MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. HOPKINS was excused from attending the sessions of the convention for a few days on account of sickness in his family.

Messrs. CLARKE, JONES, of Somerset, RUSSELL, RIDGELY, DAVIS, of Charles, DUVAL, EDELEN, and MITCHELL were also excused from attending the sessions of this convention for a few days.

Mr. BELT. In the course of the remarks I had the honor to submit yesterday to the convention, in which I threw out this system of representation which my colleague and myself have advocated, as well as other members, I promised to give the convention this morning, in a practical shape, the form which I desired to be substituted for the other reports. I wish to explain not having done so. The reason for my failure to do it was this, that instead of asking the convention to vote upon a dozen or twenty sections, I thought the whole thing would be accomplished by a direct vote upon the proposition submitted by my colleague, as a test question. The convention having decided against the proposition he submitted, I did not feel justified in occupying the time in offering the amendment.

Mr. THOMAS moved that when the convention adjourns to-day it stand adjourned until Monday next, at 12 o'clock.

Mr. HEBB. I rise to a point of order; that we must sit every day under the order of the house.

The PRESIDENT. I know of no such order as that.

Mr. THOMAS. A great many members have been excused. I have not asked to be excused, but I shall be under the necessity of being absent in Baltimore to-morrow, for my court is in session, and there are a great many people lying in jail there who want to get out.
