NO LECTURES HERE.

We have no lecture whatever to deliver to the members elect from Baltimere county to the House of Delegates, as to what they should, or should not do, when assembled at Annapolis. When the Democratic County Convention made the nominations it did so with perfect confidence in them and exacted no pledges, but commissioned them with the broad seal of Democracy, which covers every interest of the people. Whatever pledges they themselves may have made to the people during the canvas, we believe they will be faithful to, and do all in their power to pass such laws, or remedy existing ones, as shall lighten the burdens of the people, so that peace and happiness may prevail, and prosperity continue to bless the people of our dear old State. Therefore we have no innuendoes to hurl at "bosses," (men in buckram) a la Baltimore Sun; to take them by the throat as though they were about to commit some heinous outrage. The Sun is not justified in its course of prejudgment, and threats as to the direcalamities which its innuendoes would lead the pub- but still they were able to win by a good majority. lic to believe will be their fate should they fail to measure up to the standard it sets up.— had a better or a stronger one and for this reason those who oppose it had an up-hill job from the We give the Sun credit for its good words, but those start. condemn its innuendoes and threats. It has neither right or justification for its course, and this is the verdict of thousands who have perused its editorial comments the past week.

----ON THE ANXIOUS BENCH.

Now that the election is over the struggle for the various offices to be disposed of from the first Tuesday in December, when nearly all the which led to the utter route of the fusion ticket, newly-elected officers will assume their duties, has commenced in earnest. As soon as the commissions arrive from Annapolis the newlyelected government will take definite shape. ' Chief Judge Fowler and Associate Judge saw no difference in the mode of nominating this Burke will have the first duty to perform in ticket from that pursued in all other Democratic the appointment of a State's Attorney, to fill the unexpired term of, now, Judge Burke, (2 years and 1 month.) They will also name a Court Crier and three Bailiffs. There are quite a number of applicants for these positions. Sheriff-elect Beckley comes next in importance, as his commission will be the first to arrive in order that he may summon the juries for the December Term of Court. He will have the appointment of a Clerk, a Deputy, as well as one Deputy in each District for the ser-

most important, as they will change more than half the county government. They have a Chief Clerk and Auditor, two Assistant Clerks, a Superintendent of the Court House, a Bailiff and Watchman, Constables, a Superintendent of the Alms House, Limplighters, Firemen, Physicians at Alms House and Jail, Special Officers, Sanitary Officers, Station House Keepers, Assessors of New and Missed Property, Counsel to the Board-in all, quite an array of offices to be filled. For a month or more the new Board will be very busy in saying who will administer the several offices. They will not succeed in pleasing all, but, no doubt, they will do what they think to be the best, and that | them. will be right. We sincerely sympathize with them in the tribulation they will be compolled to undergo. Before they are through they will no doubt decide that the old saw, "uneasy the head that wears a crown," is pretty nearly correct. The only advice we would dare offer is, "If 'twere well to be done, 'twere well 'twere done quickly," and thereby produce much happiness-ah! we forgot, misery!

The next in importance is Mr. Geo. W. Yel, lott, our Treasurer and Collector of Taxeselect. It is the prettiest and most independent office under the county government. All he has to do is to put on his most pleasant smile (and it is known he is happy in that respect) so as to induce the people to "step up to the Captain's office and settle." He has two Clerks to appoint, and they have got to be as happy in | with the way in which things had been manipuladisposition as their chief; for, if there is one single individual, either largely abstained from thing a tax-payer loves to do, it is to sass the voting, or east their ballots for the Democratic nomitax collector. He knows, however, the Treasurer and Collector cannot help it and don't party if it ever expects to accomplish anything in make the tax levy, but it makes no difference, he's got to do it, and when he's gone and done it he goes home a happy mortal and says, ing a ring and being controlled by bosses when our "Well, now, after all, it is a real pleasure to pay one's taxes; but, didn't I sass those fellows | signing as the very worst of his class." just as they deserved, and, Jerusalem! how bad As They Appeared the Day After Election they must have felt !"

The happiest man of the lot is Surveyor Mc-Clean, who hasn't anybody to appoint. He can set his compass as independently as a woodsawyer, and look clean into the middle of next

Those poor fellows who have been sentenced to the Legislature-their time will come next January, and when everybody will be happy they will be going through the fiery ordeal and will say they wish they hadn't done it. But, there is a bright side to all of it, upon which of popularity and strength, he need but look they will no doubt look.

