The City Tag on Farmers.—A large number of farmers of Baltimore county appeared before the City Council Committee on the 27th inst. to give their views on the recent ordinance passed by the Thos. G. Carter, Wm. Woolenhan, Thos. Gorsuch, John I. Anderson, John Blacklock, Wm. A. Blacklock, Wilson Haile, John Yoeder, Chas. Upton and R. S. Stone. Mayor Davidson, in view of the facts developed eent the following communication to the Polic Board: "I am advised by the City Solicitor that Judge Stewart suggested from the Bench this morning the propriety of not enforcing the huckster ordinance with strictness pending a contest as to its validity. In view of this, as also of the fact that an ordinance to exempt growers and producers from its provisions is now pending in the Council. I would I e glad if you would instruct your force not to make further arrests thereunder until the matter is finally disposed of. $25 fee imposed under the recent ordinance passed by the City Council, was brought before Judge Stewart on a writ of habeas cornus in Council to the council to the people who to the relieved of the oppressions of the hour.

Preston appearing for the B. & O. R. R. Co. The case is a suit for the value of a strip of land taken by the railroad company at Locust Point. It was riginally three cases brought in the City Court of Baltimore, and they were consolidated and removed to the Circuit Court for Baltimore County. The case was tried in January, 1888, and the plaintiffs obtained a verdict of $672, $159 and $156. On motion for a new trial made by the R. R. Co. the ver-dict was set aside and a new trial was had, and the first of the three cases was tried in March, 1889, the jury rendering a verdict for $446, which has been entered satisfied. The two remaining cases came up on Monday.

New Road in the 12th District .- Upon peti tion of Adam Heinlein, J. A. Sheridan, John S. Bramble, Joseph Earice, J. W. Crouch, and others, taxable inhabitants, a new road, 1½ miles long, is asked for in the 12th District. The new road has been opened and has been shalled its entire langth. and is in excellent condition. The county is asked to adopt it as a county road. Wm. H. Walters, Jno. S. Hays and James J. Jones have been appointed Examiners to report to the County Commissioners.

To be Repaired.—The County Commissioners have ordered Lyssnder McCullough, Road Supervisor 6th District, to repair the abutments of the bridge at Ensor's Mill, which had tumbled down on account of having been washed by heavy rains.

The condition of the county road leading from Catonsville Avenue to Avalon, which had been rendered impassable by the storm of Monday, was ordered to be repaired by the Road Commissioners of the 1st District.

Badly Hurt.—On Sunday morning, 25th inst., Nathan Hawkins, colored, of Baltimore county, was found on the track of the B. & O. R. R. towards Camden Junction. He had two ugly wounds on the back of his head. He stated that he had been struck by a passing locomotive early in the morning. He was sent to the Maryland University Hospital, where his wounds were dressed.

Merritt, Nicholas P. Hill, Gottleib Stengel, John Harris, Thomas A. Merritt, Alex. H. Schulz, Josiah Bowen and Henry LeBrun, has filed a bill of complaint in the Circuit Court for Baltimore County against William H. Shipley, Examiner in the matter of the opening of Lancaster, Hudson and Eleventh Streets, Canton. The complainants state that they are owners of a large amount of property in the neighborhood; that sufficient legal and proper notice was not given of the proceedings, and that the most important notices were only published in papers of limited circulation among the people living in the 12th District of Baltimore county; also because of the improper levying of assessments on the property of your orators con-trary to the Acts of Assembly for the opening of streets in Baltimore county contiguous to Baltimore city, and also that the thoroughfare is only benecial to its terminus and not beyond; that if any benefits accrues it is to but a few individuals and not to the many; that the assessments are onerous and burdensome and irregular and without warrant of law; because the assessment for bridges is without warrant of law; that the acts of the Examiner being without color of law are null and void, and therefore the act of the County Commissioners in ratifying the report of the said Examiner are without effect and void in law, and because under the appeal taken from the ratifying order the County Commissioners all acts of the said Examiner should be held in obeyance until the matter the same have been determined by the Courts. Mr. Fleider C. Slingluff, as Attorney for the Examiner, Mr. Wm. H. Shipley, files an answer to the petition above in substance as follows: He avers that the majority of the parties who signed the petition for the opening of the streets are owners of property lying to the westward of the horoughfare, and are owners of a majority of front feet fronting on said street: also that the Examiner complied with the law in every respect; that the discretion given him under the law for the assessment of benefits and damages was fairly and hon estly and to the best of his ability, and the thorough fare will be a benefit to a large number of persons in the 12th District of Baltimore county, and that by the opening of the new avenue dangerous raiload crossings can be avoided; that he gave due and lawful notice of all assessments made, and the parties not having taken an appea! in time have no standing in Court; that the law forbids the assess ment on the bridge fund of Baltimore county for the building of bridges on streets, because the ac-Baltimore county was held in the Grange Hall Towson, on Tuesday night, 27th inst., Washingtor

