

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Some News Collected at the National Capital by Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 17, 1902.—

Before he left Washington for his home in Georgia, Senator Clay spoke most encouragingly of the prospects of the democratic party at the coming elections. He told me that he believed the "let well enough alone" slogan, of which Hanna was the author, was practically worn out and he did not believe that, as the people came to realize that "let well enough alone" meant "let the trusts take all they desire and let the people have what is left," they would continue to listen to the platitudes inspired by the senator from Ohio. Senator Clay also believes that the passage of the Ship Subsidy bill by the Senate, notwithstanding the fact that the measure was so iniquitous that a number of the leading republican senators felt compelled to vote against it on conscientious grounds, will result in disaster to the republican party. Especially is this true when taken together with the fact that, as yet, the republican bill was not pushed in the House because it was felt that it would prove inimical to the interests of the party in the fall elections but, on the other hand, was retained in committee from which it can be expected to pass a reason as the elections are over. In a word, the Georgia senator does not believe that "you can fool all of the people all of the time" or even a majority of them.

Another charge, which in the estimation of the senator from Georgia, the people will bring against the republican party will be their unwillingness or incapacity to legislate in the direction urged by the President and demanded by a large faction of the party itself. In his message to Congress, the President laid special emphasis on the necessity for legislation to create federal supervision of trusts and make their affairs public. In private conversation with the leaders of his party, he urged them to frame a bill which would make the Sherman anti-trust law effective, but without any result. The House and Senate committees on Judiciary both refused to report any such law. With great combinations of capital putting up the prices on everything the people are compelled to buy, from food to fuel and clothing, and the party in power refusing to take any effective means to prevent the hardships thus imposed on the people, rich and poor alike. Senator Clay predicts that the people will find "nothing well enough to let alone."

Senator Vest, who, perhaps may be said to belong to the old school, do not regard the fall elections with as much hope as his colleague from Georgia. Speaking on the prospects, Saturday the "Little Giant from Missouri" said, "It is useless to protest against the Philippines. The republicans are the present boom they will carry the fall elections and the next presidential election. Of course they are in alliance with the trusts. That, no sane man can deny. The sugar trust, for instance, has put up with enough to defeat the House bill providing for reciprocity with Cuba and in their general legislation they have shown conclusively their intention not to attack the trusts in any way. Nevertheless, while the trusts and manufacturers continue to receive high prices for their products, the republican party will continue to remain in power. As to the fall elections, I am not certain that much would be gained by the democrats if they carried the House. Sooner or later a financial revision is bound to come and if it should come while the democrats were in possession of the House the politicians would persuade the people that the democrats were responsible for the reversal of "republican prosperity." When the revision comes the democrats will be reinstated but not till then. That is my judgment and I am sorry if it differs from the opinion of other members of my party."

Before leaving Washington the President authorized the issuance of a document which is another evidence of the willingness of the administration to make good the promise of the general's staff. I refer to the order issued by direction of the President and signed by Secretary Root in which he indulges in the most fulsome praise of the army. While there is no sentiment among the democrats which would deprive the public of this high praise which it desires of this production of the secretary of war and of the President is so emphatically "for political purposes only" that it is regarded as the most insipid and tasteless in the connection. It is worthy of note that Secretary Root has again taken occasion to humiliate General Miles by refusing to honor his recommendation that Captain Robert C. Van Vleet be appointed on the general's staff as inspector of small arms practice. In refusing to sanction the recommendation, Secretary Root refers to article 214 of the army regulations but, as the friends of General Miles point out, that regulation refers to "department commanders" and has no application to "the general commanding the army." Therefore the action of the secretary is tantamount to an attempt to place General Miles on the same footing as a department commander and is entirely without the province of the secretary of war.

While, to speak of a deficiency in the treasury surplus seems more than startling, now that Congress has adjourned, a brief examination of the national finances is in order and such an examination may throw some light on the "revelation" anticipated by Senator Vest. According to the statement made by Senator Allison, the republican party, on the last day of the session, the Fifth-seventh Congress has so far appropriated $800,193,837 exclusive of the contracts authorized and which must be paid for at some future time.

DEMOCRATS MEET.

Arrangements Made for the Congressional Campaign.—Convention Dates.

