VOL. VII.

QUEENSTOWN, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1888.

NO. 8.

The Germans are organizing a considerable establishment of falcons to catch the enemy's carrier pigeous.

The shipment of Florida oranges to Europe, which was attempted for the first time in any quantity this winter, has resulted most satisfactorily.

The major portion of the world's tin product is obtained from the Malay peninsula and Malaca, in Southern Asia. The Chinese practically control these mining interests.

Potatoes are soming from Scotland to this country in larger quantities than in any year since 1882. The Scotch potatoes are of the Magnum Bonum variety and are of extra good quality.

A New Orleans rewspaper says dar the millions of children seen around the cotton fields of the South farnish a complete refutation of the theory that the negro race in America is dying out.

No Russian paper dares use an exclamation point in an article. If the press censor finds one he condemns the whole issue as likely to incite the people to riot. A Russian editor can observe, but he must not exclaim.

This is the first time since 1777 that the year required the same figure used three times. That was 111 years ago, and the same thing will not happen again for 111 years, or in 1193. The year 2000 will draw on three ciphers,

A Boston woman has hit upon a novel scheme to make a living. She posts herself thoroughly upon the news of the day, and read her notes to a clas of wealthy women who are too lazy to read. Some other clever woman might cmulate her example in connection with literature.

The Detroit Free Pr as says in an editorial: "When we consider what a fuss the railroads made-and some of them are still making-about doing away with the deadly car stove it is humiliating to learn that in Sweden the heating of the cars by steam has been universal since

During the progress of a religious revival which was recently held at West Point, Ind., a little chi'd of seven years, while under the influence of the excite ment of the occasion, mounted the pulpit and made an exhortation which is said to have been remarkable for its power and cloquence.

A patent for the manufacture of artificial maple sugar has been issued to Josiah Daily, of Madison. Ind. It is made by adding to a gallon of ordinary sigar syrup three tab espoonfuls of a decoction made from hickory bark. The inventor says that this syrup cannot be distinguished from the genu'ne maple Prodigies of all kinds are springing up in various parts of the world. Ch'ergo Corinne Cohn, aged six, who speaks with | ment to drag the child away. fluency English, Cerman, French and the new universal language, Volapuk. She is now learning Tussian and Italian. Her father is Henry Cohn, President of the National School of Languages.

Canada has a considerable balance in her favor in the matter of fugitive embezzlers. Canada's losses in this respect are est mated at $2,000,000, while the "penal colony" of the United States in Canada represent some $20,000,000 in rascalities. It is difficult, says the Boston Advertiser, to see why any hesitancy should exist on either side of the border line to putting an end to this effective evasion of law and justice.

The largest Chinese mining camp in the Northwest is at Warren, Idaho, Hundreds of Chinese have been at work there for several years, and each year from fifty to seventy-five go back to China with from $2,000 to $5,000, a fortune for them. Most Chinese miners work over old mines, and are very expert at cleaning up every particle of gold; but at Warren they are on new ground, and their careful system results in large Mexico is making a high bid for immigration. It is reported that the Government has made a concession to a real estate company whereby 55,000 acres of for the effects of her fright. I had time land in eleven different States is to come to see that her features and expression a loan, and I, in turn, promised her into its possession, to be occupied by immigrants. Settlers on these tracts are to be exempt from taxation on the land, and the Government guarantees them protection. It is proposed to establish agencies in the principal cities of America and Europe to induce immigration to Mexico.

Pak Chung Yang, the Corean Minister to the United States, and his secretaries are somewhat dudish in their habits. Several. wagons were required on their arrival at Washington to move the trunks con- knew that if he saw that he would buy us is, than to have a bachelor like yourself taining their apparel. They change their some more wood and coal," the child going around advocating her cause. costumes several times a day. They | confided to me carnestly. own a vast variety of very tall hats which are perforated at the top. They wear the'r hats at the table, and have ; different kind of tile for each meal. They have heads of a very peculiar shape. The back of the head, far from being round, is as flat as a board,

THE BLOOM OF LONG AGO.