The assessment, Mr. Fowl contended, was entirely too high upon the the boundary between Districts, the County Com- pipe line. The County Commissioners concluded to reduce the assessment upon the pipe line to $66,-500, a reduction of $83,500, and to let the assessment of $840 upon the telegraph line stand. Mr. Fowl contended that the assessment upon the pipe line ought not to be more than $1,000 per mile, which in the aggregate would only have been between $18,-000 and $19,000. Mr. F. J. Griffith, of the Tax Department Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was also before the Board to ask for a reduction of $1,300 upon some property taken by the road from Mr. Lowry upon the ground that Mr. Lowry was continuing to pay taxes upon the property, and as the Railroad Company was assessed $12,500 per mile, which included the right of way, the county was receiving double taxes upon way has in nearly every instance been given free.

The house was embowered in arching palms and tall rubber trees, and the cool deep green of the foliage plants was relieved in numer-ous places by great bunches of fragrant pink roses. The bride and groom stood under an arch covered with mossy ferns during the ceremony. Miss Howard is a tall, graceful blonde, with a brilliant complexion and a gracious manner. She wore at her wedding a traveling dress of gray Henrietta cloth trimmed with faille, with the toque in the same color in velvet and silk and a pink wreath. She held a huge bouquet of La France roses. After the marriage the wedding party walked into the dining room. dining-room, where a bountiful collation was spread. Editor Journal:—For the benefit of all those interested in the construction of the Maryland Midland Railroad it seems well that we state a few facts of recent development. Since the meeting held at Glyndon in April, from letters received and information gotten personally, we feel justified in stating that the road will be built in the near future. Parties having abundant capital all along the line have offered to subscribe liberally toward it, and at the present writing we can say that without having canvassed for subscriptions we have received the promises of over $100,000. Now, those capitalists whose illness has been notized in this corresponhave voluntarily offered this. I. O. O. F. Siercen — Betherst: Some from weeks ago Towson Lodge, W. I. O. O. F., Towson, paid a fraternal visit to Bethany Lodge, Wo. 28, I. O. O. F., Glenarm, and on Thursday evening, 38th inst., Bethany made a return visit. The visiting brethren formed in line outside and marched in procession into the Lodge Room, headed by the Noble Grand, Joseph H. Hartley. Dr. G. M. Boaley, Past Grand Master acted as the Reception Committee Grand Master, acted as the Reception Committee and introduced the members of Bethany Lodge is a few stirring remarks.

made the following address of welcome:

Noble Grand, Officers and Brothers of Bethany Lodge As Noble Grand of Towson Lodge, it devolves ind Trust Co., $1. upon me to welcome you on your return visit to one we paid your Lodge some few weeks ago, and I assure you it is with feelings of pleasure that I undertake the task. We are here to-night to commingle and Trust Co., $1. and fraternize with each other as Odd Fellows. this occasion we have met to perform two of the duties assigned to us as Odd Fellows—two of the foundation stones upon which our Order depends for existence—Friendship and Love, and, where these two combine, with that feeling of heart which should exist in every true Odd Fellow, Truth (noble principle of Odd Fellowship) will not be found wanting.
Odd Fellowship, as I understand it, originated in Bowen, $350. Same to same $825.

