SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1902.

Provided the drop in the mercury be deep enough we feel quite satisfied that the coal dealers at least will not complain.

The leading citizens of Chester town are in favor of the "Jim Crow" law now before the legislature, and have a petition in circulation urging its passage.

An Iowa man has been equipped with the eye of a rabbit to replace one of his that was lost. With such an eye he should make a good guide for hunters.

An Iowa woman recovers damages for breach of promise because the prospective bridegroom died before the date set for the wedding. This is going to give rise to some new form of insurance policy.

A Delaware doctor advises drinking melted lead in milk or taking a small dose of whisky as a preventive of smallpox. The good doctor seems to be giving a professional intimation that it is well to be "half-shot."

A Tennessee man has coughed up a penny which slipped down his throat eighteen years ago. If he had put the penny out at interest, instead of keeping it to himself, it would have amounted to a snug sum by this time.

A young man in New Jersey predicted his own death within forty-eight hours, and then smoked cigarettes until he became unconscious. Now the fulfillment of his prediction is solemnly referred to as a strange presentment.

A fire in California was recently put out with ten thousand gallons of wine. Remarks on the spirit with which the flames were fought are now in order, but there appears no good reason why they are so economical with the water.

It is rumored that the British naval attaché at Washington is to be sent home because he became too inquisitive about our Navy Department. If some more people could be deported for asking embarrassing questions, the naval clique would be happier.

A Western health authority comes out with the surprising theory that all persons found afflicted with smallpox ought first to be cured and then sent to jail on the ground that in these days smallpox is not a misfortune, but a crime.

It is evident that the old "Eastern Shore law" which was ignored and repealed by the republicans in 1896, when they elected George Wellington to the United States Senator, will be put in effect again. The law provides that one United States Senator must come from the Eastern Shore.

President Roosevelt is said to be anxious to get at the bottom of the railroad problems of the country. It would be a good plan to start right. Offer a prize for the best answer to the question "Is there anything the Interstate Commerce Commission can do without going contrary to law?"

The papers are full of accounts of people who, feeling a presentiment that they are to die, order their coffins, bid farewell to their friends, arrange for their funerals and make their wills. What society needs to contract this doleful procession is a man who, as soon as he feels this warning that he is going to die at a certain time, lets his funeral take care of itself and goes at once to see a doctor.

Captain Hobson is confident that our navy is far too small. The best argument in favor of a bigger one is that it may promote peace. We want no more wars, with their Sampson-Schley controversies and Philippine problems which set the blood of Senators to boiling. There are patriots who feel like the young man who undertook to settle up his father's estate, of which he was the principal heir. He was so bothered by the unusual work of executing documents and about leaving his work to go to Court that he exclaimed in exasperation: "Sometimes I almost wish father hadn't died!" The Philippines may be a fine property, but there are some other matters which are not wholly unworthy of attention.

According to the story of a man in charge, the dreadful explosion in New York took place in a shanty in which were stored thirteen boxes full of dynamite, and in which were also a lighted candle, a lot of paper and no adequate means of putting out a fire. The most reasonable person on the face of the earth could not expect fate to resist such a temptation as that. Only a miracle, apparently, could have averted disaster.

Children Especially Liable.
 Burns, bruises, and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up. writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." J. S. Denny and Wye Mills drug store.

Nelaton's Remedy for Rheumatism Is Curing Thousands.
 Within the past half year, when N. ELATON'S REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM was brought to public attention in this section, the cure had been doubted almost every month. The fact that in not one case in a thousand is it necessary to refund the money—which is always done wherever Nelaton's Remedy fails to cure—gives people who suffer from Rheumatism and kindred ills a confidence in this great medicine which has induced thousands to try it, and find the relief it will surely give.

The Purity

Do you know which is best, Of Flours in East or West; That will always stand the test, As Purity or Sherwood Brand?

Do you know where'er to find, Amongst Flours from berries grind; One of such superior kind, As Purity or Sherwood Brand?

What carries sunshine everywhere, What drives away the housewife's care, And gives to all a happy air, As Purity or Sherwood Brand?

What makes the housewife darkly frown, With ugly mien and look cast down; To sell out at last and then leave town, No Purity or Sherwood.
