Cleveland Tariff Reform Club .- The Cleve land Tariff Reform Club of Baltimore county held its regular meeting on Tuesday night, 24th inst., at Centennial Grange Hall, in Towson, Washington Stevenson, President, S. C. Tomay, Secretary. The proposition for the Tariff Reform meeting to be held at Pen-Mar was discussed by the Club, and the determination expressed to have a full representation whenever the meeting was held. The Secretary was directed to communicate with the Washington County Club on that subject On motion of Prof. James E. Green, Mr. E. N Rich, member of the Legislature from the 4th Dis trict, was elected an honorary member of the Club After some informal discussion the Club then adjourned to meet again on Tuesday evening, July Academic Henors .- Miss Maud S. Tracey, o Washington, D. C., who has a host of friends in Baltimore county, took high honors at the annual commencement at the Convent of Visitation, George town, D. C., on the 23d inst. She was awarded a gold medal of the first class for deportment and scholarship, and also premiums for rhetoric, composition, modern history, geography, algebra, eloention, crayon drawing; also, for house keeping, neatness and order. The exhibitions of painting, crayon sketches, pencil and pen drawing and pas tile were fine, and among the number was the Stag at Bay and a Forest Scene by Miss Tracey, which attracted considerable attention. Miss Tracey also received several handsome baskets and bouquets of roses and a valuable diamond ring from her father No Alien Can Sell Liquor.-John Adam Trageser who is no citizen of Maryland, or of the United States, but who was a Baltimore saloon keeper before the passage of the city High License law, refused to take out a license to sell liquor. He was brought before the Court, when his counse Jos. S. Heuisler and Fred. C. Cook, took the ground that the license law, because it provided that no alien can sell liquor, was classed legislative and therefore unconstitutional. Judge Harlan, of the City Court, decided that the Legislature had a right to prescribe who should sell liquor, and declared e law constitutional. An appeal was taken to the Court of Appeals, and the counsel announce that they will carry it to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary. A Farewell Party.-Miss Emma Prestman, o.

'ockeysville, gave a party entertainment to her friends, on last Tuesday night, 24th inst., previous to her going to Europe for a summer trip. There was a dance, followed by a luncheon. The music was furnished by an orchestra from Baltimore.-Among the invited guests were Misses Nellie Ken sett, Jennie Staub, May Staub, Crown, Shaefer, Fregle, Bussey. The young ladies from Baltimore were chaperoned by Mrs. Tegmyer. Among the gentlemen present were: Messrs. Robert Fus selbaugh, S. H. Irving, Dr. H. S. Jarrett, Dr. Bussey Messrs. Blackwell, Kidd, Turner, Hall, Pindle and B. F. Bussey. Maruland Title Insurance and Trust Company. On the 23d inst. Messrs, Jacob I. Cohen. homas Hill, C.C. Shriver, Edgar G. Miller, Chas W. Slagle, George Whitelock, W. W. Spence, E. H Perkins, Francis T. King, John A. Whitridge and Jesse Hilles were elected Directors of the Maryland Title Insurance and Trust Company. The capital stock of the Company was increased from $100,000 to $200,000. There is not an inch of property in the city that this Company has not an abstract of it title. And every change of ownership is noted and recorded. The Company is of the highest importance to property owners in the city. Barn Raising .- Mr. Thomas Downs on the 24th inst., raised a large barn on his place near Stablers ville and made it an old-time jollification. He had 15 men to assist him, and he provided a splendid inner with other concomitants for the occasion he dinner, which was a splendid one, was due t the efforts of the ladies of his household, who gave it their earnest attention. Mr. James Wilson, carpenter, is the contractor and builder of the barn, and every joint, mortice and tenant fits as close and neat as a "Yankee clock.

A Heavy Fine. - Michael T. Dorsey, who stood trial the past week before his Honor Judge Fowler on the charge of selling liquor without a license at Steelton, Sparrow Point, was adjudged guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and costs. Dorsey endeavored to shield himself under the Club arrangement, and also the original package decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, but without avail. He was sent to Jail in default of payment of fine Baltimore Circuit M. P. Church .- Preaching