How oft along the vanished past, Still with the lines of youth aglow, Spring up the flow'rs that faded fast-The scented bloom of long ago! Where is the heart that would forget

The smile, the look, the warm embracel Amid the years we treasure yet

The contour of the flitted face. Deep in the labyrinth of time, Mischievous shine black eyes and blue: And fairy fingers beat a rhyme On Cupid's bow for me and you. I find a letter hilden long

From summer's sun and winter's snow, And to it clings a cherished song That keeps the tune of long ago. We never quite forget the joys Recorded on life's primal page; The laughter gay of girls and boys Falls sweetly on the ears of age. Across a path still bright and fair, A chill isswinging to and fro; And memory twin s in golden hair,

The lovely bloom of long ago. The music sought by us to-day In other years was grandly sung; The face that flits across the way We often kissed when we were young

It is the hand we cannot see That leads us, when the sun is low, Back to the memory haunted lea Rich with the bloom of long ago.

Confess to me, for it is true, I care not what your station be. That somewhere there's a spell for you-A spell of love and fantisy. Who has not felt a vanished hand Touch his at twilight's gentle glow. Or seen emerge from shadowland A sweetheart of the long ago! Black eyes and blue! O! what a spell

They weave for all who own their sway! And where is he whose son ; can tell One-half the cunning they d'splay? They are the milestones of the road We tread to where the waters flow Between us and the veiled abode-Beyond the leves of long ago. -T. G. Harbaugh.

THE DIAMOND CRESCENT.

re ther to right nor to left in their haste what she believed a divinely appointed Press.

purest water and bridiancy. Before I cogitated over and over again. had the little one in his grasp.

unaccountable excitement took posses. my commission until something better sion of me, and I sushed to her assistan e, can be done?" demanding of the officer authoritatively,

Instincti ely recogni ing a friend, the terrified child besought me not to allow the officer to take her to ail. "Look at that pin, the little thief!" has a linguistic wonder in the person of the officer said roughly, making a move-

"Stop!" I commanded, indignantly "Who says she is a thief?"

", say so," returned the officer sharply. "I know 'em, these street gamins, and a one, this one is.

"Indeed, sir, I am not a thief! Oh, I traordinary one. am not, I am not! I d'dn't mean to do surely find." The officer laughed coarsely. is fine, isn't it? Highly dram itic for one so young. You see I know 'em; they come in all ages from-

"Officer," I inte rupted him, for a crowd was gathering now, despite the biting cold, and I did not much enjoy my position as one of the central figures, step with me into my olice while we gret it hear the little one's story. I am convinced that you have no more right to arrest this child because she wears a costly ornament when walking quietly along the publi: street than you would have to arrest the wife or daughter of a millionsire under like circumstances. You know who I am, and if the facts do not co.roborate the story this child tells I from se to deliver her over to you in the next few hours." "All right," said the officer, "take her; you'll be wiser in the next twentyfour hours, I'll wager."

And so I was, but not just as the officer ant cipated. The child told me a singular story between her sobs, and facts proved it strictly true. Indeed, as had the little one in my office before The end of a long discussion of the were those of a young princess of the pupils from among my friends, taking blood clear-cut, exquisite and truthful. She was as far removed from the youth-crime as is heaven from earth. The gist of her story was that she was a great man's daughter, and the only way she would ever find her papa was by the erescent, which he would recognize. She lived with Miss Adelle, a music teacher, and they had very little money. Miss formed me scornfully when I laid my plan Adelle had cried that morning because before her: "I cannot be thankful enough, their coal was nearly gone and she had no Tom, that I am the first one to whom money to buy more.

crescent on, and came to find papa, for I sirl's prospects, situated as Miss Adelle number given me. A tall, graceful woman of twenty-five or thereabout wel. with Miss Adelle will go without the the winners. He expected that the com | strong current on the southern coast, comed us with emotion.

something about the child. lage in the West it happened that one that truth is stranger than fiction. Sewed up in the rags wrapped about the been given up for dead.

as a commission from heaven," said Eva's her mother. of these people did our little Eva belong. thip.

