WASHINGTON LETTER. Some News Collected at the National Capi-

lal by Our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Aug. 25th, 1902 .-The news comes from Philadelphia that the officials of the Pennsylvania railroad have effected another mer ger. This time it is the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington railroad that has absorbed the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore and the Baltimore and Potomac railroads and will be merged with the Baltimore & Ohio, bringing the Pennsylvania and the B. & O. railroads under one cor-porate management. With such a merger taking place in his immediate neighborhood it is difficult to understand what glory the President can take unto himself by virtue of his suit against the Northern Securities Company. The virtual consoli-dation of the B. & O. and the Pennsylvania systems has been effected for sometime and still the attorney general makes no move to enjoin the mergers. Another phase of the new organization will consist of the issue of bonds to the extent of $10,000,000. This issue it is alleged is to cover the expense of the proposed union station in Washington, but as is well known Congress by the provisions of the bill now resting in the House committee on the District of Columbia, will donate lands and privileges to the merged company which are valued at nearly that sum and it is predicted by persons familiar with the methods of procedure followed by great corporations that the time is not far distant when the bonds will be taken up by an increased issue of stock which will represent the value of the donation, Congress will make to the Penn-zylvania railroad. If there is any sincerity about the President's protestations that he is opposed to great rail-road monopolies, he will turn his attention to the nefarious bill which Congress proposes to pass and to the Pennsylvania railroad trust, the organization of which is being perfected almost before his eyes.

Probably no more difficult situation ever confronted an aspirant for election to the highest office in the land than that which confronts the President. Although he deftly refrained from inciting the last Congress to action against the trusts, betions in his first message, his Inde-pendence Day speech startled the proprietors of the octopi and they quick-ly made it known that a campaign conducted along the lines laid down on that occasion would receive no support from them. Republican politicians promptly notified the President that he must adopt a more con-servative tone in dealing with the trusts, the alleged plans formulated by the President and Representative Littlefield, of Maine, were immediheard in regard to the trusts or the modification of the tariff with a view to their suppression until the Iowa republicans met and adopted a platform inimical to the interests of the trusts' magnates. Secretary Shaw then went to Oyster Bay and conferred with the President and it was given out, after his visit, that he would voice the sentiments of the President on the trust and tariff question during the campaign. Consequently, the scoretary's first speech will be known as Labor's Holiday. made at Morrisville, Vt., was awaited | The banks and public offices will be with interest. The secretary defend- | closed. tarill bill, indulged in a number of general statements in regard to the great interest his party took in the welfare of the workingman and probably leased the trust magnates and the capitalists but woefully disappointed the advocates of tariff reform of which there is an immense number in the republican party throughout the west

Now the President is on a tour of the country. He will not, it is stated take up partisan questions which would be unbecoming in the President of all the people. Under this specious plea he will avoid the trust and tariff questions, at least so his friends hope. On the other hand, he already given a forecast of his addresses to the people. Judging by his New Haven effort his line of argument is to consist of a laudation of the army and the Philippine policy. When he gets out west it is more than likely that he will become impressed by the prevalent demand of the people for tariff revision and again indulge in statements calculatad, he will believe, to make votes but which will offend the capitalists who rely on the republican party to protect them in their monopolizing of Wilson, who returned recently from the west, has made public a statement in which he says that the Iowa republican platform means that the people expect the republican party to revise those tariff schedules which protect the trusts. To sum up, the President is trying to ride two horses with the election in 1904 as his goal and in the opinion of the best judges in Washington he is going to find the lack of knowledge of the existing conditions in the south could have prompted such a waste of breath. For an intelligent politician to assume that the republican machines in the south exist for any other purpose than for the division of spoils bespeaks an ignorance or an overestimate of the credulity of the people which is surprising. Leading democrats in Washington are surprised and amused by what they describe as the President's guilelessness. On the the President's guilelessness. On the other hand, the leaders of the republican party in the southern states are indignant at what they call the Presdent's effrontery in undertaking to

Dr. Charles H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states; "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of in Washington he is going to find the task a difficult one.