NUPTIAL NOTES. Shullz-Cox.-Mr. Howard Shultz, of Rayville, Baltimore county, and Miss Sallie Cox, of Price ville, 8th District, were married on the 18th inst. a 8 P. M. at the residence of the bride's father, Mr Wm. H. Cox. The Rev. Duncan W. McCullough, pastor of Emanuel P. E. Church, Glencoe, performed the ceremony. The bride, a beautiful brunette, was attired in a dark steele henrietta cloth, trimmed with silk to match, and wore natural roses. in her hair. Miss Mary Brown was the bridesmaid, and Mr. John Dalley, groomsman. The house was becomingly decorated with flowers. After the ceremony the gue is, about thirty-five in number, were invited to partake of refreshments. The bride received some very nice presents. Mr. and Mrs Shultz have the best wishes of many friends. They will make their future home at Glencoe. Lutz-Koppelman.-One of the most pleasant social events of the season took place at Mr. Henry Koppelman's on Monday evening, 23d inst. It was on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. Wm. II. Lutz, son of the venerable and much-esteemed Wm. Lutz, of Gardenville, and Miss Katie Koppelman. The entertainment was one of the most elaborate and bountiful I ever had the pleasure of attending. and presents were numerous and costly, among ing by the Rector, Rev. Win. Brayshaw, at 11 A. M. and them being 40 acres of land by the groom's father. stocked and furnished by bride's father-in fact, it was thought by many who are familiar with the old gentlemen that they tried their level best to excel each other in liberality, and in their efforts they have certainly given their children one of the most comfortable and well-equipped homes of the neigh-borhood. Dancing and other amusements were indulged in until a late hour, and every one retired to their homes in the best cheer and a most pleasant impression of the event after showering their best wishes for the bride and groom's future. The Gardenville Band were there in all their glory and new uniforms, too, to make, as they do on all occasions when present, the moments fly with their most delightful music. Among those present were deorge W. Yellott, Treasurer of Baltimore County . Harman Schone, Henry Schone, Ernest Schaub John Combs, John Sippel, Frederick Meyer, George Kistner, Wm. Lutz, Lawrence Hoffstetter, John G Koppelman, Henry L. Koppelman, John H. Lutz Thomas Lutz, John Northrop, Henry Northrop, Philip Radecke, Henry Radecke, Harman Radecke, Robt, Grace, John A. Hoffstetter, Geo. Hoffstette: of L., Mr. Thomas, and many others. The Pool-Selling Ticket .- The case of Lynn & Wall, charged with seiling pool tickets at Arlington Driving Park against the provisions of the Act of Assembly of 1890, was called in the Circuit Court for Baltimore County the past week. They contended that they conducted a regular race course the same as conducted elsewhere, and that they violated no law by the sale of pool tickets. On the other hand the State contended that the sale of tickets on events to be ran upon other tracks was an express violation of the statute. Col. D. G. Mcntosh assisted the State's Attorney in the prosecu tion, and Hon. J. Fred. C. Talbott and Yellott & Otitt appeared as counsel for Messrs. Lynn & Wall The trial brought a large number of horsemen and porting men to Towson. Mr. George C. Tracy, Deputy Sheriff, on the part of prosecution, stated that he had visited Arlington Park and had purchased a pool ticket on a horse scheduled on the blackboard as Evangeline. At the head of the board were the words St. Louis. Westchester," "Arlington," There were no races at Arlington track. He paid $1 for the ticket on Evangeline and it was marked 12 to 1. Arab was announced as the winner. He saw a number of other tickets sold at the same time on the same race. The witness made a memorandum in a book for every ticket sold, and saw about 200 tickets sold at from $1 to $20 each. There were about 75 persons in the room, which was about 14 by 40 feet, and was at least 50 or 75 yards from the track.-Boys were playing ball on the track. The witness produced a slip cut from the Sun the day following, giving the result of the races, and said the result given in the Sun were the same as those announced in the pool-room. He described his purchase of a second ticket, and said he saw no spectators or judges stand such as are seen at agricultural fairs. Mr. John Smith, of Towson, had also visited there and bought tickets, and the tickets were exhibited. On the part of the defense Messrs, Egbert Halstead, John J. McCann. John H. Anderson, Dr. C. W. Filler, Noah Walker, Martin O'Brien, all said it was a regular race track, the same as other half-

