F. I. DUNCAN, State's Attorney. Tariff Reform Club .- The regular fortnightly nectings of the Cleveland Tariff Reform Club of Baltimore County, Washington Stevenson, President, S. C. Tomay, Secretary, were resumed after the summer recess on Tuesday night last, 9th inst. here was a discussion on business topics by Messrs. Wm. M. Risteau, H. C. Turnbull, Jr., and Washington Stevenson. The Tariff Reform meeting that was to have been held at Pen-Mar, has been postponed on account of members of Congress being too closely engaged to leave Washington during the session. Mr. Geo. C. Stokes, Jr., was proposed as a member of the Club, and his name was referred to the Committee on Membership. The Club then adjourned to most again on Tuesday night, 23d inst. Maj. After this, the ladges were removed in Mr. Cowen's carriage, he says, exempts certain classes of property on certain streets from taxation for periods varying from to 30 years. The plan works well and the city boasts in consequence of avenues bordered almost entirely by private residences like palaces. Another improvement in Buda-Pesth was the abolishment last April of the public baths in the Danube, where men and women formerly bathed together. The city has fine Roman and Turkish baths and is the home of the gypsies.—Baltimore Sun. The Joppa Road.—The property owners along the Joppa Road, east of Sherwood Station, on the N. C. R. R., having contributed $425 towards the improvement of the road, the County Commissioners on the 10th authorized the Road Commissioners to spend $300 additional to have the road Macadamized. The contributors and amounts are as follows: George W. Abell. $100; Charles C. Homer,

$50; C. P. Laurenson, $25; George Hoff, $25; John M. Nelson, $25; H. Imwold, $25; Frank H. Hoff, $25; Nicholas M. Smith, $25; Right Rev. William Paret, $25; Mrs. Mary A. Worley, $25; John L. Mid-dleton, $20; S. E. Poultney, $10; Mrs. L. R. Stevenson, $10; Henry A. Parr, $25; Wm. T. Foster, $10. To Macadamize a Road .- Dr. James F. Gorsuch, of the 11th District, appeared before the Board of County Commissioners on the 9th inst. and stated that property holders along the line of the road leading from Baldwin Station, on the Maryland Central Railroad, to Fork, on the Harford Road, would contribute broken stone valued at $245, to put upon the road if the County Commissioners would contribute one-half of that amount to have the same laid upon the road and make other improvements along the same. The proposition was agreed to and Mr. Henry Gorsuch was appointed to superintend the repair of the road, An Improvement in Carriage Curtains .-Mr. Robert D. Morrison, the well-known Baltimore lawyer, who resides at Lutherville, had on exhibition at the Timonium fair a new and unique carriage curtain, to work on spring rollers. Instead of the old curtain, which is buttoned on and which has occasioned the use of so much strong language. the curtain is attached to a spring roller at the top of the wagon or button and slides up_and down through grooves made in the uprights. The curtain can be drawn down to any distance, thus giving the occupants plenty of air as well as protecti from the sun and storm. Mr. Morrison has obtained a patent for the invention. Billy Sellman .- On Wednesday, 10th inst., Billy Sellman, colored, or as he is better known as Laughing Billy," was declared an insane pauper and was sent by order of Court to the Spring Grove Asylum at Catonsville. Dr. J. Piper testified that his mental condition was becoming worse, Mr. Wm. M. Risteau testified to his having frequent fits and becoming quarrelsome and dangerous, and to his having been arrested frequently of late. Billy was put on the stand and told of his having talks with spirits, and that then he had these fits and things flew away from him.