At last after my father's death, which With this I should have been quite Eva's parents were not to be found in butthe West, I sold my property there, coming to New York in the hope of obtaining pupils here, and at the same time write, "what a common-place ending establishing my darling's identity. We and all that sort of thing. have not been very successful so far. The day was Litter cold, and the a beautiful young woman who had evi-crowds harrying along Broadway turned dently sacrificed all her worldly goods to you please. Tom," she says. - New York to teach home and the comforts of the mission, and for all I knew had at this moment neither money nor food, ceri was s'tting in my office on the tainly not fuel for the morrow's bitter ground floor, watching the restles people weather, for little Eva had innocently and philosophizing as I have a habit of given that feet away, and yet she would doing upon the differences in human not make a moan which would give me cond tion, when my attention was sud- the cue to her necessity, or make it posden y arrested by a child wearing upon sible for me to oller pecuniary assistance.

her breast a superb diamond crescent of What should I do about it all! I had time to formulate any opinion as to at once, now that the business for which how so magniscent a jewel could have you came is ended," said the convencome into the possesion of a child, or to tionalities. "But you cannot leave these wonder why its parents or guardians two penniless and friendless in a big permitted it to wear such a valuable city," urged the heart within me, and trinket upon the public streets, an officer the latter argument seemed the stronger of the two, so I broke forth at last, awk-Looking at it rationally, nothing wardly (for I am not a man of tact any would have seemed more probable than time, but to the point. "You accepted that the child was a thief, for I did not the care of little Eva as a commission killed in a brawl. fail to notice in my first glance that her from Heaven when a strange fate garments, a though scrupulously neat, brought her to your door, and why may

The effe t of this speech was simply "Upon what charge do you make this startling, Miss Adelle flushed and turned pale by turns, but she said, looking straight at me, with womanly courage years old. flashing from her large violet eyes: "Sir, you have been so kind to my dear little Eva that I will not Lelleve you intend less to me. "God knows that I do not," I replied, feelingly. "Pardon me, but your little now, for I had nade up my mind that charge has give me some idea of how you the child should at least have a hearing, are rituated; I would like to befriend you both while you need a friend."

Miss Adeile searched my face long and earnestly to discover if perchance there precious lot they are! She's a regular lucked some sinister motive there before

"Not more so than your own course in wrong. I wanted to find my own papa sacrificing yourself and all that you posthat Miss Ade le says the crescent will sessed to this child's cause."

need a friend.

pass longer upon your privacy were it doches, Texas, in July, 1856. He had not so?" I asked earnestly, "nay, trust been a successful lawyer, a brave soldier, me and you shall have no cause to re- had fought for Texan independence,

Then Miss Adelle spoke out like the large souled woman that she was: "I will trust you, sir, for my little Eva's

Matters proved quite as bad as feared. They were at the end of their money, and no immediate prospect for getting more opened before them. Miss Adelle, whose musical gifts had been recognized as pre-eminent in her native village, had thought it would be easy enough to secure pupils in a great city like New York, but alas! from bitter es perience she had learned that this commercial Mecca towards which so many young aspirants for success turn their footsteps held but disappointment for pros and cons involved, resulted in Miss Adelle's accepting assistance from me as upon my shoulders the doubtful task of coercing all the fathers and mothers of ful unfortunates brought up in vice and my acquaintance into giving their children over to her training, beginning with fortunate that I made my beginning there, else it is probable that I should have miserably failed in my undertaking, for my sister-Mrs. Merwin-inyou unfold your quixotic scheme, for "When Adelle had gone out I put the nothing could be more ruinous to a

