GEORGE WILLIAM BROWN.

The people of Baltimore were greatly surprised on Saturday last to learn of the sudden death of Hon. George William Brown, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city, which event took place at Monok Lake, New York, where the Judge and his family were passing a few days of recreation.

The cause of death was apoplexy. As he was in excellent health, the surprise to his people was the greater. The Judge had not been sick for the past fifteen years and none of his family had the least suspicion of death from apoplexy, and there was no warning of any kind therefrom.

Judge Brown was born in Baltimore, October 18th, 1812, and was, therefore, nearly seventy years old. He was educated at the University of Maryland, and completed it at Rutgers College, New Jersey. Upon completion of his collegiate course he entered the law office of Judge Turpin, and in 1839 formed a law partnership with the late Frederick W. Brown, Gen. Stewart Brown is at present of the law firm of Brown & Brune, Frederick J. Brown, his son, being a member.

His affairs, but it was not until the fall of 1888 that he became prominent. At that time he was much lawless in the city and Judge Brown, with other good citizens summoned the torrent, but it was at the sacrifice of bodily injury. At the polls at the 10th Ward he was assaulted by ruffians and repeatedly stabbed with a knife, but he held his position as a challenger of the law, and in the end he was elected as a consequence. In 1890 Mr. Brown was elected Mayor. On the memorable 10th of April, 1891, he marched at the head of the Massachusetts troops, which were attacked in the streets by a mob, and with the police remained with the troops until they reached the Court House. At that time he was accompanied by the late F. S. Corkan and other citizens, visited President Lincoln and explained matters to him, which satisfied the President. Subsequently, however the Mayor was arrested at the instance of Henry M. Stanton, Secretary of War, and sent to the military prison at Fort Monroe, Virginia, where he was confined for a year and released in 1863.

Mr. Brown was a member of the State Constitutional Convention of 1857. In 1872 he was elected as Chief Justice of the Supreme Bench, and in 1882 was re-elected at the age of seventy. The Legislature extended his term until 1887, when it expired, and the Judge left public life. Since then he visited Europe and generally has enjoyed himself.

No man stood higher in integrity in all the walks of life than Judge Brown. He was a man of high character, and his death is a loss to the community. He was a man of high character, and his death is a loss to the community. He was a man of high character, and his death is a loss to the community.

His funeral took place on Monday evening, at St. Paul's R. C. Church, at 8 o'clock. The interment was at Greenmount, the pall-bearers being Frederick W. Brown, Dr. H. Barton Brown, Robert Riddell Brown, George Dobbin Brown, Dr. Robert Morrison, Robert Brown, nephew of the deceased, and General Stewart Brown, his former law partner.

At the funeral, Judge Brown celebrated his golden wedding October 23rd, 1889. Besides his wife, four children survive. They are—Arthur George Brown, a member of the law firm of Brown & Brune, Frederick J. Brown, Ellen S. Brown, and Mrs. Mary L. Hartwell, wife of Dr. E. M. Hartwell, who is traveling in Europe. Mrs. Hartwell is also traveling in Europe.

LOCAL NEWS.

Chief of Tinsmiths Parade—Friday, the last day of the Tinsmiths' parade, was a very successful one. The parade was taken in the track every one on the previous days. The ladies were out in large numbers, and the parade was a very successful one.

At a meeting of the Democratic of the 8th Election District of Anne Arundel county, held on Saturday, 30th August, resolutions were passed favorable to Mr. Compton, and a committee was appointed to solicit his election by such a majority as shall defy a contest by his opponent.

There is not a shadow of doubt that Hon. Harris Compton will be unanimously nominated in the Fifth District. Thus far no one else has been named from any of the counties composing the district.