Error .- In the JOURNAL's report last week of the awarding of the contract to erect the new school house at Starr's Corner, 11th District, to Mr. S. P. Demuth, we gave the contract price as $3,895. it should have been $2.895, a figure "3" having been accidentally substituted for a figure "2." As there were other bidders for the house, and their bids being under the price named, this statement is made that the error was the printer's, and he thus makes due reparation, and to save the President of the Board, Mr. Rankin, from being hauled over the Baptist Association .- The 20th annual meetng of the Middle District Baptist Association will held at Sater's Church on Thursday and Friday. 18th and 19th inst. In addition to the regular bush ness transacted, there will be sermons preached morning, afternoon and night on the aret day, and morning and afternoon on the second, to which the 6. Rogers, Secretary of the Board of School Commissioners of Baltime County, opened his mail he was surprised to find ten $5 bills in crisp new notes of the National Bank Laurel, Md., accompanied by the following laconic note, without date or signature, or other explanation : "Mr. Rogers-Dear Sir : Please deposit the enclosed $50 to the credit of the Public Schools of Baltimore county." Too Much Solld Corn .- George Woods, a colored man from Baltimore county, was admitted to the Marylann General Hospital, Baltimore county, on Sunday last, 7th inst., suffering intensely from pain in the stomach. He was almost insane from pain caused by eating sixteen cars of corn. Dr. Edgar attended him, and he is now much improved. A Narrow Escape from Death by Light-ming.—On Friday afternoon, 5th inst., at about 5.40 o'clock P. M., Mr. T. L. Mason, a telegraph opera-tor of the Northern Central Railway at Canton Junction tower, and Mr. Geo. W. W. Smith, Jr., his assistant, were knocked senseless and nearly killed by an overcharge of lightning which the ground wire was unable to carry off. Mr. Mason, who is a very careful man, and who is in the habit of keeping away from the instrument table as much as possible during a thunder storm, had removed his chair to a supposed safe distance and was sitting with his back to the table; unfortunately, however, in juxtaposition to a set of four switch levers. Run Away Accidents .- On Tuesday, 9th inst., Mrs. Douglas C. Kenly, who resides near Waverly, accompanied by Miss Fannie Webb, of Providence. who is a guest at her house, started to drive in a light high-seated road-cart to the Hotel Rennert to meet Mr. Kenly and an employed governess. Mrs. Kenly held the lines, and when in front of Mr. John K. Cowne's residence, southeast corner of Charles Street avenue and Eifth street, the horse stumbled and fell. Mrs. Kenly was pitched over the dashboard. As she fell headforemost to the cobblestones, she extended her left arm to lessen the violence of the shock. The ferce of the fall she was slightly bruised on the side. Her nose was also badly disfigured, but otherwise she was not hurt. Both the ladies were taken into Mr. Cowen's residence, which, fortunately, was just being pre-pared for the reception of Mr. and Mrs. Cowen, who have been spending the summer in the country. Dr. Archibald Atkinson, was immediately summoned. He placed Mrs. Kenly, who was suffering intense pain, under the influence of chloroto Mr. Kenly's residence. On Tuesday afternoon, 9th inst., as Mr. C. E. Whitehurst, and his sister, Miss Camella Whitehurst, were driving in a light phaeton along the drive at the rea lion pond. They were driving in the direction of the Garrett Bridge, when the right of his former congregation in that short time.

J. F. H. This frightened the horse, which ran away, and in attempting to mount a steep slope on the side of the drive, a short distance from Garrett Bridge, upset the vehicle, throwing the occupants out. The animal freed itself from the harness, and fied through the woods. Several of Miss Whitehurst's front teeth were knocked out, and her forchead was slightly cut. A gentleman came along in a buggy, and took the lady to her home. Mr. Whitehurst was only slightly bruised, and returned home in a street car. The horse was captured near he Mansion House by Policeman Schoold, and taken to Captain Cassell's barn. The phaeton was slightly damaged A horse attached to a buggy and owned by Edw. . Clark, a member of the Baltimore bar, while atanding on the premises of Mr. John Clark, corner of Highland Avenue and Philadelphia Road, be came frightened at a milk can which he knocked off a fence to which he was tied and ran away, crashing through a pailing fence, completely demolishing the buggy and cutting himself about the legs severely. Finding himself free from the buggy, he leaped over another fence into the road, a di tance of not less than thirty feet. Fortunately damage amounts to about $75. Base Ball-Catonsville vs. Towson.-The Towsons on Saturday, 6th inst., for the third successive time defeated the Combination team Catonaville on the Towson ground by a score of 2 to 1, in the presence of a large crowd. McGann and Carson were the battery for the visitors, and their work was very good, while that of Stocksdale and Ensor for the Towsons was even better. The Combinations fielded finely, for most of their balls came red-hot from the bat, and a neat double by Cummins, Scharf and Guard was their feature .-The Towsons had two nice double plays, and Marley caught two difficult files. There was quite a discussion over the last run which was scored by the Towsons, the Combinations claiming that Euser had been touched at third. Cummins, the baseman who made the play, attempted to touch the runner as he passed him, and then after he had overslid the base made a second dive after him.-Most present thought the runner out on the first attempt to touch him, but considered that Ensor had returned to the base before he was touched on the second effort of the third baseman. The umpire decided it not out. Cummins after the game admitted that he had not touched the runner on the