The work of the Democratic State Central Committee, which met Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Eutaw House, Baltimore is herewith presented our readers. Harmony prevailed and every element of the party was represented. A more liberal spirit than has been shown in recent years was exhibited in the resolutions and by many present the belief was expressed that the party managers had at last seen the wisdom of throwing away their "gunnys" and are about to enter a campaign without these hitherto necessary articles.

The arrangements made for the coming campaign, as well as for the fight in the spring, seem to satisfy everyone, and there is seemingly nothing about them which will antagonize any element. In fact, one well-known Democrat who has not hitherto been friendly to the organization was heard to say after the meeting that henceforth the party's general policy there would be nothing but "straight politics" and that the new primary law had made impossible the sulking of any one leader with a following, on the plea that he had been robbed of his rights.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Vandiver a little after one o'clock, and Secretary Lloyd Wilkinson read the roll. Every county responded save Garrett. Chairman Vandiver made a few opening remarks.

After stating that the committee had been called to arrange for the Congressional campaign, "which full and free consultation will enable us to make bold, aggressive and successful," he continued:

"As you are aware, a meeting of the Democrats of Baltimore city assembled in this parlor last Monday afternoon, and they declared it was inexpedient to hold primaries in Baltimore city for party organization before 1903. It was the sense of the parties present that this committee should appoint a committee of seven to conduct the spring campaign and for that purpose I will call this committee together during the first week in January, 1903."

Upon the conclusion of the chairman's remarks, a motion was made that a committee on resolutions be appointed, consisting of one member from each Congressional district and, that all resolutions be referred to this committee without debate. Chairman Vandiver announced the following as members of this committee:

First District—State Senator Marion V. Brewington, of Wisconsin.

Second District—State Senator T. A. Robinson, of Harford.

Third District—John Hannibal, of Baltimore city.

Fourth District—William F. Porter, of Baltimore city.

Fifth District—J. Frank Smith, of St. Mary's county.

Sixth District—Catterly W. Talbot, of Montgomery county.

The conventions for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for Congress shall be held as follows: First Congressional district at Ocean City, September 4; Second Congressional district at Havre de Grace, August 25; Third Congressional district at Manhattan Hall, September 11; Fourth Congressional district at Russell's Hall, September 11; Fifth Congressional district at Cross Street Hall, September 11; Sixth Congressional district at Cumberland, September 4.

In the counties of the State the members of this committee shall give at least two weeks' notice of the time and place for holding primary elections to choose delegates to the county conventions to select delegates to the Congressional district conventions heretofore provided for, and shall make all and every provision for the securing of a full, fair and free expression of the will of the Democratic voters of their respective counties. They shall designate in advance by public notice, to be published in some newspaper in their respective counties at least twice, the places at which the meetings shall be held, and shall designate the hours during which the polls shall be open.

Teachers to Receive Pensions.

Provision has been made by the State Board of Education for carrying into effect the act to pension old and infirm teachers. The legislature appropriated $10,000 to be devoted to this cause, and the act authorizes the comptroller to pay each teacher who is over 60 years old and has served 25 years continuously as a teacher in the public schools a pension of $200 per year when he becomes disabled and unfit for active work. The rules adopted by the board require that the pensioner shall make application to the state board of education for the pension, accompanying it with physician's certificate as to the disability and with proofs of his services as a teacher. The board then certifies the names of those entitled to the pensions to the comptroller. Only 50 teachers can be pensioned under the present appropriation.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the glorious United States of America and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. The trouble was controlled in much shorter time than former attacks when I used other remedies."

Dr. Charles F. Davidson, of Easton, who has been bedridden by cellulitis in the right foot, is convalescing. The doctor's trouble was brought about by the fulfillment of his professional duties and, had it not been for the timely use of the knife by Doctors Julius A. Johnson and Guy Steel, most serious results might have ensued.

Maryland's Peach Crop.

