

Washington, Nov. 21, 1890.

Washington may now truthfully be the headquarters of the political history.

Never in the last twenty five years has there been more political activity displayed here than there is now, and it is passing every day as the city fills with the men who control the destinies of the great political parties of the country.

Here will be fought, after the preliminary skirmish of the great battle of '92, and a good people are beginning to think that the engagement will be a triangular one and if the combination between the labor organizations and the Farm Alliance, that wonderful organization which has frightened the political politicians nearly out of their wits, can be perfected by that time there are certainly squalls ahead for every body.

Public interest is centered in the session of the Fifty-first Congress which meets Monday December 2nd. The question is ripe as to what will be done.

Whatever is done the country will be highly interested because of the personnel of the publican House. Many of the Democrats, particularly those that were nominated and defeated at the election, feel so sore that they will be willing to adopt the most liberal political legislation that could be proposed, and the Speaker is generally supposed to be ready to do them in every way in his power, those who watched the legislation of the House at the last session can get an idea of what that means. But there is another element in that party led by Mr. Blaine that will attempt to steer a more conservative course.

The matters which are certain to come during the three months of the session, to say nothing of what may unexpectedly be proposed, will make it notable in the political history. The first thing to be done in the Senate will be the election bill, and that it will be brought to the last extremity by the Democrats is a certainty. Nevertheless it is believed that it will be passed in a modified form. In the House the first thing to be taken up will be an amendment bill, and that will also be fought by the Democrats, but it will be certain to pass in the shape that will give the Democrats all the advantage possible.

The question of free coinage of silver is going to make a rumpus too, and the general impression is that it will be adopted, although it is still opposed by Mr. Harrison and his Secretary of the Treasury.

The Democrats of Seaford have placed a black flag on the Republican flagpole at that place, and have arranged the halyards so that the flag cannot be lowered. As the Republicans have no use for the emblem, it will probably stay there until worn out by the wind and weather.

Mr. Charles F. Chance, of Kent Island, was brought to our office on Tuesday, and he was with fourteen distinguished gentlemen.

It has been the general impression that there was a scramble; that the tendency was to be numerous, and this is the case. Mr. Gibson, who has many warm friends among them.

KENT ISLAND ITEMS.

One day last week the body of Capt. Wm. Sommers, who was drowned off his pony on November 2d, was found on the shore of Mr. R. R. Kelly near Bloody Point. His friends were notified and came and removed his remains to Winchester, where he were interred in the family burying ground. The captain's watch and pocket book were missing.

One night last week, thieves broke into the poultry house of Mr. Charles Hopkins, and carried off ten turkeys. On the same night Mr. Cahall had two geese stolen from his fattening pen.

On Monday afternoon, the dwelling house of Mr. Henry Palmer, near Quinn's shops, Kent Island, was destroyed by fire about 3 p. m. The origin of the fire is not known as the family were away from home and there was no fire in the house after the dinner hour about twelve o'clock. Loss $1500, insurance $1200. All of his household goods were saved by his neighbors.

Messrs. Richard Silverthorn and Wm. Harper spent two days gunning at Bloody point farm. They bagged 5 wild geese and 102 birds. Mr. Harper, showed us the blossoms and second crop pears off a tree on Mr. R. R. Kelly's farm, on his return from his gunning trip.

Dr. Benton, is having the buildings on the Mary E. Legg property (which he brought sometime since) moved nearer to the road—which will decidedly improve said property. Mr. James W. Sparks is doing the work.

On Tuesday night, Dr. Benton and Mr. Joseph Cook, were preparing to take a ride, they hitch their horse—a young and spirited animal—too the post in front of Doctor house, and while in the house the horse became restless and broke away and ran for home; damaging the carriage considerable and breaking the harness and straying it along the road as a means by which his course might be traced.

Thanksgiving day was generally observed by our people as a day especially laid apart for gunning. The slaughter of game was immense (?).

Mr. William D. Carville, returned home from Bayside, Talbot county, on Sunday where he has been spending two weeks on a visit to friends.

On Sunday afternoon a flock of wild geese alighted in the wheat field of Mr. John Roe, near Chester, Kent Island. Mr. Roe saw them and was trying to get a shot at them: As he moved on them they kept feeding toward the road fence which is built of wire. When they arose to fly away they were so close to the fence that they became entangled in it before they could raise above it. Mr. Roe's brother who was close by ran and caught one of the geese before it could extricate itself from the wire fence.

Mr. Gibson's Chances.

Though the time for naming Democratic officials of the next House is yet far off, it is already apparent that Representative Gibson is making good headway in his race for clerk. Democratic members as they arrive in Washington naturally discuss the organization of the next House, and in referring to the clerkship they all speak kindly of Mr. Gibson, who has many warm friends among them.