The Colored School House at Catensville.—
The following is the report submitted to the School impaired. His mind is a perfect storehouse of facts. Commissioners on the subject: BALTIMORE, September 9th, 1890. To the Hon, the Board of County School Commissioners of Baltimore County:
The report of Oregon R. Benson, to whom was referred the question of repairing the colored school house at Catonsville, respectfully shows: That on or about 1864 Alex. Gould and wife conveyed unto Remus Adams and others, as trustees, the lot on which said house is erected, to be used by them in trust for the erection of a school house for the education of the colored children of Catonsville; that said house was built by funds contributed in part from the Freedman's Bureau, and by individuals in the neighborhood, and has for a long time been in the possession of this Board, free from rent and used as a public school of the county; that some two or three years ago the said Remus Adams having been advised that there was some mission or deficit in the original deed, sought and procured from the aurylving co-trustees a deed of said property under which he now claims absolute title in fee, in evidence whereof he has entered an ejectment proceeding against this Board to obtain possession, which will be tried in the course of a few weeks. All efforts to obtain from said Adams recognition of title in this Board have failed, and this house being in a dilapidated condition the children are without proper school accommodations. He further expects that it would be futile to expend any further sums of money on said building at this time, unless said Adams will enter into some fair agreement with this Board to refund said money if he shall ultimately succeed in establishing a legal title to said lot and premises under his deed, or will at once make a deed to this Board of Osborne, c.; Dall, l. f.; McClaytor, r. f. Mrs. Gross called the little girl, and the infant boy trying to get out of the wagon in haste fell and fractured his left arm. The radius was broken about a third from the wrist. Dr. Viers Mace reduced the fracture, and Master Ed gar is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances. A number of people resident here attended the Saitimore County Fair last week. We are sorry that it was impracticable to embrace the kindness of Mr. J. Sewell Clarke, who tendered us a berth in his carriage destined for Timonium. Mr. Clarke will accept our gratitude. We regret to state that Mr. Thomas Biddison, o Middle River Neck, continues ill. The annex building at Back River Church has been temporarily postponed, there being some mis-understanding in the matter. The building is needed and would prove a source of satisfaction and advantage. In our last communication we noticed that Mr. James M. Gillespie had some fine peaches. Meakten Bens.—The call extended to the Rev. George K. Warner by a congregation in Alabama, has put his numerous friends in a state of trepidation, as he has labored so faithfully in the years that have passed and built up a congregation that would certainly be loth to part with him now after his many years of pastoral work. This is the second time the call has been extended.

Quite a lively trial took place at the Monkton Hall a few days ago. Wm. E. Miller: Road Commissioner of the 7th District, was the plaintiff, and Thomas Armacoat the defendant. Under section 194 of the Amended Road Law passed April 8th, 1890, Mr. Armacoat was charged by Mr. Miller with obstructing certain roads in the 7th District since the Act had passed, and refused to remove such obstruction after being duly notified so to do, thereupon a few attractions are recommended.

