

Gladly make use of his Majesty's most gracious Leave to Return for England: So soon as he can safely and conveniently do it
- For that he shall Quit the Station in Joy, in which he has Received such Barbarous Treatments of all Sorts, from the Time he opposed the Commissions granted in an extraordinary Manner to Jurists, in the Time of the late Rebellion in Great Britain, which he takes to be the Source and Cause of all his Ruinous Miseries to him - For on his Arrival in this Province, (to which he came Honoured by Patents under the Great Seal of Great Britain to be Governour and Commander in Chief) he found Maryland was Governed by the Laws of Great Britain, and those of this Country - In which he lived in Great Peace & Tranquility - During the Force of that Commission - That he had made it his constant Care to maintain those Laws, and to Support the Liberty and Property of the People of this Province; and this, on his Arrival in England, he shall be Ready to maintain

(sigs)