 answered to some English Port to which they replied they would not be carried to Sea out of the Cape

 People who were on Board the Schooner made Sail after the Brig, the Captain whereof was at the Helm of said Schooner, the Mate and Crew of the said Brig then threatening to ty Captain submit, but whether such Orders were given this Deponent does not know, three or four of the Crew behind his Back and fastned him standing to one of the Pumps, and this Deponent saith that the Mate and Crew of the said Brig then came forward and tyed him and the rest of the Schooner's Crew - Immediately after the Mate of the said Brig hauled down one of the Schooner's Tendants, and made a Whiff in one of the Jacks as a Signal for the Brig to come to which she accordingly did, and Captain Mulhore hallooing to his Mate then on Board the Brig said to him, Dale, don't bring to, whereupon immediately the Mate of the said Brig gagged Captain Mulhore with a Handkerchief, this being done the Crew of the Brig halled down the Sails of the said Schooner and let go her Anchor, and unreaved many of her Ropes, and the Mate cut some of them, and he likewise says they poured Water into the Guns that were loaded, then the Mate of the said Brig going down into the Cabin of the said Schooner, he this Deponent saw him bring Papers from thence, and the Crew of the said Brig went over the Side of the Schooner