"Several years ago the failure of the Delaware peach crop used to mean an awful lot to us," said a Philadelphia wholesale produce merchant the other day. "It meant practically that our only supply of peaches for Maryland was not then competing so much with Delaware and, anyway, the failure of one crop would virtually mean the failure of the other, both being very much in the same belt. Conditions are changed, however, we can get along very well without the Delaware crop, since Georgia has come to the front as a peach-raising state and the Georgia peaches last year were up to the time the Jersey shipments commence. Delaware, accordingly, is not so important as we once thought. Four places in the peach-growing states of the east Georgia is first, with 7,500,000 fruit-bearing trees; Maryland is next with 1,015,000 trees; New Jersey next, with 770,000 and Delaware fourth with 2,300,000."

Hot Weather Drinks.

Boil a cupful of sugar with a pint of water for ten minutes. When cool, add the juice of three lemons and an orange. Serve one part of syrup to three or four parts of water, with a few thin slices of banana in each glass, if you wish to add a pretty finishing touch. This is improved by rubbing oil of the zest of one or two lemons in the sugar and adding to the syrup.

Put two quarts of fresh red raspberries over the fire, with a cupful of water; stew five minutes, strain in a bag, and add two cupfuls of sugar, half a cupful of vinegar and three cupfuls of water. Boil ten minutes. Can while hot, and serve as above. A little cracked ice makes all these drinks more inviting on a hot day.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. Serve one part of medicine to one part of water, and which is always kept on hand at the home of every family. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who are afflicted with this easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer time.—Lansing, Iowa Journal. For sale by B. E. Cockey & Co.

FORECASTS FOR JULY.

Hicks Predicts Intense Heat, Hall Storms and a Long Drouth.

A Venus disturbance is central on the 24th extending its influence beyond the middle of the month. The effects of this Venus period will be very marked during the regular volcanic storm period extending from the 4th to the 10th. On the 4th and 5th moon is at her extreme declination north, in perigee, and at new moon. These facts, added to other existing causes, foreshadow a warm wave of great intensity, a low state of barometric pressure, a high per cent of atmospheric humidity and some severe storms of thunder, wind, rain and hail. All practicable provisions should be made against destructive hail storms at this and other storm periods during the Venus disturbance. Look out for such storms from about the 4th to the 10th. Changes to quite cool for the season may be expected on the heels of these disturbances.

On the 10th the moon crosses the celestial equator and is covered by the combined winds of the Venus storm periods. The reactionary storms due about the 11th to 13th will most probably develop on and touching the 10th. Excessively warm weather will exist prior to storm calculations at this time. The position of the planet Saturn falls on the 17th and, unless frequent and general electrical storms occur to break up the concentration of solar energy, a prolonged term of intensely warm weather will continue all the way to the end of the month and severe drouth will prevail over most parts of the country up to the September equinox and the present seismic state of unrest will be prolonged.

As you are aware, some notable disturbances between the 16th and the 20th. If these disturbances do not take the form of heavy electrical storms, phenomenal heat will prevail. If marked electrical storm developments come a respite from the intense heat and drouth will be the 24th, the day of the moon's passage across the celestial equator, look out for severe thunder storms.

The last period for July will culminate during the closing days of the month. Severe drouth and thunder storms being in transit from west to east as July goes out.

To Rid Store of Loafers.

Milton, Del., merchants are trying to solve the problem of keeping loafers away from the front steps of their stores on Saturdays. They are now ready for suggestions of new plans. One plan tried was to pour oil over the steps of the stores. The idea was that the man who sat on the steps would soil his clothing and would soon leave not to return again. Evidently the loafers heard of this plan early, for they dressed themselves in clothing which was not affected by oil and proceeded to sit on the steps as usual. Since the use of the molasses stores have talked of coating the steps with coal tar, so that the loafers would stick fast if they sat down but this plan was abandoned. The storekeepers figured out that it would take too much time to scrape the coal tar from the steps on Monday mornings. It is not known what scheme will be tried next, but some have suggested that the town policeman take a hand and arrest some of the people who insist upon leading in front of the stores and other places where they are not wanted.

Fish Hatchery for Maryland.

Senator McComas' bill appropriating $25,000 to establish a fish hatchery in Maryland, has passed the Senate. Maryland now has only two hatcheries for the raising of fish, one at Annapolis and one at Pocomoke. The McComas bill is identical with the Pearce bill in the House, and Senator McComas and Colonel Pearce concur that this hatchery, which can be located in the discretion of the commissioner, should be located in Garrett county, the headwaters of all the streams of the Alleghenies, and thus all Maryland streams can be filled with fish for all time to come.

