

Laurence Agent or Attorney desired he would tell them he would be willing to give therefore he made answer that taking the bot-one side of the Bay and the other he would not give more than five Shillings so that it appears to Thomas Laurence has made a far larger estimate of the yearly value of those Lydwins than they really amount to - find that taking them one year with another they amount not to more than £25000 to which even at Mr Garretts computation at this time when to be more in demand than for severall years last past there being a considerable quantity of ships in the Country amounts not to more than £62:10
