WASHINGTON LETTER. Some News Collected at the National Capi-

WASHINGTON, March 17, 1902 .-The question of so amending the constitution as to permit of the election of senators by the people seems to have taken a new lease of life during the past week in Washington and is being actively discussed by the democrats in lobbies and in committee rooms. Col. William J. Bryan spent Thursday at the Capitol and warmly advocated the change, which may have added to the interest taken in the subject, though the agitation had begun before Mr. Bryan arrived. With a view to learning the actual status of the movement I made a limited canvass of the situation yesterd .y and obtained these opinions:

Senator Rawlins, of Utah, said that he was heartily in favor of the proposed change and believed it had a better opportunity of being adopted at this session than ever before. "If it is not adopted at this session, however," said the senator, "I believe there is considerable likelihood of its being made a party issue in the next eampaign." Senators Culberson and Bailey, of Texas, both expressed themselves as scrongly in favor of it. Sen. Vest, of Missouri, is unconditionally opposed to it. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, as is well known, is committed to it as is Senator Berry, also Arkansas, and both the senators from Tennessee. Senator Clay, of Georgia said he had discussed the matter with Colonel Bryan and that he hoped to see the amendment adopted. Senator Clark, of Montana, said he was committed to it and so did Senator Burrows, of Michigan. Senator Morgan, of Alabama, refused to express an opinion. Should the amendment pass the Senate it would be promptly adopted by the House. Richardson, the democratic leader, told me all the democrats would vote for it and a number of republicans would also. "It would make the strongest kind of a party issue," said a democratic member, "and I earnestly trust it will be adopted as such."

A democratic senator told me yesterday, apropos of Senator Hale's announcement to the newspaper men that he believed that Congress would adjourn about June 10th, that the policy of the republican steering committee was to avoid the consideration of the many knotty problems which confront it until after the election. "They wish to prevent all further debate on their actions" said the senator, "and with that end in view will permit liberal debate of the issues which are more or less non-partisan and will side-track those which the democrats seriously oppose. Then there will be the appropriation bills to be disposed of and they will occupy all of the time until adjournment. I think it most probable that considerable time will be devoted to the isthmian canal problem but I regard it as very doubtful if any bill will be

The Philippine problem is daily becoming more embarassing to the republican party and, despite the efforts of the republican press to pre-sent the news of the islands in an alluring manner, the facts will not Representative Slayden, of Texas, called my attention to some of the figures one day this week and said, "It is certainly remarkable that the people can be led to believe there is either wisdom or policy in paying out hundreds of thousands of dollars every year to maintain a standing entire army in the United States before the Spanish war and receiving few paltry thousands. The only people who are receiving any benefit or who will do so in the future are certain capitalists who will secure franchises and land grants which will enable them to farm the Philippines while the people pay the expense of maintaining peace so that the unfortunate islanders will submit to the farming process." "What would be the policy if the democratic party if they would stop fighting and or- to nal affairs and, as soon as they devel- | ping. oped sufficient strength to warrant it, we would give them absolute independence," was Slayden's reply.

All last week the Senate discussed the Ship Subsidy bill. Senator Vest delivered a most able speech on the subject exposing the fallacies of the republican reasoning with a scathing logic. Senator Depew supported the measure, as did also Senator Foraker but the latter's support was halffor the bill because the majority fa- arrest the progress of the disease.

The senator from Ohio is ey & Co. very angry with the senator from Alabama because of the latter's determination and makes all kind of dire threats. That the senators will treat the Senate to another Tillman-McLaurin episode is hardly to be expected although it is known that they nearly came to blows at one of the committee meetings and are very irascible old gentlemen.

The constant and severe application of the republican whip has about procured harmony in the House on ne question of Cuban reciprocity and it is expected that the joint committee which has been appointed to set-tle the difference between the beet sugar men and the party leaders will Hobbs, touch Federalsburg, thus run down women.