Ball-Huntingdon es. Towson.-The Towson and Huntingdon Base Ball Clubs played an unex-exciting game of ball on the Towson grounds, which resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 15 to 5. The features of the game were the steady work of Stocksdale in the box and running catches by Gibson and Ensor, which called forth considerable applause. The Towsons batted Hussey's pitching hard and ran bases with good judgment, while their fielding was uncertain, several bad breaks occurring in the 4th and 9th innings. Following are the teams-Huntingdons-Lawrence, s.s., Hessey, p., l.f. Stewart, 1b., C. Hopkins, c., Sadler, c. f., A. Hopkins, I.f., p.: Belt, r.f., Gosnell, 3b.—Towsons— R. Isaac, c., H. McKay Not Guilty.-The Baltimore Postal authorities a few weeks since had Wm. S. McKay, a post office clerk, arrested upon the charge of stealing postal matter from the mails. It is stated that Mckay is a Democrat and the charge has been rought against him in order to furnish a reason that he might be termed an "offensive partisan" and thus be "fired out." The case needs a plain statement. When a carrier takes out mail matter and can not deliver it, he returns it to the office and marks it "not at" just before the No. written upon it. Newspapers, magazines and other printed matter is thrown into the waste basket. It is the practice of any clerk who may so desire to take home some of the reading matter from the waste basket and after reading it return it. The contents of the waste basket is usually sold for waste paper. It appears that Mckay retained some of the printed matter, and also removed a few foreign postage stamps from letters not delivered, giving the stamps to a friend who was collecting them as a curiosity. For this he was indicted by the United States Grand For this he was indicted by the office of the petit jury. When the case was tried before the petit jury and the inrv acquitted. McKay the facts came out, and the jury acquitted. McKay then promptly resigned. That was what was wanted. He was spunky enough, however, not to Favorable Report Upon a Public Road —On the 25th inst. Messrs. Wm. H. Walters, John S. Hays, and John S. Jones, appointed Examiners upon the petition of Adam Heinline, J. A. Sheritary Labor V. Beamble Learnh Faylon, J. W. Changh dan, John J. Bramble, Joseph Earlee, J. W. Crouch and others, for the opening of a public road in th 12th District, from near Charles' Station. Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad, to a point in the Middle River Neck, near the 14-mile crossing of the railroad, have made a favorable report to the County Commissioners, recommending the granting of the prayer of the petitioners, that it would be for the public convenience to do so, and two dangerous crossings of the railroad would be avoided. The length of the road is 11/2 miles, and it has been made and shelled and cindired and is now in first class condition. The County Commisioners accepted the road as a public road. They will close the old road as the new road superceder the old one. Mdelity and Deposit Company of Mary land.—The Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, recently organized under a charter granted by the Legislature, is having its rooms, 7 North Calvert street, handsomely fitted up. After July 1st the first floor will be occupied as the banking and general department, and the second will be used for the meeting of the directors and consultation with persons having business with the Company.— The latter is authorized by its charter to act as sure-

Kind Words from the Baltimore "Sun." In Monday morning's Sun, under the caption "Rural Baltimore." appeared quite a lengthy article, descriptive of Towson and the country surrounding, which deserves copying, which we do with pleasure, and thank our neighbor for the reference made to our town: Rural Baltimore-A Suburban Town Shewing Signs of an Awaking-Tewson's Origin and its Future-Why It Has Been Kept in the Background-Facilities for Reaching It-Quaint Incidents in Its History .- Desirability for Summer Residences, Perched five hundred feet above tide on the crest Sater Ridge, which extends from the upper part of Carroll county to the Surquehanna, and at the mouth of Dulany's Valley, is Towson, seven miles north of Baltimore. It has a location of which any uburban village might well be proud. Add to this its groves of magnificent caks, wainuts, chestnuts and maples, its wide, shady avenues, its comfortable homes, its hospitable residents, its pretty churches and its proximity to Baltimore, and you have just the place the hard-worked city business man would naturally select for his summer residence. Notwithstanding all this, Towson seems to have been unappreciated by those who should appreciate it most, for as yet there are but few Baltimoreans who make their home there during the warm weather. It is difficult to give a good reason for this. Among other reasons, and probably the more substantial ones, are the high rate at which property has been held, and the lack of adequate sacilities for getting to and from Baltimore. The greater portion of the property within the town has been held by the Smedley Company, which put an almost prohibitory price upon it, and thus largely provented its sale. Then, again, until a tew years ago there was no way of getting to and from Balti-more except by the primitive York Read Railway or by private conveyance. The advent of the Maryland Central Railroad made travel better, but even now traveling facilities are woefully inadequate. [The above reference to Mr. Enos Smedley (or the Smedley Company) does that gentleman much injustice, as he is one of the very best friends Towson from Dr. Bosley, for which he paid $400 per acre. He then laid it out in town squares, opened and rated his lots sufficient to remunerate him for his horses, en route for the West. outlay. The remark that the Smedley Company had "put an almost prohibitory price upon it and thus largely prevented its sale," is not only unkind but not correct ] But "it is a long lane that has no turning," the residents of Towson say, and they are confident now of brighter times for the future. A broadgauge road that will convey passengers from Tow-son to the business section of Baltimore in half an hour will be one of the improvements to follow the construction of the Belt Railroad. The introduction of electricity as a motive power, to replace horse power on the York Road Railway, will also improve the situation. Then, again, the throwing upon the market of a great number of building ots by the syndicate, composed of Messrs. Hubner Cone, Hanway, Condon and Rice, who have purchased the Owens property, "Aigburth Vale," and "Eudowood," the home of the late Thomas Stansbury, which adjoins it, will create a building boom hat cannot but result in the general prosperity of he town. The purchase of these properties and heir sale in building lots. Towson inhabitants say, s the best thing that has happened for Towson's benefit since the place was selected as the county seat, nearly forty years ago. They consider themlves particularly fortunate in having Mr. Joseph . Cone and John Hubner among the newcomers. To them, in a great measure, has been due the prosperity of Catonsville. To Mr. Cone's energy is due also the covering with pretty modern dwellings o a number of vacant lots in Baltimore which were eyesores to the neighborhoods in which they were situated. While in the past forty years Towson's growth has been steady though almost impreceptible, the deelopment of the stretch of country between it and Baltimore, and lying between the Falls and Harford l'urnpike, has been something remarkable. Property has greatly increased in value and now the completion of the Cedar Avenue Bridge, which is to cost $60,000, and which, crossing the Northern 'entral Railway tracks and Jones' Falls, will connect Mt. Royal Avenue with Cedar Avenue, will still further enhance it. The name of Cedar Ave nue, which now extends to Merryman's Lane, will be changed to Mt. Royal Avenue Extended, and the avenue will be extended to Wyndhurst Avenue, where it will connect with Roland Avenue, which runs along the crest of a lovely ridge. A mile further on Roland Avenue connects with Lake