Middletence Items.—The death of Mss. Morris, wife of Salem R. Morris, near Freeland, on the 2d inst., was a sad and unexpected occurrence. She, in company with her niece. was visiting her neighbor. They remained for supper, of which she partook heartily, and then started for home. She had gone but a short distance before she realized that her sight had left her, also at about the same time she was deprived of motion—a paralytic stroke. She was asked by her niece what could be done, and her reply was, "It is all over with me." She important took place ou Friday following at Mt. Zion Cemetery and was largely attended. The exercises were conducted by the Rev. J. S. Bowers, of Stewartstown, Ps. Mrs. M. was in her 61st year, and then started for home. Delila Morris. Delila Morris, wife of Salem R. Morris and siste of Rev. A. D. Dick, pastor of Epsom M. P. Church Towson, departed this life near Freelands, Balti more county. Md., September 30th. in the 61st year of her age. She was well and favorably known in the neighborhood where she had resined nearly a of her life and where she had been a member of the church from her girlhood until her death.— The high regard in which she was held in her neighborhood and church was evinced in the large and sympathizing congregation which attended her funeral, which was held in Mt. Zion M. P. Church, of which she was a member, conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. S. Bowers. She was devoted to he church, and was ready to help in efforts for the advancement of Christ's cause as she had ability.— Her influence will be felt for good, and, though dead, she will speak to the hearts of those who were witnesses of her consistent Christian charac ter. She will be sadly missed, especially by her be-reaved husband, her daughter, and many other re-lations and friends, who do not mourn without hope, because as she lived for Christ, so she found i gain to die. In the cemetery of Mount Zion Church she was laid to rest until the resurrection morn when God will bring His own to be glorified

N. G. Keirle. Both eyes were blackened and there was a deep-seated bruise on the left temple and another on the back of the head. The skin on the skin the head was contused and appeared to have been caused by a kick. The skull was not fractured, but the opinion that death was caused by appoplexy.— He found that Cornelius was suffering from kidney trouble, which caused the blood yessels to become brittle and easy broken, and the shock of the blows on the head probably burst the blood vessels, which might not have been the case in a perfectly healthy man.

A Curious Accident.—On Sunday last, 7th inst., while the funeral services of Mrs. Sarah E. Dorsey were in progress at the Baptist Church at Piker ville, just at the pall-bearers were about to place the coffin upon the stand at the chancel railing, A stable and corn house on the property of Mr. the flooring over the baptistry gave way and the Adam Buppert, were totally destroyed by fire on the coffin, two of the pall-bearers, Mr. McDaniel and afternoon of the 8d inst. The origin of the fire is a daughter of the dead woman fell through. Two of the pall-bearers happened to be on a solid por-tion of the flooring and caught hold of the chancel rail, and in this way prevented the comin from falling entirely to the bottom of the baptistry. Many persons crowded around, and others thinking that he entire church was about to fall down, rushed for the doors. The clergyman, who was conducting the funeral, and Mr. McDaniel managed t quiet those present, after which the coffin and those in the baptistry were extricated from the timbers and the coffin was taken outside of the church. Mr. Wagner was the only person injured. He was badly bruised and had his shoulder dislocated. After quiet was restored the casket was again brought in and the services gone through with. The interment was in the churchyard.

Shoriff's Fees.-The County Commissioners on the 10th inst., on consultation with Mr. R. R. [Written for the MARYLAND JOURNAL.] A TRIBUTE. From His Pupil and Friend, TO THE MEMORY OF THE REV. Dr. A. S. BETTELHEIM, WHO DIED AND WAS BURIED AT SEA,

Behold an Israelile indeed, in whom there was no guile." 'Tis midnight on the solemn sea: Slow sails the stately ship along:
I'ale moonlight silvers o'er the scene,
And wanly lights a trembling throng
Of strangers, gathered round the bier
Of One whom distant hearts hold dear; Who wait his coming to their shore; But shall behold his face no more! Encircled by the saddened band, A lifeless Form, the Rabbi lay: Untended by those loving hands Waiting to serve him, far away; Yet awathed in cerements of such grave As lies beneath the surging wave: Its pall the banner of the free. The stars and stripes of Liberty. O, heart that beat for all mankind. Is thy warm tide forever chilled?