PRESIDENCY OF THE SENATE.

Among the names mentioned as President of the next Senate of Maryland, is the young Senator from Baltimore county, Hon. James J. Lindsay. Our Senator has a very excellent knowledge of parliamentary law, and having sorved a session is perfectly familiar with the routine of business. He has made Baltimore county a faithful and pains-taking representative, is dignified and courteous and would pre-

. Other names mentioned for this dignified position are Mr. John P. Poe, of Baltimore city, and Senater Robert F. Brattan, of Somerset. MR, FRANK PARLETT'S TOTAL VOTE

In publishing our table of election returns for Baltimore county last week the JOURNAL accidentally gave Mr. Frank Parlett, of the 2d District, member-elect to the House of Delegates, 100 less votes than he is entitled to .-The figures in the several Precincts and Districts were correct, but in summing up his total vote it should have been 6503 instead of 6403, as published.

THE NAVASSA MURDERERS .-- The Grand Jury of the United States Court now in session in Baltimore, has found five separate indictments against the 18 colored men recently brought here for murder committed upon the guano Islands, Navassa, about two months ago. Judges Bond and Morris decided that the cases should be separated. Archibald Stirling, Jr. organized. is counsel for the defendants, and District Attorney Hayes for the United States.

E. L. Jackson and Capt. Gus Moore whilst firing a salute at Cambridge, Md, on the 12th inst. in honor of the late Democratic victory were so badly injured that both have died from the premature discharge of a cannon. Mr. Jackson had both arms nearly torn off. The festivities of an immense assemblage of the people was turned into sorrow for the sad event, and greatly checked the hilarity.

Our Republican friend Nock, of the Bel Air Times of the 8th iust., says of the "Independent movement" smashed last week: "For some cause, best known to those concerned the 'Independent movement,' so called, failed to materialize, and in the closing days of the campaign there was a wild scramble of 'kickers' to get within the party lines, each apparently fearing that the others would get there first. Many of those who had done the loudest talking voted the straight emocratic ticket open on election day." Mr. Gustave Bissing, of Baltimore, has been promoted to Principal Examiner in the Patent Office at Washington, D. C., at a salary Fred. C. Talbott for Vol. 25, Part 1 "Official Rec- for one year. No better New Year's gift could of $2,400.

We expected our neighbor of the Union to tumble a little after the election on Tuesday last; we felt in our bones it would be so. But, we did not expect such ground and lofty tumbling as took place in his issue of last Saturday 9th. We make copious extracts to show the few extracts as to the cheerful confidence of our neighbor in his paper of the 2d as follows: REFORE. "The 'Sandy Bottom Party' appears to be in a po-sition in this race to throw the 'sand' into the eyes of the other fellows. It has passed the three-quar-ter pole, showing well in front, and it will pass under the wire next Tuesday about ten lengths ahead. Look out for the finish." "Some of the 'regulars' are boasting of what Harford county will do next Tuesday on the judiciary question. They claim from four to six hundred majority, but when the ballots are counted a very | a list of Senate and House: different story will be told. There is nothing the matter with Harford. Our advices from there are of the most encouraging character." "It is believed by those best informed that Messrs.

Keech and Emory will carry this county next Tuesday by from twelve to fifteen hundred majority.— The camp fires are now burning brightly all along the line and victory appears to be in the air. Let every man stand up to his work and you need have no fear about the result."

"It is very plain that a large number of Baltimore county Republicans remained away from the polls there did not vote the Citizens' ticket. It would seem that they have become surfeited with 'fusion' and want only 'straight goods.' ' "If all the lies that were told in the late campaign in Baltimore county could be grouped to-gether and bound they would make a unique and nteresting volume larger than 'Webster's Una-

Who desecminated the lies? "The election passed off very quietly in Baltimore The day was fine, there was a very large tote polled and, so far as is known, everything was conducted fairly. This election has again demonstrated the fact that the Democrats are largely in majority in this county. Through disaffections of various kinds they lost several hundred votes,