But just at this moment Miss Adelle In less than three months from the day GIBRALTAR'S GREAT ROCK, of the thirty-eight-ton and eighteen-ton caught sight of me, and drawing herself that I first discovered Eva, Miss Adelle GIBRALTAR'S GREAT ROCK, of the thirty-eight-ton and eighteen-ton guns in a very short time. up with dignity she waited for an ex- found herself with more work upon her planation of my presence there. Stating hands than she could easily attend to, the case briefly I asked her to tell me and I found myself—but no, I will tel you about that later, for now comes the "I will, sir," she said, motioning me most remarkable part of this narrative to be scated with grace I have rarely seen (and there is nothing so very remarkable equaled. "The sole guard anship of little in the story of a free man who is often Eva fell to me strangely," she began. "I am the daugh er of a clergyman, and beautiful woman falling in love with while teaching music in my native vil- her) and that which emphasizes the tact winter's night some years since-a night One day there drew up before my not unlike what this promises to be -my sister's door the well-known e juipage of father and I were startled by moans at one of the city's most successful bankers, our windows. Investigation showed a and from it alighted a gentleman who woman and child. Both were nearly eagerly requested to see Mis: Adelle. frozen, and the woman, once in the The result of that visit was nothing short heated room, swooned. We summoned of the restoration of little Eva to her para physician, but she recovered conscious- ents and home, for she was proven ness only to lose it again until we found to be the long-lost and sadly mourned that she was dying. Toward the daughter of the banker, stolen by last the poor creature muttered wildly former servant, the only object that and incoherently, and seemed to be could be discovered to extort money for ertal terror of punishment for her return. In order probably to render eat crime. Just at the last, how- the scheme successful the child had beet ever, she became entirely rational, and taken far away, where it wou'd be diffi made frantic efforts with her dying cult to trace her. The mysterious death breath to tell us all about the child; but of the woman had interferred with the the most we could understand was that or ginal plan and left no cice by which Eva belonged to wealthy parents, and the agonized parents could possibly dis that something would prove her identity. cover their child, and long since she had baby girl we discovered the diamond In the course of its progress from per crescent, which is strangely engraved in son to person, the story of the young ciphers, unintelligible to a stranger, but music teacher and her little charge had no doubt significant enough to the reached the banker and his wife, who owners, whom we naturally suppose to hastened to convince themselves that be little Eva's parents, for this was evidently what the poor woman meant to diamond crescent which had been stoler for that very purpose no doubt furnish-"My father and I a cepted the trust ing evidence, if more had been needed thrown upon us by that mysterious death than the child's great resemblance to guardian angel, with a soulful smile It is needless to say that the grateful which disclosed a rich, beautiful nature, parents insisted upon adopting Adelle "and we set about to find the parents, into their hearts and homes as a daugh-For a long time we advertised, but to no ter no less than their legitimate offspring purpose. Many replies come, but to none and for me they declared eternal friend occurred three years ago, certain that satisfied under ordinary circumstances, good legal taleat to push the work of you will have there, love and marriage, "But will it not be true to the life?" I felt my elf in a dilemma. Here was I demand. And a beautiful light warms Calamities of Prominent Men.

James J. Wilson, of New Jersey, was successively Clerk of the legislature, editor, State Ad utant General and United States Senator. His mind became unbalanced, and one night he jumped out of the window and was badly in ured. He died two years later -- July, 1824.

Congressman Pobert Potter, of North Carolina, was the husband of a beautiful woman, of whom he was intensely jealous. It is jealousy developed into insanity, and he nearly murdered two of his | be put in position, but as yet I know of wife's cousins, who had called to pay a friendly visit, on August 24, 1831. afterward went to Texas, where he was

William S. Ramsey, of Carlisle, Penn., were far fro n expensive, nevertheless an I not accept the care of both of you as ty eight years o'd. The day after his rewas e ected to Congress when only twenelection he received a letter, the contents of which he never revealed. He became a changed man, and ended his bright career with a bullet in a hotel in Baltimore in October, 1840. He was only thirty

In a fit of mental aberration John White, of Kentucky, killed himself at Richmond, Ky., in September, 1845. He was Congressman for ten years and Speaker of the Twenty-seventh Con-

Congressman Felix G. McConnell represented Aisbama from December 4 1843, to September 10, 1846, when he eat his throat in a Washington hotel. The death of a devoted friend had driven him she said: "Sir, your offer is a very ex. to drink and insanity, with the result

Jesse B. Thomas, of Illinois, was Western pioneer, a Congressman and United State | Senator for ten years, The "But that was the will of Heaven for secret persecutions of a political enemy

United States Senator Thomas J. Rusk, of Texas, committed suicide at Nacaserved as Chief Justice of the State and was a United States Senator for ten years. Mental infirmity drove him to the deed which ended his eventful career. Edward Curtis was a noted politician in his time. He represented New York City in Congress from 1837 to 1841, when President Harrison appointed him Collector of the Port. The treachery of some political friends turred his brain, and he died in New York, after a lingering ill ness, in August, 1858. - Graphic.