Avenue. This will give a drive out Mt. Royal Avenue to Roland Avenue, around Lake Roland and back through Charles Street Avenue. In all the region, along the Falls Road, Roland Avenue Charles Street Avenue, the Bellona Road, York Road, the Hillen Road and the roads and avenues crossing them, the plain, everyday farms, which were operated solely to make money, have been di vided up and converted into handsome country seats by Baltimoreans, who live in the city during the winter and who, by this time, are being envised by their less fortunate fellow-beings who are compelled to remain in the hot city all summer. As a rule, the old farm-houses are occupied by overseers or farmers, who are employed to run the places while the owners live in more or less luxurious man sions, with wide verandas and surrounded by hand some lawns and groves. These houses alone have cost anywhere from $5,600 to $60,000 each, and many are still more expensive. Nearly all have pretty soft-sounding names, and are models of comfort convenience and luxury. FOUR HANDSOME PLACES. "Homewood Villa," the estate of William Wy man, on Charles Street, between Hampden Heights and Waverly, is one of these levely places. It contains 150 acres, and is a part of the Carroll estate, formerly called Homewood. The stately manorhouse, erected by Charles Carroll is still preserved Another is "Dumbarton Farm," the residence of Mr. Joseph H. Reiman. It is on the York Road, a short distance south of Towson contains 191 acres, and is noted for its splendid held of Jersey cattle. It is a portion of the original survey of "Friend's Discovery" and of a large tract owned at an early date by Governor Howard. The mansion was erected in 1853 by Robert A. Taylor, of whom Mr. Rei man purchased it in 1865. "Woodland," the country home of Mr. Richard J Capron, is situated on Roland Avenue, surrounded by 431 acres of highly improved land. This is one of the largest places in the neighborhood, part of which was formerly the estate of Hiram Woods.-Mr. Woods built the handsome residence now occupied by Mr. Capron, which is situated in a grove of English sycamores. The evergreen trees which he planted twenty-five years ago are now in perfection, "Montevideo," the estate of the late Augustus W. Bradford, Maryland's war Governor, adjoins that of Mr. Capron, and is partly occupied by the Eik-ridge Club. This was one of the most beautiful properties in Baltimore county. The old mansion which was built on a hill, near the present club house, was destroyed during the war by some of Col. Harry Gilmor's men, and has never been re built. Several attempts have been made to get the State to pay for this loss, but without success. OTHER SUBURBAN ESTATES. Among other suburban estates are: "Guilford, the country seat of the late A. S. Abell; "Tivoli," bello;" the estate of the late John W. Garrett; "Evergreen." the country seat of late T. Harrison Garrett: "St. Mary's," Mr. Wm. T. Walters' home during the hot weather; "Clover Hill," the summer home of Mr. Walter R. Abell; "Cedar Lawn," Mr. Jacob Albert's country seat; "Anneslie," the home of Mr. Frederick Harrison; "Stoneleigh," the residence of Mrs. George Brown, and "Highlands," the estate of Dr. Grafton Marsh Bosley. Bishop Paret, of the Diocese of Maryland, has recently purchased the old mansion on the "Highlands" estate from Dr. Bosley. This was erected by Dr. Grafton Marsh, Dr. Bosley's uncle. When Dr. Marsh died he left the estate to his brother Dr. Josiah Marsh, from whom Dr. Bosley inherited it, A large portion of "Highlands" is within the borders of Towson, the present courthouse grounds being originally a part of the estate. a short while hardly more than a memory. It is to be divided into not less than acre lots by the syndi-

