A man in a New York county has applied to have his taxes raised on the ground that the assessment on his roperty does not fairly represent its value. Not only this, but he adds that a neighbor's assessment ought to be reduced. The action of this phenomenally just man has sent the tax commissioners into a state of paralyzed inaction, and his neighbors are wondering if they will soon be called on to dodge to keep the rush of the millennium from knocking them

The bill to abolish the State Fire Marshal office which has been agitating the legislaturemen ever since the appointment of Dr. Robert M. Price. of this county, was voted down Wednesday. While it is true, that the office has not been of much service in past years, there is no telling the good it may be with proper administration. The protection of life and property against fire is due in a large measure to a well equipped fire department, and the services of a Fire Marshal in small cities and towns could not be estimated in investigating the origin of fires and the punishment of the incendiaries.