Oh! my! what estimable gentlemen all these

It can be truthfully said of the county ticket elected on Tuesday that the party has not in many years successful Democrats are now! And then listen to this long castigatory wail: "The result of Tuesday's election in Baltimore county can scarcely be regarded as a surprise to anybody who was at all familiar with events preeding the contest. There were a great many en thusiasts who were calculating on a good majority for the entire Citizens' ticket, but as will be seen by the returns their estimates were all wrong. is useless, of course, to speculate as to the causes ut it may be well to recur to the things which brought about that result. Those Democrats who opposed the regular ticket declared that it was a ooss ticket,' put up by the bosses solely in their interest and without any reference to the wishes of the Democratic masses. As to the truth or falsity of this charge we have nothing to say except that we

But if the Democratic convention was bossed what must be said of the other convention selected the Republican portion of the fusion ticket? Never in the history of Baltimore county politics was a convention so thoroughly bossed and manipulated as was that organization. One man worked the wires and made the delegates dance to his music like so many puppets and the Republi cans of Baltimore county-as a party-had no more to do with making the ticket or agreeing to a fusion with the dissatisfied Democrats than had the regular Democratic organization itself. In addition to this the ticket itself was a weak one. We speat more particularly of the Republican portion of it. We will take, for example, Mr. George Bartholow, one of the nominees for County Commissioner. After his nomination we made vice of Court processes, and a Warden of the considerable effort to learn something about him having never heard his name before. pose we saw some of the oldest and most prominent The County Commissioners, however, are the Republicans in the 12th District, not one of whom knew him or had ever heard of him. Of course this is no discredit to Mr. Bartholow, who is no doubt a very good man in his way, but it was not office of so much importance. So far as the legislative portion of the ticket was oncerned it was one of the weakest placed before the voters of this county in some years. Not that the candidates were not good and honest men, but they were almost entirely unknown to the peop generally and but one among their number could go upon the stump and talk to the voters upon the ssues involved in the campaign. If the time was ripe for a concerted movement against the regular nocracy of this county it should have been con-

> put up by a packed convention, run solely in the aterest of a single individual, who has grown so utterly obnoxious to the great mass of the Republicans of this county that they will not be driven to vote for anything he may see fit to put before And again as to the judiciary convention and what came of it. It was simply a repetition of the county convention and was made to do the bidding of the boss, who wanted to make capital for him self through it, even if the candidate for Associate Judge had to be sacrificed to accomplish his end. The Republicans of the county were earnestly in favor of the nomination of Mr. Emory and if the delegates to the county convention had been permitted to express their preferences, four-fifths of them would, as we have said before, have cast their votes for delegates to the Bel Air convention who ronted with a ticket that was equally as good, if not better, than its own, instead of one that had been favored him for that place on the ticket. But they were not permitted to do it and Mr. Emory had to go before the people in the position of a makeshilt, after another man had, as he thought, got all the is it any wonder, under such circumstances as these, that the ticket met such an overwhelming defeat? Is it any wonder that the fair-minded peo ple of the county would not tolerate such a state of affairs? It is a positive disgrace to the intelligence of Republicans and they will not tamely submit any longer. Those Democrats who were in the fusion move ment stuck to the ticket honestly and made a brave fight but in our opinion the Republicans, disgusted ted and controlled for the personal interests of a Better methods must prevail in the Republican Batimore county. This thing of packed conventions, brought together to do the bidding of one man, the people will not longer submit to. Itis simply absurd for us to charge the Democracy with maintainown organization is dominated by one man who, as a political boss, is as cold-blooded, selfish and de-

ELECTED. DEFEATED. GOOD FOR FREDERICK COUNTY.

If the Democrats throughout the Stat at the glorious result of the recent election in good old Frederick county. The gallant Vic setts yet, General?" went into the fight to win his old county, and he has largely succeeded. The Democrats elected two of the three County Commissioners, Legislature, whilst what Republicans were elected were successful merely by the skin of their teeth; even Wellington for Comptroller carried the county by the meagre majority of but 68. Heretofore Frederick has been regard ed as the citadel of Republicanism, but since Col. Baughman went to work, some years since to redeem the old county, gradually has the former majority of 600 dwindled away to almost nothing. Occasionally Col. Baughman in his campaigns is able to elect a Democrat, and now he seems to have the majority down to a pretty low level, so that another strong pull will very likely add old Frederick to the Democratic column. This desirable condition of affairs is brought about by the energy and perseverance of Col. Baughman, who is a tower of strength in that county. He is a rising young man of the State, brave and bold in his fight for Democratic principles as the very best for the interests of the whole people. Colonel Baughman never appeals to passion or ignoble methods, and that is the secret of his strength and his success. Let him take his seat amon g

