WASHINGTON LETTER. Some News Collected at the National Capital by Our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Jan., 20, 1902. The most adroit leadership in both the Senate and the House has alone prevented the development of serious factional disturbances in republican ranks during the week just passed and it is only a question of time when they will break out in a violent form on the floors of those bodies. It is difficult for one not actually on the scene to appreciate to what an extent the House of Representatives has ceased to be a deliberative body. For a time the republican members felt themselves repaid for their loss of power by the example of perfect disapline which they set to the country but now they are in so great a majority as to believe themselves relieved from the danger of democratic aggressions, they are longing for the birthright which they bartered.

Smarting with a sense of their loss of influence the representatives are humiliated by the arrogance of certain senators who to-day openly say that the attitude of the House towards any of the important questions which Congress must answer is of no importance as the Senate can and will rectify the errors of the "impulsive and irresponsible" lower body. Senator Cullom is to-day preparing a speech in support of his contention that the House has no right to be President alone to consider. In view of the very important subject of reciprocity with Cuba which must soon be determined, the position of the senior senator from Illinois and a large number of his colleagues is particu-

There is no mistaking the intent of the Dingley bill which says that such treaties must be approved "by Congress," but Senators Lodge, Frye, Cullom, Spooner, Hanna and others hold to the opinion that, according to the constitution, the President and the Senate "alone constitute the treaty making power." Senator Lodge modifies his opinion somewhat, however, by saying that he believes that it would be courtesy to consult the House because any reciprocal treaty affects the question of raising reve-

The Philippine tariff bill will be reported to the Senate to-day or to-reported to the Senate to-day or to-morrow and it is predicted that the debate on its provisions will last for a month. Senator Lodge professes to believe that it will be eventually passed as reported but there are members of his own party who greatly differ from him and who say that it is Senator Mitchell, of Oregon. After will have to pass the House and if the Senate persists in its determination to exclude that body from a voice in the Cuban reciprocity affair there is every possibility that Chairman Payne, of the ways and means committee, and his colleagues will treat the measure with little consideration, as they believe that Senator Lodge, in his capacity of champion of the administration, will be thus brought to terms and will be forced to oppose the Senate foreign relations committee in order to relieve Secre-

the result of his interview with the President. He is also much disturbed at Senator Hanna's apparent dissatisfaction in favor of the Darien route. This route would require the construction of a tunnel five miles long, through a solid granite mountain and the senator from Alabama considers it lacking in feasibility and its agitation merely an attempt to delay canal legislation.

The Senate committee on commerce has authorized a favorable report on the Hanna-Frye ship subsidy bill by a strict party vote, every democrat on the committee voting against it. Senator Frye makes the most extravagant claims for the bill and in the main his colleagues are obliged to take his word in the matter as there is probably no other man in the Senate who can tell just how the bill will work when put in practice. It now seems probable that the bill will pass the Senate under pressure of the party lash but it is very doubtful if it can get through the House. Every democrat in the House will got a solution and the House will got a solution and the House will got a solution and the House solution and the House solution and the surrounding countries. Superintendent of st. Mary's Industrial School for boys, for a conv of the third for boys, a marked change is to be solution. ocrat in the House will vote against it and there are said to be a number of republicans who regard a vote for the bill as political suicide.

"The anarchy bills are going to make trouble in the House," said a democratic member from New York, when I asked him why Congress was doing nothing in a matter on which all the members seemed to be much of one mind. "There is little difference in the minds of the members as to the necessity of passing a bill to prevent anarchists coming into the country but there is great jealousy in the committees in regard to the matter. Gen. Shattuc, chairman of the committee on immigration, does not consider that the judiciary committee has the right to pass on any measure-which deals with immigration. The members of the judiciary com-mittee are jealous of Chairman Ray because they think he desires to arrogate to himself too large a share of the glory that will pertain to the au-thorship of the till that finally passes As to the democrats, they are not involved except in so far as they may tions and in two days she was well be called upon to protest against any measure which violates state rights."

TO EXTEND RAILROAD. The Queen Anne's R. R., Will be Asked to go to Salisbury and Snow Hill.

The Love Point extension of the Queen Anne's Railroad is expected to be fully completed and in operation within two weeks. It is learned on will then receive the attention of the milroad officials.

In addition it is understood that he business men of Salisbury, Snow Hill and Chincoteague are agitating he question of inducing the Queen une's Railroad to build a further extension to their towns. The matter has been brought to the attention of the railroad officials and is being seriously considered by them. The proposed extension would leave the main line of the Queen Anne's Railroad at a point between Denton and the Del-aware line. It would go directly south to Federalsburg. From Federalsburg it would run to Salisbury. From Salisbury to Snow Hill. From Snow Hill it would run to its terminus, which would be a point near the Virginia line, not far from Chincoteaque Island. The Maryland Legislature at its present session will be asked to exempt from taxation for a period of years the proposed railroad line in the counties of Carlie line of the proposed simulation to give the railroad sufficient land for the location of its track and depots. With these two inducements it is understood that the extension to Salisbury, Snow Hill and Chincoteaque Island will undoubtedly be built.

The proposed railroad would mean great deal to the section through which it would pass. Baltimore, the metropolis, of the state, is the logical market for all the products of the Eastern Shore, and Love Point, the Eastern Shore terminus of the Queen Anne's Railroad, is nearer to Baltimore than any other railroad or Shore. The distance between the pier at Love Point and Light Street wharf in Baltimore is only 20 miles, and will be covered by the boats of the Queen Anne's Railroad in I hour and 40 minutes. The quicker the farmers and merchants of the Eastern Shore can go to and from Balti-

From Cape May cheap transportation can be had to Philadelphia, New York and intermediate points in N.J. The Legislature will, without any doubt, grant the desired assistance in the shape of exemption from taxation for a period of years. The benefits to be derived from the new railroad are well illustrated by the town of Denton and its surrounding councreased in population; many new dwellings and store buildings have been erected; new industries have started up; real estate in the town has greatly increased in value, and farming land along the line of the ation for a long period of years, and while during that period it loses the taxes that might have been levied upon the railroad's property, yet this loss is made up, 10 or 20 fold by the increase in the assessable value of county property, due directly to the building of the railroad.
