DAYS OF HYDROPHOBIA.

The "Dog Days" are now upon us and the Owners Must be Most Watchful.

Sirius is rising with the sun and casting his baleful influence on the members of the canine race.

The pampered pug and the tramp dog of the streets alike are realizing the proverb that every dog has his day.

Keepers of canines are exercising more careful watch over the movements and symptoms of their beasts and suspicious actions will land the unfortunate victim on the wrong side of pounddom as quickly as the gasped human is lodged in jail.

Formerly, this season began about August 10, but now it is reckoned from about July 4 to August 11th.

While many skeptics openly sneer at such a circumstance being the cause of dog madness, it is a question argued by some of the devoted followers of judicial astronomer, and there are many who prefer to keep on the safe side by adhering to a dog-day code of ethics handed down through a long line of believing ancestors.

The professional fisherman, has also, his hobby about poisoned waters at such sections of the summer, and is backed up by others of the genus nautical.

Reviewing the peach, pear and berry crops for the present year, for the Superintendent Isaac N. Mills, of the Delaware railroad says: "There will be about one-half a crop of peaches, which means well for the growers."

St. Swithin was St. Swithin's Day. According to a tradition of Saint Swithin if Tuesday last be fair the succeeding forty days will be of the same character.

St. Swithin was giving an opportunity, Tuesday of giving one sports fair for the rest of the summer.

St. Swithin was the patron of Winchester, and he died in 892. The tradition is that after the death of the saint his body was buried in the open churchyard and not in the chancel of the church, as was usual with persons of his rank.

There have been no corn quotations for about ten days, an occurrence, according to J. Hume Smith, superintendent of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, not previously recorded in the history of the exchange.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dizziness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied.

White Man Turned Yellow. Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow.

EDITORS AT CAPE MAY.

President William H. Bosley, of the Queen Anne's Railroad, Gives Them a Ride.

The Maryland Democratic Editors' Association went to Cape May, N. J., this year on their annual outing.

Cape May is considered the Queen of New Jersey seaside resorts, its most distinctive features being: The finest beach on the Atlantic coast.

An entire absence of beach front booths.

A magnificent ocean-skirting drive of several miles.

Cool, spacious, neatly-furnished beach pavilions.

Public concerts daily by a famous military band.

The finest golf links and grounds on the coast.

Seashore and country combined in the most charming way.

A short business session was held Saturday and the following resolutions adopted: Resolved, by the Democratic Editors' Association of Maryland that our thanks are due and tendered President William H. Bosley and the officers of the Queen Anne's Railroad Company for the courtesy and kindness with which they have treated us on our annual outing.

SOFT CRABS SCARCE.

Crabbers Still Laboring Hard to Obtain a Substence from Their Catch.

The hard crab and soft crab is in its glory about and ashore. On shore it is conspicuous on the bill-of-fare of all the leading hotels and restaurants and is a delicacy on the table in many homes.

The quantity of both soft and hard crabs taken in Maryland so far this year has been much smaller than in many years previous and, of course, the price has been higher but, although the prices this year have not been as low as in former years, yet they are not as high as they have been many times in the past for soft crabs have been known to sell as high as $2.50 per dozen.

Crisfield is the great crab center in the state and, at this time of the year the crab industry occupies the attention of great numbers of her inhabitants.

The hard crab, or which is often termed the blue crab, changes his suit when the weather gets warm and for a few days, while his new shell is growing, is in a very defenseless condition.

The younger the crab the softer he changes his coat. For the crab grows only while in the soft shell condition; so, before a crab attains his full growth he sheds several times during the warm months but after he has reached his full size he seldom sheds oftener than once a year.

The time it takes for a soft crab to become a hard-shelled one varies from one to two or three weeks and sometimes longer. The shedding process is often very difficult, as well as sometimes fatal, and while the soft crab is in the defenseless condition it is liable to be taken by any hungry prowler that may happen to find it.

General Riggs will send the First Maryland Regiment into camp at Belair, instead of Queenstown, as reported. The regiment will report at the encampment on Saturday, August 2nd.

As soon as the general orders are received Colonel Little will issue orders to all companies except Company D, which is stationed in Belair, to assemble in Baltimore.

When the supervisors of election in the city as well as in the various counties of the state prepare the form of the ballot to be voted next November they will probably decide upon a square very much larger than that used heretofore.

A Railroad, 20 Miles Long, Sold.

That part of the Baltimore & Delaware Bay Railroad extending from Woodland Beach to Massey's, a distance of twenty miles, was sold on a mortgage held by the Pennsylvania Company, at Smyrna recently and was purchased by John T. Dyer, of Philadelphia, for $15,150.

The late Jay Gould purchased this road for one dollar, and fifteen years ago excursions were run to Woodland Beach, thence to Cape May by steamers or Clyde.

The iron rails on the road are said to be worth $20,000. That section of the line from Clayton to Woodland Beach has not been used for a number of years and has very few rails on it, most of them having been taken up some time ago.