Jim Fisk's Dodge.

Years ago when the New York Centra, and Erie railroads were engaged in a desperate and destructive battle of cut rates, Jim Fisk played a shrewd dodge on Commodore Vanderbilt. The freight rates from Chicago to New York city were so low that there was no profit in transportation. Fisk seized the golder opportunity to buy catte; shipped the cattle o er the Commodore's road, and so blocked the Commodore's transporta tion facilities that the Central obliged to refese all other freight. Fisk my own married sister. And it was then put up the priece of freight on the Erie, and was not only able to do a lu crative business while the Central was carrying cows at a loss, but he was alse able to get his cows to the market, vis the Commodore's line, at such low terms that he made a profit on every head .-

Manufacturing a Poem.

It is usual at Cambridge University te "Why, my dear E a," she cried, clasping when I tell you that she took her home within the week as musical governess to her own children, and personally been? I have been almost crazy with anxiety about you."

saying when I tell you that she took her aside. What was his horror at learning that he had been adjudged the price and that his name had been published all over England as that of the victor. STRONGEST FORTRESS.

'in splendid, somber, solitary beauty no can be repaired, and thus obviate their Titanic peak of nature surpasses it; it is stay on the station. For a hostile feet to more than ma estic, it is awful, while it pass the Straits of Gibraltar means the rises above and is the lookout upon a destruction of one of England's most landscape more varied and endowed with powerful iron-clad squadrons—a squadmore striking and sudden contrasts than ron which in time of war would receive any fancied cyrie of Alp or Himalaya." | augmented numbers. To take Gibral ar elevation above the sea at the highest new vesse's of war are now being rapidly for on all other sides the ascent is very prodigious sums to complete them, but precipitous. The isthmus which connects resulting in excelling Krupp and Armmore than a mile wide, and it is on this inch steel rifles, eight-inch steel rifles, isthmus that the famous neutral ground and ten-inch steel rifles denominate the English and Stanish sentry-boxes. Apart five feet in length and capable of throwfrom the position of the "rock," it is ing a projectile nearly five feet in length, greatly streng hened by the presence of to a distance of ten miles. But with all remarkable natural caverns with which this tremendous range our guns could it is perforated. These caverns are all not silence the shielded ordnance of difficult of access. The largest, St. Gibraltar. If the fleet was destroyed, Michael's, has a hall hung with stalac ites the garrison could be soon driven to the reaching from roof to floor. Reflected tunnels, but there they would be safe back from the glare of a torch they present a most weird appearance.

The entrance to St. Michael's is 1,000 feet above the sea level, and it is con-gether some thirty heav, guns in position, slarm on the street. Two hundred-ton Arms: rongs are about to licrous project of sheling Gibraltar, After she passes the range of the eighteenton guns along the water port and continues to enter, she will encounter the and British men of war in the harbor. guard," in London, to send out a great rided natives who followed being too many highlanders to Gibra tar, though much afraid to approach him. they do not compose the whole force The garrison is one of the hardest drilled the British troops to hold Gibral-

'around the world." Gibraltar has been well termed an swar n with Moors, Jews, Spaniards, and he might commit suicide. me," Miss Adelle said with deep serious- unsettled his reason and he cut his eyed, pretty t enorse and the Spanish English. Among the women the darkne-s, "I could not do less. But," she throat at Mount Vernon, O., on February beauties, with their long lashes and being asked why he had killed and charming languor in their eyes, never fail to attract the attention of our "middies "- to say nothing of their elders. All foreigners visiting the town, save naval o ficers in uniform, are required to take out a p rmis de sejour, and must find bondsmen to go security for their good behav or during the ten, filteen, or twenty days for which the permit is made out. However, this stay may be reflewed after the expiration of the time lim t. The authorities p event, as much way of new residents. 'This is to the ramparts no st angers are admitted after night "fall. The officers, however, month, but are held in strict ac ount all his actions. Justice is a lministered accord ug to the laws of England, but there is a prevailing spirit of the militaryccurt-martial in all the proceedings of the court. The air militaire is inculcated in all pertaining to the "rock," and is more than an appparent seeming. them to retain rain water. Tanks are Mediterranean, and is the center of that wealth in the East Indies.

