AMUSEMENTS.

Ford's Grand Opera House—Week of February 17th, "The Gondoliers," Gilbert and Sullivan's Latest and Greatest Success.—On Monday, February 17th, the first presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's latest and possibly their last opera, will be given at Ford's Opera House, the company to remain for one week. The opera derives some additional interest from the fact that this American company has been eminently successful in bringing out the full beauties of both its score and libretto for the first time in this country. It acquires a new charm with such a company as Stetson has brought together. No pains or expense have been spared to give the opera the most favorable surroundings. Miss Manola, Miss Celie Ellis and Miss Baker are perfectly adapted in voice and stage presence to their respective parts, and Messrs. Hallard Raffael and George Lauri add a great deal to a manifestly strong company. Matinees as usual.

February 24th, Local.

Asking for a Partition of the McTavish Estate.—Mr. Joseph Whyte, as attorney, on the 8th inst. filed a bill in equity on behalf of Hunting Gaston McTavish and Anita Carroll McTavish, infants, by their guardian, Mary Gilmor, praying for the partition of certain real estate to which they are entitled under the will of Elizabeth, widow of George William, Lord Stafford, one of the daughters of Richard and Mary Caton, of Baltimore. Lady Stafford died October 29th, 1862 and by her will devised the property described therein as "lot called Carpenter's lot, containing ninety acres of the original No 116 of the Baltimore Company's land," to Basil R. Spaulding, in trust, for her nephew, Alexander Simon McTavish, after the death of his mother, Emily McTavish, who was the testatrix' left, in life estate. In case Alexander did not leave children by any second marriage the property was to go to the eldest son of Charles Carroll McTavish, except 10 acres, which Lady Stafford devised to the eldest son of Alexander McTavish by his first marriage. Emily McTavish died in 1867, and Alexander in 1863, without having contracted a second marriage and leaving a son. Charles Carroll McTavish also died, is also dead, his only children being the plaintiffs in this suit. Charles Carroll McTavish also died, leaving a son of the same name, who is the defendant in this suit. The defendant has been served with a Sc. Teackle Wallis, his attorney, and has filed an answer assenting to the passing of a decree for partition of the property mentioned.

The Cleveland Tariff Reform Club.—The regular meeting of the Tariff Reform Club of Baltimore County was held at the Court House on Tuesday night, 11th inst. In the absence of Mr. Washington Stevenson, President, Mr. Chas. E. Fendall was called to preside, with S. C. Tomay, Secretary.

Hon. Grover Cleveland was unanimously elected an honorary member of the Club, and the Secretary was authorized to notify him of the fact, and also to forward to him a copy of "The Declaration of Principles" and the Constitution of the Club.

Among the visitors to the Club was Mr. John P. Bobbot, Vice President of the Tariff Reform Club of Mt. Winans, 13th District, and Mr. J. M. Arcott, President of the 13th District Club, was elected Vice President of the Cleveland Tariff Club of Towson.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dentry, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Imwold, Messrs. Charles Dentry, Chas. F. Imwold, J. C. Meekins, Harry and George Dentry, Wm. Meekins, W. Hay Barrack Burned.—On Monday morning, 10th inst., about 10 o'clock as Mr. John Goodwin, Manager on the farm of Mr. E. Glenn Perine, at Govanstown, was directing the men in work he discovered a hay barrack on fire. He summoned the men who ran to the barrack with pitchforks, but fire had gained too much headway to be extinguished. It contained 20 tons of hay, which had been sold at $13 per ton. The fire, it is thought, was the work of an incendiary, as his tracks were traced to and from the barrack. It will be seen by our advertising columns that Mr. Perine has offered a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the parties.

A Trust Deposit and Security Company for Baltimore County.—Senator Lindsay has prepared and presented a bill in the Senate for the incorporation of a Trust, Deposit and Security Company for Baltimore county, the principal office of which is to be located in Towson. The runaway continued his flight until he struck a city lamp and broke that. The buggy was badly used up.—Mr. Chipman escaped with but slight injuries.

Destroying Public Property.—Complaint has been made to the County Commissioners that the cap-stones on the wing walls to the bridges on the Hammond's Ferry Road, in the 13th District, have been thrown off repeatedly. The police authorities have been notified to hunt up the parties concerned in the depredations and bring them to Towson for trial and punishment.

Teachers' salaries for White Schools to the amount of $21,873.29 and Colored Schools amounting to $52.95, and bills for fuel, books, furniture, repairs, &c., to the amount of $6,327.84, were passed and payment ordered.

Seaman Drowned.—William Stanley, aged 36 years, a seaman on the English steamship Jeanie, lying at Elevator No. 1, Lower Canton, was drowned on saturday night, 8th inst., about 7 o'clock while making his way out to the vessel lying at the end of the pier. He was an expert swimmer, and it is believed that when he fell his head either struck a canal boat near by or he fell head first into the water and then stuck, as the body was found head down by Custer Officer Miller, who dragged for it. Squire Dorsey, of Canton, held an inquest over the remains, and a verdict of accidental death was rendered. The remains were buried by the ship captain. Deceased was a native of Hampshire, England, and unmarried. He had been in the English Navy for 17 years. When found by Officer Miller both arms were extended, and in the left he held tightly to the collar in bat. It is not thought the man was intoxicated, and the cause of his falling overboard is attributed to a lack of light. It is pitch dark for squares about the vicinity of the elevator, and there is no protection whatever in the shape of a guard. Complaint has been made frequently to the railroad company, but without effect.

He is as brown as a berry and as happy as a lord, and has a grip that testifies that he hasn't had la grippe, all the result of revelling in the pure atmosphere of the mighty Rockies. He loves Denver and the great West, and has good cause to do so. He took Horace Greeley's advice and has never regretted having done so.

