TO: THE PUBLIC.

the anger of the interested, I have deemed is necessary to make the following statement, which trust will convince every impartial mind, that my petition for an act of infolvency trae preceeded from absolute necessity. In July, 1801, I embarked for India, in the employment of a respectable à mercantile house as any in America. and under as favourable prospects as I could have expected; in fact, they were such as justified an anticipation of the most profectious and pleasing issue ;-But the teverse was my fate; for, on my return, in June 1803, I had au interview with my constituent, when I discovered to my mortis, fication, that I had sustained a tofs to the smount, of nearly 2,400 dollars, which I was suid for im the City of Baltimore, as well as I at the ent recollect, in the September following : phich with I answered by giving the secur ty in such case required Those suit- I desended for sour or five years, when they came to an isue, fome in favour of, and some against me. But it may not be unimportant to observe, that the cost on one particular suit, which terminated, in my favour, amounted to within 200 dollars of the debt, which was 900 . The refitue of debts proceeding from this voyage amounted to nearly 1.600 dollars, which I have within a few hundred paid. And I do now wemnly protest, as the most sacred of truths. that had I been fairly and justly dealt big & -Hould not have had one dollar to have maid; butkiniming I was the primitive cause of the debt zisting, I could not bear the idea of taking an unduradvantage, of those, who had ou the rese ectability of my constituent, allisted me in time of distrem; these weighty considerations induced me to hold myself bound, and endeavour to discharge the debts ;-this I have done for siz years past, with the most indefitigable diligence. but findi: g, in giving my situation the most ample Consideration, that it will be impossible under s sti g times and circumstances, to make my engagements. I am bound from the principle of self preservation to surrender. Painful as it is to me, in doing it, I trust no person will be so destitute of humatety, as to ascribe an acrof necem sity, to that of ingratifude, I am, however, too well acquainted with the nature of mankind, to expect to escape the aspersions of some; those that shall make the attempt, I hope will, in justhe to me, do it in such a way as I may have an opportunity of a refutation.
