head of cattle on the voyage. these are celestial facts, and not mere astrological fictions, there must be some wonderful story behind such phenomens. Cannot some body read it for us: or shall we never know it? We may laugh the question off, if we shoose; but ridicule never either proves or exnlains away, anything. The tidal wave that swept the Atlantic coast above us, some time since, has probably done us one good turn, however. For in damaging the northern oyster beds to the extent of millions of dollars, and creating an oyster famine in New York, it will increase the demand for our Chesapeake oyster crops; and so brightens up the prospects of the thousands of people who depend for their maintenance upon the prosperity of our oyster industry. The storms have prevented our own supplies of this luxury from coming in very freely; but we have a good store of them, it seems, if they are stuck in the mud: and they will be forthcoming with the advent of cold weather, no doubt; which will soon come, and come suddenly, if the performances of the past week or two are to serve as The bunting has mostly disappeared from our streets, and things are resuming their normal appearance; but our city looks bright in the gay sunshine streaming over it, after the untimely washing it received during our festive week. The stores display their fall goods, and as our people have come home from their summering, the shoppers are out in full force, and brighten our thoroughfares with the fall styles of dress, which are more simple and tasteful than usual. In fact, feminine attire may almost be said to be making an approach to common sense principles, this season. As a matter of course, political questions are now the absorbing interests of the hour; as they will continue to be until after the elections are over. It is hardly safe to make predictions at this date: but those who live a few weeks longer will probably find out all about the results of this protracted commotion. One of our city papers has said a timely thing regarding the often heard charge that the people are cheated at the polls, and overruled by fraud. It declares that: "any American with a partiole of manhood in him should blush to admit such a fact, if it were true. If the majority of a people, or a party, have so little intelligence as to be the dull victims of a fraud, without being able to penetrate or correct it, they are incapable of governing the country, and should be disfranchised as incompetents and imbeclies by law; if they are indifferent and busy, and give no attention to their votes, they lack the patriotism which should qualify them for citisenship; if, however, they know that they are being cheated and submit to it, when rope is so expressed himself gratified for the honors he cheap and lamp-posts so handy, they unworthy has received from the Democratic party. This the name of men, much less of Americans." is the true spirit to manifest and will give a Which is very sound and unanswerable log Which is very sound and unanswerable logic; metaphonical texture, of course. CERLYS.

[Correspondence of the Maryland Journal.] WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, September 23d, 1889. Senator Vorhees, who, by the way has been quite sick, but is now much better, was asked what he thought of the administration as far as it had gone and of the political situation. "The administration," said the Senator suits me, as I guess it does most Democrats, s great deal better than it does the Republicans. resident Harrison has only to keep on as he in 1892 an absolute certainty. The only thing I fear is that some of the long-headed Republi cans in Congress will open President Harrison's eyes to the danger ahead of him." Public Printer Palmer has appointed his sor to a clerkship in the Government Printing Office, and several Republicans who were applicante for the position are busy writing essays on nepotism which they will probably threaten to publish if they are not provided for. Mr. Palmer is not at all alarmed as he has only followed the example set by those above him of-

The French Government has apologized for the arrest and discourteous treatment of two New York ladies by the public authorities of Mentone, France, several months ago, and the officers who made the arrest have been reprimanded. These facts were sent by the State Department to the ladies that were arrested and they say they are satisfied.

This is likely to go down to posterity as the administration-afraid-of-its mouth. Mr. Lew Barnard, a well known Cincinnati Democrat, has been giving his friends here a glowing description of the Democratic pros pects for carrying Ohio. He says: "It will be mainder of the State gives the same Demo The Three America's Congress will meet in house for its use. Of course everybody knows that the United State leads the world in inventions, but few have any idea of the enormous number of patents issued by the government. The annual report of the Commissioner of Patents just completed, shows that the number of applications for patents received during the year ending June 30th, was 36,740, and that 21,518 were granted.

Things at the Pension Office are in a decided ly mixed up condition, and there is much complaint from the attorneys doing, or rather trying to do business with it. Nothing is being acting Commissioner down to humblest messen ger to say a single word relating in the remotest manner to the business of the office.-This state of affairs is likely to continue until the new Commissioner comes in and President Harrison determines just how far the methods of ex-Commissioner Tanner shall be reversed. The army of Pension attorneys are all on the anxious bench.

The Post Office Department invites improved designs from artists and others for postal cards. Drawings must be submitted to the Third Assistant Postmaster General on or before noon of November 6th.

General D. H. Hill, aged 68 years, one of the most noted of the Confederate officers during the late war between the States died on Wednesday 25th inst. at his home at Charlotte, N. C. The deceased was born in South Carolina in 1821, graduated from West Point, and was appointed second lieutenant of artillery July 1, 1842. Serving with distinction in the war with Mexico, he won successively the brevets of Captain and Major for gallantry. In 1849 he resigned his commission and was afterward professor at Washington College, Virginia, Davidson College, North Carolina, and superintendent of the North Carolina Military Institute. He entered the Confederacy as Colonel of the First North Carolina Volunteers in 1861 and was speedily promoted to be Major-General. He served on the Peninsula, the James, South Mountain and Antictam, Fredericksburg, Chicamauga and Bermuda Hundred. After the war he returned to Charlotte and edited the Field and Farm, and subsequently was president of the Texas Agricultural College. He resigned from that position about a year ago. He married a Miss Morrison, a sister of

DEATH OF JESSE K. HINES. Jesse K. Hines, whose illness was noticed in last week's JOURNAL, died at his residence in Baltimore on the 21st inst. His body was taken to Chestertown, Kent county, and interred in the family lot. Mr. Hines was most genial and kind hearted, and was a man of sagacity in the political affairs of the Demoratic party. He was a warm personal friend of Senator Gorman, and was as prominent as any Democrat in the State in the selection of Mr.

the wife of General Stonewall Jackson.

Gorman for the distinguished position he now The Paris election on Sunday 22d practically settled Gen. Boulanger, though it is difficult to keep down so everyessing a Frenchman as he. However, he cannot make his appearance in Paris, as the government would soon provide a "special apartment" for him or banish him from the country. No doubt the French government is content that he should remain in England. His operations from there