A DESCRIPTION OF THE WORLD'S danger of receiving a single shot. The Its Size and Position-The Defen es and one hundred-ton guns in the fort can ning fifteen or twenty knots, and in the night time at that. "Where one man The rock of Gibraltar, says Godfrey night time at that. Carden, of the United States Revenue can go, another can go," and when Marine, has been celebrated in ancient one cruiser can run the straits as well as in modern literature; it has a whole fleet can follow. But it een the subject of fables and legends is not the guns of Cibraltar that are to be nnumerable; it has played a dramatic feared wholly. Under her guns, lying at part in the fortunes of men and nations anchor, is a powerful fleet of war vessels. certain'y from the earliest historic times flying the cross of St. George from their and probably was the bone of conten - peaks. These vessels patrol the straits, tion among prehistoric races. In speak- using Gibraltar as a coaling station and ing of Gibraltar one flowery writer says: post of supply-a post where all damages

The "rock" itself is no more than would be a matter of starvation to the seven miles in circumference, and its garrison, not resistance to attack. Our point does not exceed 1, 0) feet. The provided with some of the finest guns fown is situated on the western slope, afloat-guns which cost our Government dibraltar with the main land is a little strong in no few particular. Our sixis marked off by the two parallel rows of various calibers, the latter being thirty-nected with other caverns beneath it of has not happened in Singapore for the unknown depth. Two English officers past twenty-three years, and by which in endeavoring to fathom these depths three people met a sudden and shocking were lost, not a trace being found of tuem | death at the hands of a fellow creature. by those venturing to the edge of the and many others were seriously injured abysa. No doubt the presence of these (one of them, it is feared, fatally), took natural caverns sugges ed to the British place recently in the district of Campong the idea of excavating and tunneling the 'rock." A system of galleries has been It appears that a Buggis man, Hadcut, facing the harbor and neutral ground, at an enormous expense. Much in organizing pilgrimages to Meeca, arof the work was carried on by prisoners, rived here a few days ago and went to At intervals of twelve yards ports have stop in a Malayman's house, 56 Sultan nance mounted is of the heaviest aliber, day morning, he received a letter from are built with flat to s, thus enabling nant. built under the buildings and are fitted with drains leading from the roofs. It is the water supply which has always Gibraltar, but the authorities have finally mastered the solution, and the "rock" is now well provided with good water. the other 1,000 gallons, are constantly kept full with which to supply naval Gibraltar can not in itself prevent the odd .- Chicago Tribune. annually give a handsome sum for the passage of a hostile fleet through the Just take me to see the girl, and if she best poem. Some years ago a waggi-t straits. The southern shore of the I hailed a cab at the conclusion of the is not a mere adventuress you may count tale and took the child to the street and upon my doing what I can for her."

Just take me to see the girl, and it sne undergraduate, for a mere jest, made a strait is not fornified, but in early days strait is not fornified, but in early days poem by piecing together fragments of all vessels—being sailing vessels—bad to That my sister was wholly satisfied all those which had for many years been hug the northern shore on account of the saying when I tell you that she took her mittee would laugh at it and throw it This virtually brought all vessels under the guns of the "rock." But to-day one of our steel craisers, say the Chicago or Boston, would steam right along through the southern current and pass the range guns in a very short time. At night time the run past could be made without strait in its narrowest part is all of nine miles, and though the thirty-eight-ton -People of All Nations in the feel the southern shore, they have very little chance of hitting a steel cruiser run-