"Aigburth Vale," that famous estate of that prince of commedians, John E. Owens, will be in cate which has purchased it, and these will soon be occupied by pretty residences. The mansion, however, where so many of the celebrities of the stage enjoyed the generous hospitality of "Solon Shingle," will retain enough of the land around it for handsome lawns. A short distance to the north of Aighurth Vale Judge N. Charles Burke has built a handsome home which he calls "Grevstone."-Among other handsome country seats in the northern suburbs are those of Messrs. D. S. Wilson, liam S. G. Baker, D. M. Perine, Richard H. Pleas-ants, Edward Myers, J. Hall Pleasants, H. C. Turnbull, Lawrence Turnbull, Chester Turnbull, John Stevenson, C. O'Donnell Lee, J. I. Fisher, Charles J. Bonaparte, W. D. SHEPPARD ASYLUM AND NOTRE DAME. Two magnificent institutions, the Sheppard Asylum and Notre Dame Convent and School, are within easy distances of Towson. The first, founded by the late Moses Sheppard, occupies a portion of the old "Mount Airy" farm, the estate of the late Thomas Poutney, of the "Bank of Maryland" fame. Notre Dame is a beautiful property of thirty-seven acres, which was purchased in 1872 from D. M. Perine and Joseph Reynolds. DULANY'S VALLEY.

Beginning almost in the heart of Towson and stretching away to the northeast is the far-famed Dulany's Valley, perhaps the most beautiful and the Gilmors, the Chews, the Hillens, the Hoffmans, the Jenifers, the Burkes and other old families.— The largest estate in the valley and one of the most valuable in Maryland is "Hampton," the home of the Ridgleys, containing several thousand acres. The huge old mansion, with its great halls, its terraced lawns and its beautiful roseries and gardens, sits back about three-quarters of a mile from the Dulany's Valley Pike, and is about a mile north of government of the estates of all tories deprived them of their magnificent property, which embraced some five thousand acres. It was represented to the Legislature of Maryland by influential Whig friends of the family that Daniel Dulany, the owner of the Dulany's Valley estates, had intended to give each of his three sisters five hundred acres of land and the General Acceptation of the dulanged acceptance.

Horatto Belt was an unthrifty man and died early, leaving his affairs in such a condition that his widow was obliged to sell what was left of the "Epping" estate—for a portion had already been sold to Joshua Marsh—to John Yellott, grandfather of ex-Judge Yellott. The Hansons sold "Springfield" prior to this time—1810—to Edward Pearce. The sisters were all distinguished for heavy and with Mrs. Belt lived writh guished for beauty and wit. Mrs. Belt lived until 1830, and there are many persons in Baltimore who remember her. Mrs. Fitzhugh was the most brilliremember her. Mrs. Figning was the most print-ant of the three, and lives in tradition and in the fragments of her correspondence that remain.— After the death, in 1841, of Daniel Dulany Fitzhugh, the son of Mary Dulany Fitzhugh, and his wife, who was a Miss Maynadier, of Talbot county, the whole of the Mindeer property passed into strange ORIGIN OF TOWSON.

As ancient history has been introduced, it may be fitting to give a brief sketch of the origin of Towson, Towsontown as it was known in its early days, d as many of its old residents still prefer to call It is often supposed that it was named in honor f Gen. Nathan Towson, who organized a battery r artillery in the place which did gallant service on the Canadian frontier during the war of 1812. This is erroneous, however, for the place was known as "Towsontown" long before he was born. The name came from the Towson family who, in the early days of the county, kept Towson's Tavern, in the locality. The first mention of this family on record is in 1771, when Samuel Worthington, one of the Justices of the Levy Court, paid Thomas Towson the bounty on 113 aquirrel skins. The next is in 1796, when Thomas Stanshury was appointed Sn. in 1796, when Thomas Stansbury was appointed Su-York Turnpike was being laid out, Ezekiel Towson was very much dissatisfied with the line which had been adopted, because, perhaps, it did not pass his tavern, and he petitioned the Legislature for a change in his favor. The General Assembly considered that Towson had a good grievance, and, as he was willing to give that portion of his land through which the road should pass, enacted that the turnpike should pass "by or near Towson's town got its name.

