

may fortunately tend to his reformation unless by a longer continuance in the society of persons more hardened in iniquity. He should as is most probable adopt their depraved principles and conduct to his entire destruction, and the said Solomon Hall being recommended by several respectable inhabitants of Baltimore Town as an object worthy of the clemency and interposition of government, I have therefore thought proper to pardon the said Solomon Hall, for the offence aforesaid, and do order and direct that He be forthwith discharged from what remains unperformed of the work and labour to which He has been as aforesaid sentenced and adjudged - Given under the seal of the State of Maryland this twelfth day of January in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and thirty five
