When the Republican party "goes to the country," this campaign, what will it say in answer to the question why the Republican Senate refused to accept the Cuban Reciprocity bill sent to it by the Republican House of Representatives? Will it be frank and say that it was because the bill was objectionable to the Sugar Trust in that it absolutely repealed the differential duties on refined sugars, which would have been a benefit to the people but might have pinched the profits of the Sugar Trust? And yet that is the only truthful answer that can be made.

General Edward S. Bragg, consul-general at Havana, denies that he wrote in a letter to his wife that "Uncle Sam might as well try to make a whistle out of a pig's tail as to try to make something out of the Latin race." What he did write, he says, was that "when Uncle Sam got through trying to make a whistle out of a pig's tail he would report whether or he could make an Anglo-Saxon out of a Cuban." But the difference between what he is charged with writing, and what he admits he wrote, is so slight that it is no wonder that the people of Havana are mad at General Bragg.

Here and there may be found newspapers disposed to be merry at the expense of Mr. Watterston and Mr. Bryan on the subject of Mr. Cleveland and another nomination for the presidency. Well, those two distinguished men are indulging in no pipe dream. Mr. Cleveland would not object to making another race, and a number of his admirers have hopes of supporting him again. Reorganization means to them not only a repudiation of Bryanism, but a return to Clevelandism. Gossip to this effect is often heard in political circles. It is not too early, therefore, for those who have other views to express them. It is true, indeed, as Mr. Watterston contends, that the fatal return to Cleveland leadership in 1892 might have been prevented if those who foresaw its unhappy consequences had moved in time and with sufficient energy and aggressiveness. So far as he is concerned, Mr. Watterston is not going to repeat that mistake. He is again Mr. Cleveland, and has begun a serial story likely to run some 20 months or more giving the reasons why. But who is his choice for the next nomination and upon what platform? He is too much of a man to belong to the Micawber faction of his party.

The story of the inventor who claims to have found a way of extracting the oxygen from the atmosphere and by combining it with something else manufacture a fuel that will revolutionize all the present methods of producing light and heat is attracting a good deal of more or less serious attention—probably less than more. An exchange sees in it a somewhat alarming contingency. The editor calls attention to the fact that a method of drawing the nitrogen from the air and turning it into cheap artificial nitrates is already in use. And he points out that if all the nitrogen in the air is turned into fertilizers, and all the oxygen into light and fuel, the question will be asked—if there is anybody left to ask it: "What are we going to breathe?" And then the editor nervously suggests that now is the time for some inventive genius to lay the foundations for an everlasting fortune by inventing a substitute for air.

The editor puts the case in a graphic and impressive manner, but he appears to forget one element that might exert considerable influence over the final outcome. There is no doubt that as the supply of breathing material grows less some mammoth syndicate, chartered perhaps in New Jersey, will suddenly rush in and corner all the available air that is left, thus holding the fertilizing interest, the light and fuel interest and the very existence of the human race at its mercy. Wouldn't that asphyxiate you?

Netleton's Remedy for Rheumatism is the best in the world. Within the past half year, when NETLETON'S REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM was brought to public attention in this section, the sales have doubled almost every month. The fact that in not one case in a thousand is it necessary to refund the money—which is always done wherever Netleton's Remedy fails to cure—gives people who suffer from Rheumatism and kindred ills a confidence in this great medicine, which has induced thousands to try it, and find the relief which it surely gives.

A seven-mast schooner, 368 feet long, 30 feet beam and 264 feet depth of hold, with a capacity of 7,500 tons, was launched at Quincy, Mass., Thursday. It has not been so many years since a four-mast schooner was regarded as a doubtful experiment, and now, with one of seven masts, the limit is still a matter of conjecture. This monster sailing vessel will carry 43,000 square feet of canvas on masts 155 feet high. And she will be run capably with a crew of only 16 men. The facility with which schooners may be handled by small crews constitutes their great economy over other kinds of sailing vessels.

The best Liniment for Strains.
 Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains. I used it last winter for a severe lameness in the side, resulting from a strain, and was greatly pleased with the quick relief and cure it effected. Sold by R. E. Cockey & Co."

Notice to the Public.

BELOW is published the Local Law relating to Roads and Bridges in Queen Anne's county:
 (1899) Art. 17, Section 102.
 (229) "If any person shall alter, change, obstruct or encroach upon any road in Queen Anne's county, or cut down, destroy or injure any bridge, conveyance, boundary, mark or direction thereon, he shall, on conviction thereof, in the Circuit Court for said county, be fined at the discretion of the Court, not exceeding fifty dollars, to be paid to and accounted for by the Supervisor of the district in which the damage may be done."

The County Commissioners hereby give notice that any person hauling dirt or sand from any public road in said county, or who shall obstruct any drain or ditch draining any road by placing brush or other material or filling therewith, or who shall be guilty of any act which will be prosecuted before the Circuit Court for Queen Anne's county.
 And notice is hereby given that any Traction Engines must, before crossing any bridge, to first place their wheels across the bridge crossed by said engine, the owner of the engine to carry at least two 16 foot levers and all bridges over 20 feet the county will keep such bridges supplied with boards. Nor will any engine be allowed to stand on any bridge or water.
 Any injury resulting to any bridge where any of the above regulations are violated will be prosecuted before the Circuit Court for Queen Anne's county.
 All Supervisors of Roadwork hereby directed to enforce the above regulations and report any violations of them.
 By order County Commissioners,
 J. J. JONES, M. P. PARVIS, Clerk.

WOMAN'S RELIEF

A really healthy woman has little pain or discomfort at the menstrual period. No woman needs to have any. Wine of Cardui will quickly relieve those smarting, menstrual pains and the dragging, head, back and side aches caused by falling of the womb and irregular menses.
WINE OF CARDUI has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 women who suffered every month. It makes the menstrual organs strong and healthy. It is the provision made by Nature to give women relief from the terrible aches and pains which blight so many homes.

Queenstown, Md., Oct. 11, 1900.
 I have been very much troubled for some time with a severe pain in my side and could not get on my feet. I tried a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Before I had taken all of it, I felt better. I feel it my duty to say that you have a wonderful medicine.