THE BUILDING OF THE TOWN. For years and years it was an insignificant little place, consisting only of the lavern, which fraquently changed hands, a dozen or so scattered the most important part of the village, as was conhas ever had. He purchased over 50 acres of land clusively shown by its owner having the line of the place amounted to anything, and before it was even graded six streets, planted several hundred shade for teamsters on their way to Pittsburg, and there trees, besides building a large hotel, all at his own | are a number of residents of Towson who rememexpense, and spending about $20,000 in trying to and below the village, there stretched an unbroken get railroad communication to the town. He only line of great Conestoga wagons, drawn by six AS THE COUNTY SEAT

The selection of the quiet little village for the county seat, in 1854, and the erection of the handsome Court House created no little excitement and enthusiasm, and gave the place what might be termed a miniature boom, for "booms" existed at that time. Since then things have been going on quietly, evenly, smoothly, removed criminal cases from Baltimore city creating the greater part of the town's excitement. In speaking of this feature of Towson's history, a prominent resident said: "The Court Room walls have not space enough to hold the pictures of all the Baltimore rogues who have been tried here." No rich men have lived in Towson, and its people say that it has been made what it is to-day by the people of comparatively small means who have made their homes there. The place is still a village, though it was once a regulary incorporated town. INCORPORATED AS A TOWN.

A spasm of ambition struck it in 1869, and the ries were a mile square, with the junction of the York Road and Dulany's Valley Turnpike for the centre. In 1872, after two years, the act of incorpo-ration was repealed by the Legislature, for reasons recently given in The Sun, and Towsontown, as the | upon business. She went at once to interview sevplace was then called, went back to the simplicity eral of her white sisters, by whom she was sumof its villagehood. In this condition it has remained ever since.

There are several quaint old buildings in the town, one of them being the Epsom Free Church, in which many distinguished clergymen have preached. It is a plain little structure about 20 by 40 feet, and was built half a century ago on land given by Henry B. Chew, and was to be used by all december the property of the denominations in common. It is used now almost entirely by the Methodist Protestants. It is said to be the first church ever built in Towson, and stands on the foundations of the old powder magazine used during the war of 1812. The village has a tennis club, whose grounds are a model of what tennis grounds should be. These divide the interest of the young people with an amateur base ball club, which is one of the best in the State. It has been beaten but once in two years on its own grounds.

Taken all in all, Towson is a pretty and very desirable place to live in, and it is strange that this has not been taken advantage of long ago.

PERSONAL. Among the visitors to Towson last week was Mr. Thomas J. Hill, who was a bailiff of the Circuit Court for Baltimore County during the term of the Hon. John H. Price upon the bench in the Circuit Court from 1855 to 1864. Mr. Hill is now 83 years old, but has fair health and remembers well his days of activity here. He came to Towson to visit old friends who were glad to greet him. Mr. Hill now resides with his sister in Prince George county. Rev. W. F. Speake, Presiding Elder of East Baltimore District, M. E. Church, preached an interesting sermon in the Towson M. E. Church on Sunday in the Missioners. morning last. He also addressed the Missionary Society in the afternoon. Rev. Page Milburn, the pastor, preached at Govanstown at 11 A. M. and at is own church in the evening. Prof. John H. Hewitt, the well-known musician and poet, lies seriously ill at his residence, 1502 east North Avenue. He is now 89 years old, and the oldest living graduate of West Point Military Academy, having entered it in the year 1818. Mr. Charles N. Phipps, who a few weeks since went from Towson to Harriman, Ternessee, was made President of the Epworth League connected with the First Methodist Episcopal Church on the 16th inst. Mr. Phipps is very much pleased with his new home and is doing a good business. We wish him success. Mr. Edward Lee, brother of Mr. J. W. Lee, was n Towson on Monday. He came to attend the funeral of his sister, Miss Rebecca Lee. Mr. Lee resides in Washington, D. C., and is a passenger conductor on the B. & O. R. R. which runs from Washton to Philadelphia He has been in the employ of the B. & O. for many years. He was accompanied by his daughter Miss Rosa.

Miss Lelia Powers, eldest daughter of Rev. W. H. H. Powers, Rector of Trinity Church, Towson, took first distinctive honors for general excellence in studies and English composition at Edge Hill Academy, Keswick, Va., and Marguerite Powers, another daughter, was awarded premium for latin at Miss Baldwin's Seminary at Staunton, Va. Mr. William Bayne, (son of Mr. John Bayne, of Baynesville, east of Towson.) who has been in business in Cleveland. Obio, for a number of years, was on a visit to his parents the past week. He addressed the Towson M. E. Sunday School on Sunday last. Mr. Bayne is Superintendent of a Sunday School in Cleveland numbering 600 members Mr. Wesley S. Perine has been appointed manager for Mr. William Hopps, who recently purchased the Stansbury property.