O, hand that labored for thy race. Why are thy potent pulses stilled ! Great mind to plan the good he wrought; Teacher who practiced what he taught; Brave champion of God's high laws, Could he forsake Truth's holy cause He answers not: those lips are dumb. That ear, though never dull before, Heeds no appeal. His eyes are closed On earthly sights forever more At last that teeming brain is still; Nor hand nor foot obeys his will Who, ever at the call of grief, Hastened with comfort and relief.

Then, through the stillness of the night, Ries the voice of fervent prayer, In plaintive, cadenced Hebrew strains That thrill upon the shuddering air. Each head is bowed; all knees are bent, Under the starry firmament As, reverently, there, is said The solemn service for the dead. "O Lord and Father, righteous Judge, Blest be thy Name, and blest be Thou! Sole King of all the Universe, Before thy throne we meekly bow.

Thou givest life to sons of men: 'Tie thou that takest it again. Thy mighty arm is strong to save: Thy mercies reach beyond the grave. "God of our Fathers, bend thine car, And hear our supplicating cries, For this true son of Jerael, Who under Death's dominion lies. With faith like Abraham's of old, As Moses meek, as Daniel bold. He sang to David's tuneful lyre. And preached with great Isalah's fire 'Lord of the Spirits of all Flesh, To thy sure mercies we commend The soul that has departed hence, Thy faithful servant, and our friend. Thy Law was ever in his heart; He lived its treasures to impart.

Grant him forever blest to be In thy supreme felicity. And oh! for those who hold him dear. Shield and Protector, hear us pray, Those stricken but unconsciou Who wait the sorrows of this day. Thy balm of Gilead bestow. And heal the desolating woe Of hearts that fondly round him twine, And his dear memory enshrine." Scarce died the mournful tones away When one low whispered word was said. Then, launched alone upon the sea, Sank to its nameless, lowly hed The body of so grand a man, That, though his years filled not life's span, In him, the world through which he trod, Beheld the noblest work of God. The heaving bosom of the deep Received him to its closs embrace. And in old Ocean's tireless arms This scion of a noble race Will sleep until it shall be said :

"Remorseless Sea, give up thy Dead!" So large a heart could scarce find room In any narrower, shallower tomb. There, with his canopy the skies, The burning stars his tapers bright, The winds and waves in symphonics His ceaseless "Kadesh" shall recite But aching hearts must still weep on. Mourning the joy forever gone, And vainly moan the burden o'er: "Alas! he can return no more! But has his spirit perished? "No!" A thousand thundering waves reply. The garb of flesh that robed his soul

Beneath the ocean's waste may lie But borne by angel hands away From its frail tenement of clay, His spirit mounts to realms above Where reign eternal peace and love. Father divine, to fashion men, Shalt thou omnipotence employ, And Death be ever able, then. Thy loving children to destroy? Perish the thought that souls made pure Shall not eternally endure; That spirits grown devoutly wise Live not forever in the akies. and shall our narrow, biased bounds, Or limits of mere human creeds, Or the warped zealot's prejudice, Annul a lite of noble deeds? Speak, Christian Priests, who by his bed

Would you deny this saintly sou The guerdon of a heavenly goal No: your own Holy Writ declares That, as in Adam all have died, go all mankind shall live again, Through that slain Jew, the Crucified. and who dare ban God's chosen race Beyond the reach of boundless grace t Or bar from his eternal rest The people God himself hath blest? So, Lord and Father, while we mourn. Thy holy Name we still can bless For thy departed servant's life

All prosecutions by indictment must originate in your body. You have power to indict, and power to release persons charged with the commission of indictable offences. And a satisfactory discharge of your duties will depend upon the prudence, dispatch, fairness, good judgment, and intelligence displayed by you in the exercise of these powers.

