

Millions of men and women, and the children who are coming after them, look to the action of Congress for their future joy or sorrow, want or prosperity.—N. Y. Tribune.

Think of it! All these generations, born or unborn, anxiously longing for Congress to heap more taxes on their already nearly broken backs! It is a spectacle for the laughter of all the little gods.

According to a local organ "the Republican party has no higher duty than to reform elections." Reform, like charity, should begin at home. You should stop buying "floaters in blocks of five" in Indiana and "purchasing voters en bloc" in New York city and Brooklyn before you take charge of reforming other people.