A Malay Runs Amuek. A dreadful incident, the like of which jee Ebraim, who is some sort of an agent for guns, and some of the ord- Road. On Satu day night or early Sun-The defenses at the new mole have Mec a, informing him of the death of been strengthened by a casemate battery, his daughter at that place, where she had while at the Ale andra battery therry gone on a pilgrimage. bout one o'clock, eight-ton guns are in pos.t.on. There are while sit ing in bed with the Malay also thirty-eight-ton gans at the Europa owner of the boute and a boy, reading por and on the line wal and from these his letter, he suddenly umped up, and positions the fire could be simply anni- taking a aris gave the Malay two dreadhilating to any cruiser caught on the ful stabs. The boy ran down stairs rapground of their range. Along Willis's idly, and with great presence of mind, road casemates are constructed, and alto- boited the outside door and gave the

The man escaped by the window, and getting down a tiled roof into a little no eighty one ton guns in the batteries. close, and behind the house, ran what is The th rty e ght-ton guo batteries will be | well-known in these parts, amuck. He the first any vessel will feel if she has a crossed the close and went up stairs into stand five miles off and attempts the lu- the house opposite, where he stabbed two Malay women, one of them fatally. From there he ran by a back way into Victoria street, where he met two Chinamen. In lunging at the one nearest him concentrated fire of the whole "rock," he missed his blow on account of the to say nothing of the floating batteries Chinaman jumping aside, but the blow fell with fatal effect upon the other, who The "rock" has several flat spots near | fell in a pool of blood near where he was the top, and it is here that the infantry struck, and must have died in a few are dr.lled. The garrison numbers, minutes. The furious faratic then rushed roughly, five thousand men, and it has up Je'an Falapa, bent on nothing but al xays been the custom at the "Horse murder, into North Bridge road, the ter-

After wounding several he was felled by a blow with a pole, hurriedly pulled in the British s reice, and the men are out from under a stand opposite a native usually the pick of the army. The feel, shop by a native police constable. Seving of pride will only allow the lower of eral men then ran up and assisted in holding him until he was manacled by tar. Report has it that Gen. Crant con- the police and the kris taken from him. sidered this garrison the finest body of He was found to be suffering from a men of any he saw during his tour severe scalp wound, probably inflicted by the pole. He was conveyed to the hospital with his wounded victims, six epitome of nations. The streets fairly in all, and a guard placed upon him lest

The author of to many deaths, after wounded so many people said he did not know .- Straits (India) Time . An Infant King Opens Parliament,

The opening of the Spanish Parliament by the infant King and his mother, the Queen-regent, was a most interesting spectacle. The infant King was dressed in white, with a white bonnet, the latter being removed upon his being seated on the throne, to the right of Queen Christina, whose black dress, only reas possible, any and all acquisitions in the lieved by a tiara and a collar of diamonds, formed a striking contra t to the mass of town only. Inside of the limits of the gold-co'or covering the house and lighting up the tribunes. While the Queen read the speech from the throne in clear, may introduce a friend for a period of a audible tones, without the slightest signs of the nervousness attributed to her, the young King surveyed the scene with comp ete compo ure, fixing his attention alternately upon the assemblage and upon the Queen. When the reading of the document was completed, his majesty showed a wish to be among the first to leave, but being taken in the Queen's The majority of the houses in the town arms he remained perfectly quiet .- Argo-

Rather Old.

A man who has traveled a bit and sees what is going on around him observes projed of such vital importance to that in some Southern cities, notably New Orleans, a Chicago man is very likely to bump into people when he is walking along in the streets. The Two large tanks, one containg 11,000 and reason is that down there it is the custom for everybody to turn to the left instead of to the right, as the rule is everywhere else, when two persons meet. On some Gibraltar stands to-day the key to the of the lines, at least, the horse cars run up on the left track and down on the line of fortresses which connects Great right. Drivers of vehicles get into the Britain with those enormous fields of way of the steering to the left also. It old his parents, who are respectable and str kes a Chicago man as being rather boys like the m Or fancy the girl with gold hair; Some chaps like the lass of diminutive size, Or maid with a scho'arly stare;

" Judge's" Choice.

of years
There's naught like the girl with the cash. Times.

MATERNAL INSTINCT. I wonder what my papa means By calling me Miss Fidget? A silly goose That has no use-A troublesome little midget.