the evidence before you be so clear as to satisfy your minds of the guilt of the persons accused, and will find that a large proportion of the cases which will claim your attention will consist of those trivial and technical violations of law which originate mostly in private feeling and petty spite, and should not be allowed in the public interest to encumber the criminal docket of the Court. The exercise of a wise discretion and good judgment on your part in dealing with the ordinary class of misemoanors which will come before you will save much of the expense attending the administration of the criminal law in this Court, and at the same time the public interest will be well subserved.— But in all cases of felony, which includes such offences as murder, larceny, manslaughter, robbery and the like, where the evidence is clear, the guilty party should be promptly indicted and vigorously prosecuted. These offenses strike at the very foundations of social order and the peace of society, and cannot be tolerated in any civilized society. The oath which you have taken will be a guide to you in the performance of your duties, and in this connection I cannot do better than to read to you an explanation of the meaning and general duties which that oath imposes upon you. I read from the charge of Judge Field, of the Supreme Court of the United States, delivered in 1872: 'Your oath requires you to diligently inquire, and true presentment make, 'of such articles, matters, and things as shall be given you in charge, or other-wise come to your knowledge touching the present ser-vice.' The first designation of subjects of inquiry are those which shall be given you in charge; this means those matters which shall be called to your attention by the Court, or submitted to your consideration by the District Attorney. The second design nation of subjects of inquiry are those which shall otherwise come to your knowledge touching the preent service; this means those matters within the sphere of and relating to your duties which shall come to your knowledge, other than those to which your attention has been called by the Court or submitted to your consideration by the District Attorney. But how come to your knowledge? Not by rumors and reports, but by knowledge acquired from the evi-dence before you, or from your own observations. Whilst you are inquiring as to one offence, another and a different offence may be proved, or witnesses before you may, in testifying, commit the crime o perjury. Some of you, also, may have personal knowledge of the commission of a public offence against the laws of the United States, or of facts which tend to show that such an offence has been committed, or possibly attempts may be made to influence corruptly or improperly your action as grand jurors. If you are personally possessed of such knowledge, you should disclose it to your as-sociates; and if any attempts to influence your action corruptly or improperly are made, you should inform them of it also, and they will act upon the information thus communicated as if presented to them in the first instance by the District attorney. But unless knowledge is acquired in one of these ways, it cannot be considered as the basis for any action on your part. We, therefore instruct you that your investigations are to be limited: First. To such matters as may be called to your attention by the Court; or, Second. May be submitted to your consideration by the District Attorney; or, Third. May come to your knowledge in the course of your investigations into the matters brought before you, or from your own observations; or, Fourth. May come to your knowledge from the disclosures of your associates. You will not allow private prosecutors to intrude themselves into your presence and present accusations. Generally such parties are actuated by private enmity, and seek merely the gratification of their persons malice. If they possess any information justifying the accusation of the person against whom they complain, they should impart it to the District Attorney, who will seldom fail to act in a proper case. But if the District Attorney should refuse to act. they can make their complaint to a committing magistrate, before whom the matter can be investi gated, and if sufficient evidence be produced the commission of a public offence by the accused. he can be held to ball to answer to the action of the Grand Jury.' "It will be your duty to appoint a committee from your body to examine the Treasurer's books, and in this connection I state to you what is perhaps already known to all the citizens of our county, that since the meeting of the last Grand Jury i has been discovered that a thief had entered the safe in the Treasurer's office and abstracted there from a large amount of money. You should make a thorough, exhaustive and searching investsgation into this matter in order that the perpetrator of this crime may be discovered and brought to justice. You are also required to appoint a committee to examine into the condition of the Jail; and upon this Commissioners. This is a very serious matter.— These charges are either true or false. If true, you should not hesitate to act; if false, the Sheriff should be vindicated from the aspersions which administration. I am sure, gentlemen, that by laying aside all personal cunsiderations and attending Grand Jury, and they retired to their room.
