That is the ituation to-day. A single speech on either side may upset all calculations and precipitate a political fight, which may lengthen the session beyond the early June days in which adjournment is now confidently expected. The House will this week take up and pass the Nicaragua canal bill, and Senator Morgan is confident that it will pass the Senate, but others are not so confident. It is an open secret in Washington that the administration would, for several reasons prefer that the Senate leave the bill unacted upon at the present session, although it will not go to the extent of openly antagonizing a measure that is so popular, but there are tricks in all for experienced parliamentaries to so and break his looking glass." manipulate the business of the Senate that the canal bill will not get to a vote in the Senate, at the present session, without seeming to be seeking to delay that measure.

It is denied by officials of the Department of State that any intimation has been received of objection on the exerted by this government to compel the Sultan of Turkey to pay the claims for American Missionary property destroyed by Turks. There has been much gossip because of the nomination of the President and confirmation by the Senate of Rev. John J. Girimondi, of Minnesota, a Cetholic priest, to be U. S. Consul at Santos, Brazil. About the only reason for the gossip appears to be that no other Catholic priest has ever been given a place in our consulomatic service. An official connected with the Department of State, said of that phase of the matare commercial, and if Father Girimondi is the first Catholic priest to be given the position, it is probably only because he is the first one who has applied with support enough to attract the favorable notice of the appointing powers, as the selection of ministers of other denominations to be Consuls has been quite common, S. Denny. and no reason exists to my knowledge for discriminating against the Catholie clergy. In this particular case, bable that American merdoing business with Brazil, cepting the position. the motion of Senator Pettus, of Ala., to send a resolution declaring Senator Scott, of West Virginia, entitled to his seat, back to the Committee on Elections, with instructions to investigate further, makes it certain that the Senate as at present composed, fully accepts the doctrine that the Senate has no legal right to go behind the election of a Senator by a State legislature. The three dissenters were Senators Morgan and Pettus, of Ala., and Turner, of Washington.

Under the Rules of the Senate, it is impossible to force a vote upon any measure opposed by a determined minority. Senator Jones, of Ark., the leader of the democrats, has publicly Corbin, a major-general, for increasing the artillery branch of the regular army, and for doubling the num-ber of cadets at the West Point Military Academy, will not be allowed to pass at this session of the Senate. The administration has been pressing this bill for sometime, and it was to quiet some of the opposition thereto that the promotion of Gen. Miles, who is not a favorite of the administration, was included therein.