The result in Virginia is indeed a stinging rebuke to President Harrison and his administration. Among others both surprised and dismayed at the turn of affairs must be Senator Hiscock, of New York, who was confident and jubilant over the Dakotas that he declared New York might be disposed of in future as a pivotal State. I wonder if he would say the same to-night. And after all, he may have been right, only in altogether a different sense from what he intended. I doubt if in the next Presidential contest there will be any pivotal State. The groundswell of Democracy is rising and extending north and west gently and slowly but surely and, if I mistake not, will take in Michigan, Wisconsin, and, who knows, may not pass Illinois. There are glorious possibilities for the future of Democracy if it be true to itself."

THE CATHOLIC CENTENNIAL.

The one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Catholic hierarchy in the United States was celebrated in Baltimore the past week with all the splendor, magnificence and grandeur of the Church service, and by a Catholic Congress, composed of delegates from all parts of the United States, and by a grand torch-light parade that has never been equaled by any similar demonstration in the United States.

The celebration was opened on Sunday, 10th inst., by a solemn pontifical mass, with the Most Revernd John J. Williams, Archbishop of Boston, as the celebrant of the mass. The assistant priest, in cope, was the Rev. Dr. A Magnien, President of St. Mary's Seminary; the deacon was the Rev. Wm. E. Bartlett, of St. Ann's Church, Baltimore, and the sub-deacon the Rev. Jas. S. Duffy, of St. Agnes' Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. The Master of Ceremonies was the Rev. J. A. McCallen, of St. Patrick's, Montreal, Quebec, and his assistants were Messrs. James Nolen and T. O'Grady, seminarians of St. Mary's. The assistants for the priests were the Revs. John T. Whelan and W. A. Reardon, of the Cathedral.

Prior to the celebration of the mass there was a procession of the clergy from the Cardinal's residence to the front entrance of the Cathedral, marshalled by the Young Catholic's Friend Society of Baltimore, under the direction of the President of the Society, Mr. James R. Wheeler, who is accorded great credit for the admirable manner in which the whole pageant was carried through without the least jar or friction. Assisting at the mass were Cardinals Gibbons, of Baltimore, and Tascherau, of Quebec: Monsignors O'Connel, of the American College at Rome, and McColgan, of Baltimore; Labelle, of Canada, and Satoli, the Representative of the Pope. The Most Rev. Archbishop P. J. Ryan, o

Philadelphia, delivered the sermon at the mass, taking for his text verses 1, 2, 7, 14, chap, XL.,

Ecclesiasticus. It was one of the most eloquent sermons that has been delivered in the Cathedral for years, and was listened to by the immense congregation present with a rapt attention for one hour and a half. Among the distinguished prelates who ap peared in the procession were Archbishops Jan senns, Ireland, Gross, Salpointe, Riordan, O'Brien, Corrigan, Ryan, Elder, Feehau, Heiss, Williams, Duhamel, Fabre, Tache, Satoli.-Bishops Cotter, McGoldrick, Shanley, Zardetti, Dowling, Van de Vyver, Hennesey, Burke, Katzer, Howley, O'Sullivan, Gravel, Phelan. Bourgade, Durrier, Lorrain, Virtue, Cleary, Scanlan, Ludden, Harkins, Jansenn, Curtis, Walsh, La Fleche, Rodgers, McIntyre, Courcy, Glorieux, Maes, Bradley, Radermacher, Richter, Gallagher, Northrop, O'Farrell, Gillow, Foley, Haid, Ryan, McGovern, Bonacum, Scannel Wigger, Flasch, Watterson, Brondell, Vertin. McMahon, Keane, Chatard, Moore, Spaulding, O'Connor, Healey, Seidenbush, Kain, Wadhans, Gilmour, Drenger, McNierney, Fink, Moutes de Oca, O'Reily, Ryan, McQuaid, O'Hara, Sweeney, Hennessey, De Goesbriand and Loughlin .-Monsignors Griffin, Joos, Strain. Donnelly, Boil, DeConcilio, Sullivan, Windhorst, Gadd, Labelle, Preston, Seton, and the Very Rev. Father Sorrin.

