upon occasion of some warrants granted out against some persons that had made property; a question was moved in the court whether persons having made property during the assembly might be arrested before the assembly was dissolved. And Captain Cornwall's and James Baldridge were of opinion that they might. But the rest of the court generally concurred that after the writs issued for summoning the assembly, no man having any to repair unto the assembly, might be arrested, until a return of some of time after the dissolution of the said assembly, for the return of some.

Came into the court Edward Parrie of the Isle of Kent planter, and desired to make the proviso given to Wm. Pellyott, and was admitted to a plant and voice presently.

John Fleet of St. George's hundred planter lay under voice & plant as a free man; & was admitted. and made the proviso Capt. Henry Fleet.

Then was proposed whether the laws formerly read should be read again in the court; or put to the vote without further reading.

Capt. Cornwall gave his opinion, that they should expect a more frequent court.
 Capt. Fleet gave his opinion, that they should be read again.