Judge N. C. Burke, of Towson, attended the commencement exercises of Mt. St. Mary's College, at Emmittsburg, Md., the past week. Misses Maud Rice and Maggie Herman were present at the closing exercises of Gettysburg College the past week.
The Rev. Wm. H. Hubbard, the recently appointed pastor of Sater Baptist Church, is well known in Towson, having at one time conducted a wheelwright shop in the town. Mr. Otto Duker, senior member of the well-known firm of Otto Duker & Co., Baltimore, has rented for the summer the Craig cottage, on Woodbourne Avenue, and will sniff the pure air in Baltimore county during the hot months. Ex-Judge Wm. A. Fisher, who has been ill the past two or three weeks, is convalescing, and expects to be able to attend to business in a few days. A Scrap and the Outcome.—Early on Sunday morning about a dozen foreign workmem employed at Steelton shook the dust of that great seat of industry off their feet, and in a very few minutes were making merry at a tavern just on the out-skirts of the town. One by one the younger members sank into drunken stupors on chairs or anything else of his horses was hurt, but not seriously. clung to the bar. Michael had gotten away with about twenty-five bottles of beer, when something about the personal appearance of Paul displeased him, and he immediately showed his dislike by placing Paul's head under his arm and smashing his cranium with a beer bottle, Paul tried to make a protest, but another well-directed bottle hit him under the left ear and put him to sleep. Paul was cut pretty badly, but all were so inebriate that it was daylight on the following morning before Paul discovered the extent of his injuries. He bandaged up his head, and then started to tramp to Canton to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Michael. It took 'Equire Dorsey all day Monday and Tuesday to understand Paul's lingo, and it was not until Wednesday afternoon that the writ was served. One of the county officers discovering the whereabouts of Michael, landed him and a number of witnesses at the 'Squire's office. The testimony created a great amount of mirth, and after listening to the men for nearly an hour Squire Dorsey sent Midhael to the Towson jail.—Baltimore American. Not Very Bright for Rapid Transitly Elec-tricity.—There are two ordinances which Mayor Davidson has before him, of which he desires to ascertain the views of people who are interested, or who may be affected, before disposing of them. They are the ordinance granting permission to the Pimlico and Pikesville Railroad to erect overhead valuable farming tract in Maryland. In it are the electric wires for the use of cars along Francis historic homesteads of the Ridgleys of Hampton, Street from Retreat Street to Fulton Avenue; thence to Reisterstown Turnpike to Woodberry Avenue, and along Park Heights to the city limits. Also, the ordinance granting permission to the Baltimore and Powhatan Railway to use storage electricity, or such other motive power, except steam, as the company may elect, beginning at the terminus of the North Baltimore Passenger Railway, at the end of Edmondson avenue, and ending at the northern Dulany's Valley Pike, and is about a mile north of Towson. The original name of the valley was the Valley of Jehosaphat. The name by which it is now known is derived from that of Daviel Dulany, who received it as an original grant from the King of England, and there is quite a romantic story connected with it. Dulany was a poor but a while the major refuses to sign these bills it will be a severe blow to rapid transit on the York Road. We trust the Mayor will sign the bills. Monkton Items.—Last Sunday morning, 22d inst., opening up clear and beautiful our good friend Mr. James A. Shepperd invited us to a seat in his buggy and treated us to a ride through part of that magnificent country known as "My Lady's Manor," in the 10th District. We started out on the Monkton and Manor Road through the fine farms of Messas. John W. Merryman, Thos. J. Miller. Charles and George Anderson, Col. M. W. Offutt, Mrs. Selda Emory, Mr. William Price, Mrs. Dr. Hutchins, the fine old rectory of St. James, occupied by the Rev. George K. Warner; to St. James, occupied by the Rev. George K. In looking Moore, of Harford county, made a trip to York, Pa., A Trip to Tork, Pa.—The National Hedge some there which were near and dear to us in life and are sacred in death. In partially retracing our had open barouches for the ladies and a large four-way we met a goodly number of well-dressed chil-

through the town and out on the Water Mill Road to the farm of Mr. Ferdinand Merkel, where there was a piece of hedge fence work in all its stages, showing a fine sample of what nice work can be done by the Company. There was a long piece of the original Osage Orange hedge as it grew strag-gling and wide in every direction; then a short piece that had just been cut and wired, and the buds were just starting afresh, giving a clear idea of the work; then another piece that had been wired or plashed, as the technical term has it, in the early spring, and a piece that had been treated last year and trimmed the past spring, which showed that this fence, with but little attention after the first work, can be kept in first-class condition, and also proving that it will not take up any more of the land than an ordinary rail fence. It is stated that it can be put up at the same cost, with the advantage that instead of wearing out and hav-ing to be replaced in after years, it will last for generations to come, and will at all times prove to be an attractive ornament, and give an added improvement to a farm by its sightly appearance.

