The Collateral Inheritance Tax.-- A question as to the right of the imposition of the collateral inheritance tax twice on the same estate, has been raised by Mr. Arthur W. Machen, administrator of Samuel S. Patterson, late of Long Green Valley, deceased. The case has been docketed by consent and will be submitted to the Court upon an agreed state of facts. It appears from the statement that Ed-like very much to see Edward Patterson, Jr., died on September 5, 1886, ter at an early date. intestate and unmarried, and letters of administration upon his personal estate were granted by the Orphans' Court of Baltimore City to Arthur W. Machen on October 5, 1886. On February 5, 1887, and before any distribution of the personal estate of Edward Patterson, Jr., his brother, Samuel Smith Patterson, also died, intestate and unmarried, and letters of administration on his personal estate were cupied by Mr. J. H. Burnett, wife, son and daughter, cranted by the Orphans Court of Baltimore Court of Mrs. Burnett who was sick detected the smoke and granted by the Orphans Court of Baltimore County Mr. Machen. The Worthington Deed of Trust .-- Judges Fowler and Watters on the 17th inst. filed a written opinion in the case of Benjamin I Worthington vs. Edward Worthington, a suit instituted to set aside a deed of trust from the former to the latter. The Court announces that an order will be signed dismissing the bill of complaint, the allegations of which were that at the time of the execution of the deed of trust from Benjamin Worthington to weakened impaired by his financial troubles that he allowed himself to be prevaled on by false representations to execute the deed in question. Court is of opinion that the allegations of the bill have not been sustained, and says that no Cour would be justified, upon the evidence presented in the case, "in finding that of two brothers, standing on the very verge of the grave, one has been guilty of so unspeakable and atrocious a fraud as that charged in the bill."

Horribly Butchered in a Tunnel.—About 1 o'clock P. M. on Saturday, 15th, Edwin C. Dougherty, a brakeman upon a freight train known as the Atlantic Coast Line, whilst passing through the Baltimore and Potomac tunnel, is supposed to have allen between the cars, and his oody was horribly mangled, almost out of recognition. When the train arrived at Union Station, Stationmaster Smith discovered that the cars were stained with blood and portions of human remains were upon the wheels. Upon further examination the unfortunate man's lantern was found battered out of shape.— Search was made in the tunnel and the body found, almost cut in half, and otherwise terribly mutilated. OBITUARY. William Bishop.

William Bishop, who died at the residence of h son, on Greenmount Avenue. Baltimore, on the 6th inst., was well and favorably known in Baltimore county. For many years he successfully conducted the Hall's Springs Hotel, a resort to which many of the most prominent citizens of Baltimore went upon a pleasant day. Mr. Bishop was one of the most genial of gently men; he was, in fact, a Maryland gentleman-and there is no higher type of civili zation. It is with great pleasure that we print the annexed just tribute of a friend: In this simple announcement there will come the minds of thousands a consciousness of a raid in the ranks of humanity that in the summary of al of its relations cannot easily be filled. Mr. Bishop. hrough a long and active life, was promine dentified with all that went to make up a health public interest in the welfare and prosperity of Bal-timore city and Baltimore county, and in both communities he was trusted and honored by his fellowcitizens, and his name held as an absolute guaran tee of loyal faith and integrity. As long ago as 1848 he represented the old sixth ward in the city council of Baltimore, and whilst there he introduced the bill for the extension o Bel Air Market between Gay and Hillen streets, and also introduced the bill for systematizing the mar-et days at the various market-houses, which is in effect at the present day. He was indefatigable in his efforts for the promotion of the public welfare. warm friend of the public school system, he gave t a zealous and intelligent support and by his constant efforts aided largely in giving it that impetus which has resulted in the splendid structure of To all internal improvements for the advance ment of the city's interest he was the faithful and laborious friend. And many of them, as is well known to the survivors of that day, he, whilst in the city council, introduced and by his efforts carried out to a successful consummation. Since that time he has been frequently elevated to positions of trust and honor, showing the confidence held in him by his fellow citizens. And that confidence and trust he retained to the hour of his death. But if his public record constrained the esteen and confidence of his fellow-citizens, his private life endeared him as deeply to all who had the privilege to know him intimately. His private life and character would shine with a serene and unwavering brightness in the fiercest light of publicity. They possessed a charm and grace unattaina ole by art—a gift from God founded on high-reaching principle. In all his dealings with his fellow man he placed his standard high in equity and measured fully up to it. Possessed of a large intellirence and a cultivated mind, of broad and comprensive views of humanity, a deep thinker and a profound student of the universal Cosmos, his ain was high and his convictions sure. Had the cast of fortune placed Mr. Bishop upon another and a more public plane his name would also be one of the "few immortal ones that are to born to die.' His domestic life was peaceful and beautiful in all its relations. As a husband he was tender, loving and protecting. His relation to his children was something out of the common. He was at the same time their father, their constant companion their teacher and their venerated friend to the hour of his death. The close relationship of early childhood, in all that this implies of obedience, respect loving faith and companionship, remained as indissoluble bonds between this father and his children up to the last sad hour.

And so this good citizen, this loyal gentleman this honest man and lovable friend lived, esteemed and confided in by all who knew him. He has passed to his appointed place mourned by ill, because he belonged to that rare class of humanity whose gentle lives in their influence brighten and bless the world. Their footfalls are soft and low in the hurry of the mass as the world goes round, but their footprints are indelible.