The music of the mass was by two choirs. The regular Cathedral choir was under the direction of Mr. F. X. Hale; Prof. A. C. Leonard, organist, with a special chorus of sixty mixed voices. The soloists were-sopranes, Misses Emma Litz and Rose Barrett : altos. Mrs. F. X. Hall, Miss Mary Townsend; tenors, Messrs, F. Keyser, A. C. Montell, J. A. Moore; bassos, Messrs. Harry Furst and Jas. E. Farrell. There was also an orchestra of stringed instruments, with Prof. Gaul first violinist. The Seminary choir of forty male voices was in charge of the Rev. Father Cheuaux.

At 7.30 o'clock in the evening pontifical vespers was sung, with the Most Rev. Michael Heiss, Archbishop of Milwaukee, as the celebrant; assistant priest, Rev. F. A. O'Brien, of Kalamazoo, Mich.; deacon, Rev. P. Abelard, of Milwaukee, and the Rev. Joseph Sasia, S. J., of San Francisco, sub-deacon. The assistants to Cardinal Gibbons at the throne were Monsignors O'Connell, of Rome, and D. J. Quigley, of Charleston, S. C. The sermon was delivered by the Most Rev. John Iroland, Archbishop of St. Paul, Minn.

On Monday the pontifical mass was colebrated by the Most Rev. Michael A. Corrigan, Archbishop of New York, with Monsignor A. I. Donnelly, of New York, assistant priest; Rev. M. J. McBride, of the Harrisburg Cathedral, deacon; Rev. Hugh R. O'Donnell, of St. Mary Star of the Sea, Boston, sub-deacon. The Cathedral was packed to its utmost capacity at all the services, hundreds of people standing up in the aisles throughout the long

> Two thousand delegates assembled at the Concordia Opera House on Monday. Ex Gov. John Lee Carroll was called to preside, with a numerous list of Vice Presidents and Secretaries. Able addresses were made by John Lee Carroll, Daniel Dougherty, of New York, Chas. J. Bounparte, Francis Kernan, John Gilmary Shea, H. F. Brownson, and others. THE TORCH-LIGHT PARADE.

> On Tuesday night the Catholic societies and different Orders had a torch-light parade which passed the residence of Cardinal Gibbons in review, and it is estimated that there were over 25,000 members in line.

The whole arrangement was under the management of Mr. James R. Wheeler, who marshalled the vast aggregation and handled it with a masterly precision, he having been a Confederate soldier. He employed some of the soldierly tactics in the forming of the parade which he acquired during the late war. Col. L. B. McCabe, of Govanstown, headed the line of march on a noble charger. Mr. James Mc-Cabe, of Notre Dame, was also one of the mounted aids to the Chief Marshal. Gen. Bradley T. Johnson, of the Maryland Line, and Mayor Latrobe, Mayor-elect Davidson, Hon. J. Fred C. Talbott, with quite a number of prominent citizens who were not members of the Catholic Church. The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. of Texas. Baltimore county, Michael Padian, Marshal, were a fine body of men and made a creditable appearance. They were headed by Prof. Burgoyne's Band, of Towson, whose inspiring strains kept the feet in rythmic march throughout the line. The Govanstown Cornet Band appeared in line, and its musical abilities were favorably commented upon. In fact, the numerous bands of music were a feature of the parade. The long line of men was divided up into eleven division, and all the societies marched in a solid mass and in quick time. There were a large number of colored societies who were frequently cheered for their fine appearance and splendid marching. On Tuesday at the session of the Catholic Congress speeches and addresses were made by the Hon. Honore Mercier, of Canada; Monsignor Gadd, Mesers. P. L. Foy, E. L. Dunne, Geo.). Wolff, W. L. Kelley, H. J. Spaunhorst, T. C. O'Sullivan, Conde B. Pallen, John H. Camp-

It was determined that a Catholic Congress would be held in 1892 with the World's Fair and in the city in which that fair was held. The following committee was appointed on the matter: Hon. The City of Jubilation-The Peans of Polities-The Catholic Centennial-An Imposing Parade-From the Ends of the Earth -Jews, Protestants, and Romans in Accord-Some Surprising Statistics-The Vista of the Future.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15th, 1889.

