The corn is so big in Nebraska this year they have decided to utilize the stalks for telephone poles and the cobs for crossties.

By means of a new compound a Baltimore chemist turns the soil into fuel. This may be the nearest thing to making coal as cheap as dirt:

The Hon. John D. Urie, the wouldlike-to-be republican leader of Kent, had a slow fever followed by a severe chill after the republican primaries last Saturday.

When asked the other day to pose for a photograph J. Pierpont Morran said he wouldn't do it for $5,-00,000. Oh, how that man must hate his face!

Riding in an automobile going at a mile a minute on country roads is a new way to commit suicide, but is too expensive ever to become the favorite method.

The latest proposition is a candy trust. It is not surprising to hear hat the scheme is meeting with difficulties. If the trustmakers get hold of candy and millinery they will know what real trouble is, for the women will be after them, and lose his sight. Finally a neighbor then-look out!

A man who once went through the rapids of Niagara in a barrel is now going to try and swim through them. If he fails, he will lose his life; if Relieves piles at once. Beware of he succeeds, the rapids will still remain unnavigable for the majority of mankind, so nothing much will come of the foolish attempt except a little notoriety, which may not even pay living dividends.

The prolongation of the coal strike has already reached the proportion s of a public calamity. Nobody cares much now as to what the original issues may have been. There was never much sympathy with the miners, because it was generally believed that there was not sufficient provocation for such a movement, and this feeling was strengthened by the narrow margin by which the strike was voted, which proved that nearly half of the men concerned did not want to strike. On the other hand, there has been, if possible, still less sympathy with the operators. There has been a widespread conviction that they have not dealt fairly with their men, and that some of t'e miners' grievances, norably the inequalities in the weighing of coal, might have been and ought to have been remedied without a strike or the menace of one.

All this, however, belongs to past phrases of the question. The public is in no mood now for fine balancings of right and wrong as to the original Bills dispute. It wants coal, it wants it badly, and it wants it at a price which shall not be extortionate. It views with increasing impatience the futile, puctile and, it is inclined to believe, insincere efforts of the operators to resume the mining of coal.

Weeks ago the operators insisted that Weeks ago the operators insisted that they could mine coal if they were only sure of protection. They have heen given profection, but they have made no serious effort to resume operations. Here and there a feeble beginning has been made, but in a spagnedic and half-hearted way, which has conveyed no assurance of a real purpose to supply the public

> Somebody suggests as a precaution against germs to light a fire about once a week in the coal stove or furnace these cool nights and let the hot air pass through the house. The recipients of this advice will be apt to think the "hot air" lies chiefly in the advice, and to retort that that, as it will be hard enough to get up a fire. when it is needed in winter, the germs will have to look out for themselves.

Mr. George Davidson, Sr., Dead. Hon. George Davidson, Sr., died of peritonitis at the residence of his son, Dr. Charles F. Davidson, in Easton, Sunday noon. Mr. Davidson was born near Centreville, March 2, 1840. Af-ter completing his education at a prirate academy in Centreville he engaged in and was prominent in business affairs in our town for many years. In 1891 he removed to and managed his estate of six hundred acres near Carmichael. Mr. Davidson was a county commissioner of Queen Anne's county for two terms, from 1887 to 1891, and served as a judge of the orphaus' court from 1891 to 1895. He was noted for his impartial judgments, able interpretation of the law and for his skill, two sons were born, Dr. Charles F. Davidson, of Easton, and Philip T.