Surely the great master intended to delineate jus

such a man as this when he wrote:

"His life was gentle: and the elements

So mixed in him that Nature might stand up.

Mrs Plaskitt, before her marriage, was Miss Hall, daughter of Aquilla Hall, of Harford county, and at the time of her death was the oldest lineal descendent of the late Bishop Wm. White, of the Dio-Episcopal Bishop in the United States. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Plaskitt took place in 1867, and since then she has lived in Baltimore. Commendable Work of the Baltimore County Fire Department.-Tuesday evening, 11th inst.,

Ladies' Masonic Fair Association of Mount | about 8.10 o'clock fire was discovered in a large Moriah Lodge, A. F. & A. M.—Agreeably to a circular letter the lady friends of the members of Mount Moriah Lodge, A. F. & A. M., assembled at the Temple, Towson, on Tuesday afternoon, 18th ses of and owned by Mr. Michael T. Horner. Alin order to turn in an alarm—which is No. 71, on the corner of Highland Avenue and the Philadelphia Road—it was fully 8.35, giving the conflagra-tion a gain of 45 minutes. Nevertheless, the mopanies 7 and 8 were at their posts, and in less than two minutes were on their way to the scene of the conflagration. Although the roads were in a terribly muddy condition, it did not take the Departnent more than twenty minutes to cover the distance to the fire, which was about two and one-half miles. On reaching the scene of the conflagration it was found that it had gained considerable headway, it having been burning nearly 45 minutes, and was at the point of licking up a large stable of box stalls used by Mr. Horner for stabling colts, but the boys of Companies 7 and 8 were on hand, and being no wise daunted by the progress which the fire had made, went to work and quenched the flames and saved the stable from complete destruction although immediately adjoining the burning corn house. Now if this work is not enough to cause the most sarcastic human being on earth to acknowledge its oraiseworthiness, we have nothing more to say. In conclusion we would like to call attention to the fact that once more the necessity of more alarm boxes is brought up before us. If there had been an alarm box at Herring Run the alarm could have means of saving several hundred dollars worth of property. The people of the 12th District would like very much to see some action taken in this mat-A Fire Near the Relay.—The lodge keeper's house and the Assembly Hall, on the place of Dr. Frank Donaldson, near the Relay House, B. & O. They were received very kindly by their pastor and his estimable wife, and fold to enjoy themselves and have a good time. About two ours were spent in social conversation and other nnocent amusements, and all through the evening was spent very pleasantly. Before leaving one of the party made a few remarks, and on behalf of the company gave their pastor a hearty welcome on his return. Mr. Milburn replied very fittingly, thanking them for their visit and the good cheer they had brought with them. The pantry was left filled with the substantials of life, consisting of a barrel of flour, hams, poultry, groceries, eggs, canned fruit, vegeta-bles, &c., and last, but not least, a load of wood. A general good time was had and the best of feeling existed. About 10 o'clock all went to their homes feeling joyous and happy at having made the hearts of their pastor and family glad. Bradshaw News.—The genial sunahine and balmy air have caused us to forget the leonine fea-tures of the weather that has prevailed since March 1st. Indeed, the etherial mildness inclines us to exclaim with Milton—"In those vernal seasons of the year, when the air is calm and pleasant, it were an injury and sullenness against nature not to go out and see her riches and partake in her rejoicings with heaven and earth," but her summons to us to rejoice is unheeded by some in our midst whom the licissitudes of life have brought bereavement and Included in this number is Mr. Thos. Wells and his children, whose wife and mother was buried at Camp Chapel on Wednesday afternoon, 12th inst. Mrs. Wells had been a great sufferer for many years, but the end was no deubt hastened by an attack of la grippe. She was the object of the tender solicitude of her husband and children during her long illness. On an adjoining farm to Mr. Wells lived Mrs. Bevard with her son, Mr. John Bevard, who also fell a victim of la grippe the day after Mrs. Wells died. Mrs. Bevard, although an octogenarian, was re-markably active up to the beginning of her fatal illness. The bereaved ones have the heartfelt sympathy of neighbors and friends. Some cases of scarlet fever in this neighborhood save been reported, but there is no apprehension of an epidemic of this disease. Our doctors, Gor such, Altvater and Keyser, (the last named M. The famous Schopenhauer affirmed that "if one could tap on the tombe and ask the dead if they cared to return, they would shake their heads." But then Schopenhauer was a most melancholy individual, who does not seem to have been able to extract any pleasure at all out of life; and it is just possible that, in spite of this unfortunate fact, he, at any rate, might be desirous to return to this mundane sphere if he had any opportunity to escape from the region to which his misanthropic talents would most probably consign him.

But, whether anybody who leaves this world would be anxious to return to it, would depend not only upon the kind of country which he would leave for that purpose, but also, somewhat, upon the commodity whereof he might be traveling in search. For absolute, unmixed happiness, it might not be worth while to come back to these earthly shores. To find a condition of perfectly Utopian perfection, it would be of no avail to visit this planet. Another question that demands immediate. attention, in this and all other communities, is the agricultural depression that seems to be increasing around us so rapidly. All our papers are full of the stories of decline in the prosperity of our farmers, of mortgaged lands, and deserted farms, of the great rush of the rural population into our cities and towns, where there is "a sudden and rapid increase of all the evils of the great cities of the Old World."