For the last couple of weeks Baltimore has the last census was taken they had just as well fairly deserved to be entitled the City of Jubilation. The clash of arms that had been re- | will be. sounding through the political arena for weeks before the election was changed to peans of joy when the smoke of the battle rolled away. and showed not only that victory had perched upon our banners here, but that a mighty tilal wave of Democracy had rolled over the country and swept into line even the great Republican strongholds of Ohio and Iowa .times to find the voters able to understand, and ready to rebuke, the pernicious methods of our national administration; and our people were abundantly justified in indulging in unqualified rejoicings. And then, before the echoes of the shouts of religious enthusiasm of a vast body of our citizens was called into activity by the very imposing ceremonies of the Catholic Centennials, which were inaugurated to celebrate the | him after deserting the party in Ohio and Iowa. completion of the first century of the activities of Catholicism in America. With the well known historical record Maryland and Baltimore it was very appropriate this celebration of the church which established religious liberty here, in the old colonial time, should take place in our ancient Cathedral, were the highest dignitary of the church in this nation has his chair located; and in the midst of a community which numbers so many influential Catholics as to be found fully content until everybody else, "and all among us: a community, moreover, in which there is so much liberal mindedness among the them have taken part in the festivities of this

Catholicism could not fail of being a grand success. And when, on Sunday morning there dawned a bright and glorious day, there was nothing left to be desired in the way of accessories to the occasion. So, when the public part of the program was inaugurated by the procession of prelates, students, and people to the service in the Cathedral, the streets were were lined with spectators eager to behold the has a powerful influence in developing the sub-imposing spectacle. It is not often that people, anywhere, have an opportunity of seeing such a display as was made in last Sunday's procession. Led by the members of the Young Catholic societies, came the long lines of vested Seminarians, followed by the battalions of priests and bishops, who receeded the archbishops and other high digitaries, with Cardinals Gibbons and Taschereau in al: their brilliant robes of office, while the Knights of St. Ladislaus, in handsomeuniforms brought up the rear. And not only was the whole of our own national territory rep-Mexico, England, Ireland and Italy each sent | ceit, dare to line out the limits of distinguished personages to grace the occasion | ment? with their illustrious presence. Of the great concourse gathered at the Ca-

Such an assemblage, combining with the two Cardinals, 13 monsigners, 16 archbishops, 72 bishops, the numerous priests and learned laymen, the strange figures of the monks of the Capuchin and Franciscan Orders, and several negro delegates, besides two Indian chiefs, was a spectacle the like whereof this generation will scarcely have the privilege f beholding again.

Then the brilliant illumination of all the Catholic churches in the city, on Monday night, with their festive decorations of flags and evergreens, and especially the display of elec tric lights upon the lofty dome of the Cathedral and the beautiful decorations of the Cardinal's residence, as well as the fine effects given by many of our private residences, still further attest the exuberance of enthusiasm attending the celebration of this occasion. And finally, the great parade of Tuesday night, which wound up the festivities, was the cap sheaf to the great succession of surprises which this celebration has been springing

For what we see in the record of the work that the Roman communion has been performing through the past century, and in that which it has in hand and proposes to accomplish in the future, is enough to justify the statement of one of the speakers that "this Congress is an event in the history of the republic, an era in American progress, and advance in humanity, a move of earth towards Hea-Take, for instance, the statistics of our own region. We are told that "the Archdiocese of Baltimore has a Catholic population of 220,000. It has 310 clergy, with 140 churches. It has 88 parochial schools, with 16,000 pupils, 10 orghan asylums, with 569 orphans. It has 6 ladies' academies, and a normal school. There are 87 diocesan students, 3 at Rome, 37 at St. Mary's College, and 47 at St. Charles. Besides which there are religious communities of the church to be found in nearly every parish." Now, if we multiply these figures by the number of other vineyards in which this church is prosecuting its labors, we can see that Romanism, in this country is doing an amazingly important work. And those who heard Archbishop Ireland's discourse, on Sunday night, can see down the vista of the coming century a vast perspective of enlarged and still more energetic effort through the years that are to come. Through the instrumentality, of their great national university, on the one hand, and by prodigious endeavors to capture the masses, on the other, Romanism will make a wonderful record, or be false to all the lessons of its past. And we may be very sure that it is entirely too wise and able not to make the very utmost of all the great and numerous advantages which it possoss. (Correspondence of the Maryland Journal.

