The editor of the Kent Independent is not happy. He fought for a free bridge at Chestertown, and now because the legislature is making a law to make it a free bridge. He is unhappy to the bottom of his heart and kicks at every provision in the bill that protects the taxpayer.

Chief Justice Waite of the Supreme Court of the United States, died at his residence in Washington, on Friday morning of nervous failure of the heart, in the 72d year of his age. He had been sick only a few days, and was considered to be in an improved condition up to within a few minutes of his death. His demise leaves a vacancy on the Supreme Bench. Messrs. Carlisle and Bayard have been mentioned as likely to be appointed to the vacant judgeship.

Senators Platt, Hale. Berry, Blair,

The Southern Senators, while expressing the kindliest feelings for the generosity and philanthropy which had prompted the introduction of the bill, disclaimed all desire on the part of ex-Confederates for the passage of any such exceptional measure, but thought that as a matter of courtesy and uniformity of practice, the bill should be refered to its appropriate committee The Northern Senators were of one accord in condemning the measure as unwise and ill-consider Senator Blair said he hal intro duced his bill in entire good faith. He understood that in the one state of North Carolina, there were to-day 20,000 ex-soldiers of the Confederacy who had lost limbs in the service, and Sweet Potatoes 1,15(a)1,20 bbl that most of them were in poor circomstances.