Another Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats anything she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. J. S. Denny and Wye Mills drug store.

It Dazzles the World.

No discovery in medicine has ever created one quarter of the excitement that has been caused by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. It's secret has been known by hopeless victims of consumption, pneumonia, hemorrhage, pleurisy and bronchitis, thousands of whom it has restored to perfect health. For coughs, colds, asthma, croup, hay fever, hoarseness and whooping cough it is the quickest cure in the world. It is sold by B. E. Cockey & Co., who guarantee satisfaction or refund money. WHEELWRIGHT AND BLACKSMITH.

Teachers Must Have a Hearing.

The new law passed by the last session of the legislature in regard to prohibiting the arbitrary dismissal of teachers by school trustees was tested before the Howard county school board on Tuesday. Two of the trustees of the public school at Dayton had appointed a new teacher to the school without preferring charges against the present teacher and without notifying her of her dismissal. The school board refused to confirm the appointment and notified the trustees that their action was without warrant and that the teacher of the past year was still principal.

The teacher's tenure of office was safeguarded to a certain extent by a recent act of the legislature. Under the terms of this act, teachers cannot be dismissed at all by the trustees without a hearing, and the charges on which they are to be tried to be preferred in writing. The law, therefore, gives the teacher, when the trustees' decision is adverse, the right of appeal to the board of county school commissioners, whose decision shall be final. The teachers throughout the State are much interested in the provisions of this law, and it goes without saying that they earnestly hope that the interpretation placed upon it by President Johnson, of the Howard county school board, will prove to be a correct one. Mr. Johnson declares that this law applies the civil service reform principle to teachers.

Dr. Thomas Hackett Dead.

Dr. Thomas Hackett, one of the oldest and most prominent physicians of the Eastern Shore, died suddenly of heart failure on Monday last at his residence, "Medical Hill," Hillsboro. He was born March 26, 1826, and was the son of William and Mary Hackett. He obtained his literary education at Washington College and, subsequently graduated from the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Pa. Dr. Hackett was twice married and leaves five children: Thomas Cox Hackett, a farmer; Dr. Robert Hackett, of Queen Anne; Mrs. Howard H. Hopkins, wife of Dr. Hopkins, of this town, and Misses Margaret and Katherine Hackett. The funeral was from St. Paul's P. E. Church, Hillsboro on Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock. The following gentlemen acted as pallbearers: Drs. Edward Harcastle and Thomas Martin, of Easton; Alex. Harcastle and Enoch George, of Denton; Charles Rose and C. M. Steele, of Cordova.

Camp-Meeting at Rehoboth.

Rehoboth, Delaware's popular seaside resort, will become a mecca for Methodists this season and an effort is being made to make the camp-meeting season one of the most successful spiritually, ever held in the historic grove. The camp-meeting will begin on Wednesday, August 13, and will continue until August 28. For the first three days an Epworth League assembly will be held and Epworth Leaguers from all over the Peninsula will be specially urged to attend this session. A large number of tents will be prepared for the accommodation of young people who attend the assembly in a party. During the camp-meeting a Bible class will be held every day, for Scripture study and every evening a surf meeting will be held, which will be made a special feature. The Queen Anne's Railroad, which runs into Rehoboth, is making special rates for the camp-meeting season and, besides offering special rates, will run several excursions.

Kent Trolley Road.

Col. Edwin H. Cochran, Jr., Senator McCullough and Mr. Tennis, representatives of the Kent and Cecil Light, Power and Railway Company, visited Kent county last Saturday and drove over the route of the proposed trolley road to Rock Hall and Tolchester. Mr. Tennis is a practical and extensive builder of electric roads. At this time he is engaged in the construction of six others. The gentlemen were well pleased with their trip and the prospects for success of their enterprise. Mr. Tennis stated positively, that, if favorable action by the county commissioners was had, he would build the road from Elkton to Rock Hall, and would begin at once with a force of workmen at both terminals.

Polishing the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then, if neglected, eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Bitters present this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. J. S. Denny and Wye Mills drug store.
