

the election of another in his place, of which ten days notice at the least, excluding the day of notice and the day of election, shall be given.

IX. That not less than a majority of the delegates, with their speaker, (to be chosen by them by ballot) shall constitute a house for the transacting any business, other than that of adjourning.

X. That the house of delegates shall judge of the elections and qualifications of delegates.

XI. That the house of delegates may originate all money bills, propose bills to the senate, or receive those offered by that body, and assent dissent, or propose amendments; that they may inquire, on the oath of witnesses, into all complaints, grievances and offences, as the grand inquest of this state, and may commit any person for any crime to the public gaol, there to remain till he be discharged by due course of law; they may expel any member for a great misdemeanor, but not a second time for the same cause; they may examine and pass all accounts of the state, relating either to the collection or expenditure of the revenue, or appoint auditors to state and adjust the same; they may call for all public or official papers and records, and send for persons, whom they may judge necessary, in the course of their inquiries, concerning affairs relating to the public interest, and may direct all office bonds (which shall be made payable to the state) to be sued for any breach of duty.

XII. That the senate may be at full and perfect liberty to exercise their judgment in passing laws, and may originate any other except money bills, and may propose