Rev. A. W. Rudisill, who recently was a Missionary to India, but who is on a visit to his relatives and friends in this country, delivered an interesting address about India and its people, at Towson M. E. Monkton Items.—The handsome residence of Mrs. R. G. Merryman, of this place, was the scene of a genuine and very affectionate surprise party on the evening of Monday last, 10th inst. Mrs. N. D. R. Allen, of Virginia, the former Principal of the Monkton School when she was simply "Miss Rosa Heathcote," arrived here a few days ago on a visit to her old friends and former pupils by whom she is held in the highest veneration. No sooner was it known that "Miss Rosa" had come among us again than preparations were made at once by the lads and lassies around here to wait upon her in a body and renew that tender friendship which formerly existed between teacher and scholars. The company arrived at Mrs. Merryman's at 7.30 o'clock and were at once admitted to the spacious sitting-room. A few moments later "Miss Rosa" made her appearance amid the applause of the young folks, which token of tender affection greatly moved the ex-teacher. Master Peter Miller took the floor and made a neat little speech in honor of "Miss Rosa's" arrival among them, to which she feelingly replied, thanking them for their kind remembrance of her. The time was pleasantly spent in relating remembrances of by-gone school days, music, &c., when, at about 10.30 o'clock, all hands were invited into the dining-room, where the table fairly groaned under the weight of delicacies of various kinds to which full and willing justice was done. Among the company were Rev. F. H. Havener and family, Mrs. N. D. R. Allen, of Virginia, Mrs. R. G. Merryman, Mrs. Margaret Merryman, Mrs. Thos. Kaufman, Mrs. Anna Young, Mr. Chas. Prosser and daughters, Miss Rosa Yingling, Miss Nottenkamer, of Pennsylvania, Misses Hattie Young, Lizzie Winstanley, Ada Young, May Winstanley, May Young, Gracie Bosley, Mary Lutz, Clara Hutchins, Ella Miller, Messrs. When the hour of 11.30 arrived the company began to wend each going to their respective homes mentally well pleased in again having met a well-beloved and justly-honored former teacher before her departure, which, it is hoped, will not occur for some time. The evenings ago which nearly led to a fracas. Some of the young men are the owners of a boat which, being built in the shape of a scow, makes a very clumsy craft to handle, and for some time past many of them have been the owners of a boat which, being built in the shape of a scow, makes a very clumsy craft to handle, and for some time past many have had the "grip" yet; we think chicken is a preventative.

Shane Items.—News in this section is very scarce. When you take the "grip" out there is not much left.

Mr. Henry P. Archer, who was spoken of some time ago as being sick, is still confined to his bed with very little change. He has a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Frank Wright, who has been sick for nearly three months, is able to walk about the house.

When la grippe takes hold it holds its grip. Mr. John Stirling, who had a very severe attack of it some time ago, was still complaining of soreness and many others are held the same way, but not a negro has had the "grip" yet; we think chicken is a preventative.

There never was as much sickness in this section as there is at present.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Wilson, wife of Mr. James Wilson, is confined to her room with sickness.

There was a spelling bee at school No. 3 on Friday night, 7th inst., but owing to the inclement weather there was a small turnout.

The young men of Stablersville have organized a literary and debating society. They meet on Tuesday evenings of each week. They will no doubt have a grand time, as there are some very prominent members.

The Reisterstown Turnpike and Tolls Upon It.—Mr. Editor :—I am in possession of a small piece of history which, I think, belongs of right to the people of Baltimore county, and as it relates to roads, the now popular fad, perhaps you will make room for it in your columns.

Soon after the war (I think) the Reisterstown Turnpike Company undertook to arbitrarily raise its toll from 1½ cents per mile to 2 cents per horse per mile. The question became a subject of inquiry among travellers, whether the Company had a legal right to do so, and if they could raise it to 2 cents per mile, might they not also raise it to 3 or even 5 cents per mile? There was a great deal of complaining on the part of the toll-payers which finally crystalized. A meeting was called at the Odd Fellow's Hall, at Pikesville, and the writer was called to preside over that meeting. A resolution was passed to collect funds and legally test the right of the Company to make this charge. We employed Mr. Albert Ritchie to bring suit. Mr. Wm. Fisher appeared as counsel for the Company. The trial took place at Towson, and the Court decided that the Company had already, on a previous occasion, raised its toll and had thereby exhausted its power to raise it again, and had also raised its toll again. Mr. Fisher now threatened to carry the case to the Supreme Court, and as the people's money was already exhausted there seemed no way of meeting the issue. It was a difficult matter to collect the funds, my own business fully occupied my time and finally the Company proposed a compromise. Mr. McHenry, who was one of the largest stockholders in the Company, and who had co-operated with me in the fight by giving me funds and advice, came to me and advised me to accept the compromise offered, that is, that they should be allowed to charge 1½ cents per mile, and if the price of labor and material had advanced, and the 1¼ cents per mile would not pay expenses. I agreed to the compromise, provided the Company would submit to the imposition without an effort to fight the domineering giant.

The Growth of Steelton.—Major Luther F. Bent and Col. Walter S. Franklin, of the Pennsylvania Steel Company, gave extended views on the future of that place, which was published in the Baltimore Sun of the 11th inst. as follows:

Major Bent said that the Company has almost completed its plans and organization for the building of ships. Active operations will begin in a few days by erecting buildings, laying down slips, constructing piers and finishing dwellings for workmen. As soon as these preparations are advanced sufficiently the keels of two vessels will be laid. They will be built of steel. The drawings and specifications for them are now being considered. Each vessel will have a carrying capacity of