WASHINGTON LETTER. WASHINGTON, November 11th, 1889. Chairman Calvin S. Brice is a strong favorite with Democrats here, and the wish that he may be sent to the Senate from Ohio is heard Army and Navy of the Confederate States in on all sides. It is argued that he has the good Maryland, also appeared in the line mounted. | will of all classes of Ohio Democrats, and that Among others in the line were His Honor his election would leave no jealousy to make trouble in the future. President Harrison is still trying to make people, including himself, believe that the recent elections did not mean a disapproval, by the people, of his administration. The word has been passed to every prominent Republican official that he must argue at all times that as no Federal officials were voted for the result of the elections mean nothing as far as the administration is concerned. That is for public consumption. In private, the shirt-sleeve brigade that is always relied upon to do election work, and which has been snubbed almost unil now, is, to speak figuratively, being warmly embraced by President Harrison and promised any number of nice fat appointments if they will only agree to resume business at the old stand. Brother Harrison has waked up to the fact that it is the members of the shirt-sleeve brigade that carry elections, and that the carrying of elections is the great end and aim of political parties. It were better for the Democratic party that he had not found out so much. That Mrs. Cleveland has lost none of the great popularity she enjoyed here when mistress of the White House was fully demonstrated last week, when she and her illustrious husband came to Washington to attend the marriage of ex-Secretary Bayard. After the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland drove to the White House and Mrs. Cleveland left her card for Mrs. Harrison, who is out of town, while her husband went inside and paid his respects to President Harrison. It was a graceful and courteous act on the part of the Clevelands. The cry that Foraker was knifed by the now?-Hotel Mail. Sherman men in Ohio was no news to the regular reader of this correspondence, who will remember that the organization of a plot to "down" Foraker by Sherman and his friends was noted many weeks ago. It was fixed up here in Washington, and unless all signs fail the gentlemen concerned in it have bitten off more than they can chew. Their only desire was to sidetrack Foraker, but the result shows that they have made Ohio a doubtful State for the great contest in 1892, with chances decidedly in favor of the Democrats. The Republicans here had a big scare lasting several days over the fate of Senator Allison.

of Iowa, whose successor will be elected by the Legislature chosen last Tuesday. Allison would leave a big gap on the Republican side of the Senate should he, for any cause, have to go. It is feared by some Southern Democrats that the Republican defeats last week will have a tendency to encourage the more Radical Republican Congressmen to pass an obnoxious Federal Election Law in the hope of gaining enough members of the House in the South at the next Congressional election to effect those they are certain to lose elsewhere. Such a law will never be passed by the next House. There are a number of determined Democrats in the House that have pledged themselves to fillibuster until the expiration of the Fifty-first Congress, if such action should become necessary to prevent the passage of an obnoxious Federal

A SIGNIFICANT VERDICT.

The verdict of the recent election in Ohio is of a significant character. The Republicans cannot lay Gov. Foraker's defeat altogether to his unpopularity upon a third-term question, or, can they allege any outside issue among Republicans, other than the fact, that Ohio was lost to them upon the tariff issue. Ohio is the great wool-growing State of the country, equally as great as the State of Texas. Thousands of people in Ohio, Democrats as well as Republicans, want free wool; they want the tariff removed from this important product so that they may have cheaper clothing. They now see that a high tariff upon wool benefits only the few at the expense of the many thousands .--Gradually the peoples' eyes are being opened upon the oppressions of the present monopolistic tariff. It is proper that such populous States as Obio should speak out upon such questions.

Is comes home to the pocket of every citizen. It is to be regretted that a technicality in the will of the late Samuel J. Tilden will prevent the city of New York from securing the magnificent library for which he had pro-vided in his will. The will was written by Mr. Tilden himself, and the wonder is that so astute a man and lawyer could not prepare a legal paper that would hold good and carry out his wishes. The estate, which amounts to several millions, will now go to his relatives. Mr. Tilden had amply provided for his relatives, town, Baltimore county, Md., but they were not satisfied.

It is stated that Johnny Keenan, who was Secretary of the New York's famous "boodle" Board of Aldermen, is at Montreal, Quebec, suffering from rheumatic gout. It is alleged that it is through Johnny's hands that the "boodle" found its way to the boodlers .-Poor Johnny, he'd better come back and make a clean breast of it. He'll have ample time to be cured of his gout at Sing Sing Asylum.