He says I always "ought to laugh; Good little girls are jolly." What would he do If he, boo hoo! Had tored his little Dolly? He says my Dolly's nothing but

A lot of rips and creases-That all combined Could never find One half the missing pieces. And mamma told me if it was Made out of iron and leather

It wouldn't stay More than a day Securely hell together. I know its nose and ears are gone, It has one leg left only: A great big crack

Is in its back And one eye looks so lonely. Its face gets blacker every day, It's never tidy, never; And if I rub

And scour and scrub. It makes it worse than ever. They want to know what makes me keep The "nasty thing" about me. Why, don't you see it's fond of me,

And couldn't do without me, Now, does it matter much to them How sick and cross I may be! I'm not afraid Mamma would trade

Me for another baby. -C'M. Snyder, in Courier-Journal

HUMOR OF THE DAY.

Geographical-What is the capital of Jay Gould? Th's is the year when the girls leap and the men fly. Why is it that the rising generation ises late? - New Haven News. The wedding ring is woman's sphere and also man's fear. - Epoch. They raise vegetable tallow in Austrain. There's the place to laugh and grow fat .- Sifting colomon, when he gave the famous judgment, was the first man who e.er proposed to split the difference. for the past two years everything has been at si es and sevens. But this sear we hope to streen matters out, - Epoci. here than 10, 00,000 eggs are carried. into New York cash wees. One might be tempted to think this an ova supply. -boston Tr. s ript. Agent (at the door -- "Is the lady of the house in?" Gentleman cabing to his wife .- "Mary, is the cook in?"- burli gtor F.es i rest. Aext to a bull in a china shop, a strike in a glass factory would seem to be one of the most smashing things in the world, - Boston Transcript. When blizzards bliz,

An' coal is riz, An' tempests temp their boldest, We shivering shiv, And scarce can live-For street-car stoves are coldest. -Detroit Free Press. New York Man (smilingly shaking hands,-Excuse my glove. Boston Ac-

Excuse my spectacles .- Chicago Tri-It is said that J. Gould enjoyed the novel sensation of a short balloon trip in Paris. He's got the earth, and he probably went up to take a look at the quaintance (frigidly)-Ah, certainly, sky. - Tid-Bits. Several diamonds were found in a meteorite which fell in the town of Krasnoslobodsk, Russia. They will be given to the individuals who are uble to pronounce the name of the town.

A WAIL FROM CHICAGO. The hig jack rose By the sad sea blows And the cactus buds on the prairie: But the crange blosom blooms Where the port trade booms-So hustle to the lakes de, Mary! Oh! hustle to the lakeside, Lucy an' Jane-

An' hurry up, Tibby an' Carrie!

-Chicago News.

For there's heaps of fellers here as wants to Bring along your troussan-

You'll be happy if you do so,

Chinese Table Etiquette. As soon as the guests are seated on the nats, two, and sometimes three, smail, low tables are brought to each. On the one immediately in front of him the guest finds seven little covered bowls. On the second tatle will be five other bowls. The third, a very small table, should hold three bowls. Take up the chop-sticks with the right hand, remove the cover of the rice bowl with the same hand, transfer it to the left. and place it to the left of the table. Then remove the cover of the bean soup and place it on the rice cover. Next take up the rice bowl with the right hand, pass it to the left, and eat two mouthfuls with the chop-sticks, and then drink once from the soup bowl. And so on with the other dishesnever omitting to eat some rice between each mouthful of meat, fish and vegetables, unless you forget which is your mouth and which is your right hand, or have become so giddy that you can not tell your left hand from a chop-stick or/ your rice bowl from your third table, Chicago Tribune.

A Youthful Weather Prophet.

The six-year-old son of a Kentucky man is acquiring notoriety as a weather prophet. The child is small for his age, and cannot yet talk plainly, but has developed barometrical powers to a wonderful degree. Since he was four years reliable people, declare that he has fore-told every rain, hail storm or snow storm, and even the light showers and sprinkles so plentiful in the spring of the year. One day recently, while the sun was blazing down with intense heat, the child came into the house from the yard, where Or maid with a scho'arly stare;
Some youths are quite partial to tender young dears,
Or beauties who weightily crash;
But men are convinced thro' the knowledge of years
There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years

There's panelt like the side with the set of years year