

A D V E R T I S E M E N T.

UPON an accurate Examination of the foregoing Edition, a considerable Number of Errors have been discovered; the most material of which (either as obscuring the Sense, or misguiding by References relative to Acts now in being) are noted in the following List. Some few of these appear to be Errors of the Printer, and others owing to Mistakes in the Manuscript (chiefly in the References) which had escaped Observation before the Copy was sent down, and by the Editor's Distance from the Press rendered irremediable. Some other Errors will appear to the judicious Reader which are neither to be attributed to the Printer nor Editor, being Faults in the Original Acts, or remaining Records, and were necessary to be so printed in Compliance with the Attestation upon Oath which stands at the Conclusion of the Year 1762. These are distinguished in the following List by an Asterisk, or this Mark (*), prefixed.