the desire to relieve distress and suffering-in a quiet way: give assistance where assistance in quiet way; give assistance where assistance is needed, and ever holding out the hand of Friend-ship, Love and Truth to lead those who join with us to a higher, nobler plane of life, where manheed is asserted in its fullness and strength. In the daily walks of life we are to greet a brother as a member of the great family to which we belong; we are to help him in all his troubles and trials; to protect him from all harm; to share with him in his joys and sorrows, and, when the cold winds of adversity sweep over him, then it is that we are to throw round and about him the broad mantle of Charity, and thus show that we are Odd Fellows in spirit I am afraid we are too often led away by the se fish aims of life, and thereby lose all sight of the noble principles upon which our Order rests.-Friendship and Love are two essential characters to man's nature, and when an Odd Fellow possesses both of these—not the mere formal grasp of the hand and a few mumbled sentences, but the warm

hearty clasp, and the bright smile and cheering words—then is he, indeed, an Odd Fellow in spiri and in truth. Look back, you who are older in the service of our Order, and see if you cannot call to mind where you have falled, in many instances, to grasp the hand of an erring brother; to have given good counsel when | 25,000 Brother, how often could you have soothed a brother Odd Fellow when on a bed of sickness, racked with pain and scorched with fever? A kind word, a pleasant smile, and a warm grasp of the hand would have done untold wonders to alleviate pain and cheer him up; and, perhaps, it may have been a fatal illness—as the harper gently touches the strings of his instrument to cease their vibration and the music gently dies away in ripples, so the Great I Am-the Noble Grand of the universe—silently calls from that unexplored region, and the brother's task is ended among us. Brother, after having done your duty as an Odd Fellow to such a brother, you would have had the consolation if knowing you had relieved some poor sufferer.

Far be it a purpose of mine to detract one iota from Odd Fellowship at this day. I, too, have been negligent in many respects.

Then, let us be more liberal in our views, and no drift into a rut from which we may never emerge I am sure it is not from want of sympathy, but lifference. There are two emblems on our chart (the first and last) which strike me most forcibly—the Ali-Seeing Eye and the Coffin, or last home of man. The first—we are always to bear in mind that the Il-Seeing Eye of God is upon us at all times; that that eye never closes in sleep, and that it beholds all our actions, whether for good or evil.

The Coffin, or last home of man, is to admonish us that we, too, must reach that common level.-What brother has not gazed upon another's coffinedhis cheek, and his pulse quickened in the presence of death, resolved that he would be a more true and noble Odd Fellow in the future? A departed brother may have no marble shaft or well-kept mound to mark his last resting place—nothing but a rough, moss-covered stone and a few wild flowers amidst the grass of the unkept mound; but his good deeds and charities are borne to us on the waves which wash that far-off shore, and, as they roll in on the beach of Time, each wave freighted with some token of remembrance, will be ever cherished by those whom he had befriended. A departed brother may have no marble shaft or well-kept mound to mark his last resting place— nothing but a rough, moss-covered stone and a few ever cherished by those whom he had befriended. When with you, on a recent visit, you expressed a desire to hear something from each one of us about Odd Fellowship. I, for one, am but an infant yet in Odd Fellowship, having but a few years since donned a Towson regalia. I will resign that task to those who are more capable and have more ability than I. We have brothers who have grown grey-headed (and, I might say, baldheaded, too,) in the service of the Order, who can tell, for your benefit, what they know of Odd Fellowship—its successes and triumphs. We wish you God-speed in your efforts to enlighten and elevate your fellow-man, and when the links are torn asunder here, may they be united above in the chain of Friendship, Love and Truth. Mr. A. B. Krout, of this place, who was very roughly handled by some of the prisoners of the Baltimore County Jail while on a visit to that institution a few days ago because he refused to accede to their demands for money, is not recovering very fast. It is feared that he is injured inwardly. He is unable to do any work. Mr. Henry Hunt, who was with him at the time and who himself had to undergo a flagellation because of his refusal to give them money, is quite morose because of the rascally indignity inflicted by such wretches.

Among the visiting members of Bethany Lodge were the following: Joseph H. Hartley, N. G.; Geo. Francis, V. G.; Samuel H. Hartley, Secretary; Robt. G. McComas, Permanent Secretary: Elisha Slade, J. Glenn McComas, H. W. Knoebel, Rev. O. C. Marriott, Phineas Hartley, Wm. Gorsuch, Clarence Treadwell. William Allen, Edward Gorsuch, Clarence Treadwell. William Pocock, Wm. O. B. Several of the brethren of both Lodges made speeches on topics interesting to Odd Fellows, and an interchange of fraternal feeling took place which made the evening one to be long remembered by all who participated in it.