After the inspection of the fence the entire party were then driven out to the western suburbs of the city to Farquhar Park, where several newly-planted hedge fences were inspected en route. From the Park Heights a magnificant view of the city and the surrounding country in the York Valley was had, as also Codorus Creek, which runs through the city, winding its way in picturesque fashion across the country. The handsome cottages built on the suburbs are of the finest design and finish and of quaint and curious style of architecture, no two being alike, thus presenting a varied picture to the eye in any direction you look. The shingle roofs are worked in different patterns of shingles that have a most pleasing effect, while the slate presents are effective contrast with their red tile finishings. From the heights the city presented a clean, white appearance that one seldom sees when overlooking a city, but this thriving hive of industry, even in the busy marts, presents a singularly neat and clean appearance. Even the large machine shop and agri-cultural works seem to be free of that sooty appear-ance and dirt and grime that is the general accompaniment of such works. The entire party were then driven to a hotel in the city where an opportunity was given for the lavatory processes, inward and outward, and dinner was announced. There was an abundance provided such as only Pennsylvanians know how, and the remissioners of Baltimore county.

Mr. Cockey in reply to this introduction in a jocular vein said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I do not know vhy you brought these newspaper fellows among They are general nuisances and won't let a fe low alone when he has the utmost desire to remain quiet and unseen. I say to you I came here because was invited, and I have enjoyed this trip immense y because it was all at your expense; and I say to you frankly that I am no orator, and if I was ever so much disposed to talk, how could I do so under he present condition of the atmosphere, when I see right here at the table with me a man who bears the name of Woolen, and just think of having to carry "How to Obtain Patents," with name of actual clisuch a name on such a hot day as this. [Loud laughter.] I can only say that I heartily concur in what has been so ably said by the gentlemen who preceded me."

Mr. D. W. Crider, President of the National Hedge Fence Company, and Mr. W. T. Nelson being called upon expressed their thanks for the good wishes expressed, and on motion the assemblage was adourned without day, and the visitors then took a troll about the town. Hedge Fence as exhibited as a durable, sightly and tasteful fence, and just the thing desired by farmers everywhere. The visitors are greatly indebted to J. F. Mitze of the York Daily Dispatch, who was all courtesy and attention. A call was made at the Dispatch office and the visitors shown through the business office, editorial rooms, job office, composing rooms press rooms, and engine rooms, where it was see t once that it was a busy hive of industry, and that the Dispatch has a full corps of men who all give close and strict attention to their particular line each department. Mr. S. G. Boyd, formerly Manager of the M. C. R

R., editor and proprietor of the York Weekly, also welcomed the visitors on their arrival at the depot and inquired after his friends in Baltimore count A call was also made on Mr. and Mrs. Walter I Ruby at their residence, and they were found happy nd contented and satisfied to take life as they Dr. C. H. Nieman, one of the original projector of the Hedge Fence Company, was visited at his dental room and was found busy with his tooth machine, and evidences of prosperity are apparent in his splendidly-equipped parlors. The Dr. was pleased to hear from his Baltimore county friends and entertained his visitors according to Maryland At the railroad station the evidences of the in portance of York is visible in the magnificent railroad station recently built by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. It is not exceeded by Union Station, in Baltimore, in beauty of finish and d sign, and roomy, commodious quarters - ticket offices, baggage rooms, layatory and retiring rooms are models of elegance and taste, and have all the modern and latest approved conveniences for con fort. The tracks are being moved and straightened, and soon that section will put on a look in harmony with the finer parts of the town. That the future utlook is bright in every point of view all these things fully attest. PROPERTY TRANSFERS.

Rosedale Items.—The wheat grop is now being harvested. An average crop will be gathered. Nothing has yet been done towards repairing the Red House Road Bridge, which fell into the stream during the rain storm of the 26th of May. It is thought by those competent to judge that a bridge of 100 feet span laid upon piles should have been contracted for in the first place. The present structure is only 30 feet long, and was entirely unsuitable to resist the vast volume of water which rushes down this stream during heavy rains. It is a measure of economy to build a large, strong bridge Last Sunday a gentleman from the city was injured by falling from the narrow plank stretched between the bridge and the bank.

We have a Building Association which meets on Tuesday nights.

Mr. August Kahler will hold a pio-nic at Rosedale Park, on Monday, June 80th.

Phomix. Free Transfers on the York Road.—Mr. Nelson Perin, President of the York Road Railway, announces that all passengers in the York Road cars coming from Waverly, who may desire a transfer from the York Road to the cars of the Union line, which goes down South street, then into Pratt and finally out Columbia Avenue to the end of the Station where they connect with the Catonsville cars, can get them at Holliday street until the Union line f cars run over the York Road tracks.
